YOUR MAIL CARRIER IS "STAR" PERFORMER

A recent postal order tells how to determine the length of service of letter carriers by the stars on the familiar grey uniform. One black star five years, two ten years; one red star 15 years, two 20 years; one silver star 25 years, two 30 years, one gold star 35 years, two 40 years, three 45 years, four 50 years— Nor is it generally known that postoffice box rental depends upon two factors—the size, in cubic inches, of the box, and the size, in dollar volume, of the postoffice. Smallest box in smallest postoffice is 15c each three months, largest box in largest postoffice is $12 each three months.

Special delivery of mail in the United States has been in effect since 1885. The postal money order system dates back to 1864.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Steve Tips the Balance

Was just leaving home this morning when the Missus reminded me to stop at Steve and Al's Meat Market for a pound of hamburger. "Be sure to get it from Steve," she said.

"Why?" I wondered. So when I got to the market I asked Steve if he knew. "I'll tell you, Joe," he said. "Al and I sell the same meat, and a pound is a pound. Maybe it's just that we go at it differently.

"Al loads the scales and takes away 'til he has a pound. But I put too little on and start adding. To your wife — that probably looks like a better buy."

From where I sit, there's always more than one way to approach a thing and still come out fair and square to all. My wife likes a cup of tea with dinner, I prefer a temperate glass of beer. We get along fine. Gets me pretty mad though, when somebody starts "throwing his weight around" and demands that things go exactly his way.

Keen Interest Is Shown in Malting Barley Contest

Growers in 26 Counties of State Will Receive Prizes Totaling $6,200

Reports from county agents indicate keen interest in the 8th Annual Minnesota malting barley contest, with entries coming in daily, both from former and new contestants in the 26 counties eligible for competition.

The contest is aimed at improving the quality and acreage of malting barley in the state. Each contestant plants 10 or more acres of malting varieties, using Kindred L or Montcalm. Growers of the finest malting barley are awarded cash prizes totaling $6,200.

One thousand dollars in cash awards goes to the top 11 state winners — $300 to the grand champion, $200 to the reserve champion, $100 to the 3rd prize winner, plus 8 awards of $50 each. In addition, ten cash prizes, totaling $200, ranging from $10 to $50 will be awarded in each county having at least twenty entries.

The three top winners also get all-expense trips to the Twin Cities to attend the annual 2-day meeting of the Minnesota Crop Improvement association. Final awards are made at the state fair grounds during Fair Week. Last year's grand champion was Veral McGibbons of Crookston.

The Minnesota Brewers Association sponsors the contest, in cooperation with the University of Minnesota Institute of Agriculture, the Minnesota Crop Improvement association, the Northwest Crop Improvement association and the Minnesota department of agriculture, dairy & food.

County agents have entry blanks and details. Entries should be returned by May 15, 1954.

State Tax Share of Federal Budget Is $1,115 Million

The Minnesota Taxpayers association today estimated that Minnesota taxpayers will be required to pay out approximately $1,115,200,000 in federal taxes as their share of the cost of the federal spending program of $65.6 billion proposed by President Eisenhower for the fiscal year 1954-55.

The $1,115,200,000 share which would be borne by Minnesota taxpayers to support the President's proposed budget is over 5 times the amount of tax revenues collected by Minnesota last year ($210,737,000) to finance the entire state government, according to the association.

The association stated that while the burden of federal spending on Minnesota taxpayers remains great, encouragement is given in this Eisenhower Budget for fiscal 1955 by the $5.3 billion reduction below the current year (1954) spending estimate of $70.9 billion. This $5.3 billion reduction will mean tax savings of $90,100,000 to Minnesota taxpayers.

February Highway Toll Hits New Peak

38 Fatalities Is High Mark for Past 10 Years

More people were killed on Minnesota's streets and highways during February than in any previous February during the past ten years, according to a report issued today by the state highway department. With a total of 38 fatalities, last month's toll was two higher than the 36 registered in February of 1947 and was nine above the death count of February of last year.

Fourteen collisions between vehicles brought death to 17 motorists with two multiple-death crashes reported. Three deaths resulted from one, while two were killed in the other crash. One bicycle rider — 82 years of age — was killed when struck while riding on a city street.

Eleven pedestrians were struck down during the month, to bring the 1954 total up to 22. Three of the victims were youngsters under six years of age, while the other eight ranged in age from 19 to 78 years of age.

Ten deaths resulted from accidents where a lone vehicle was involved. Three deaths occurred at railroad grade crossings, another three when vehicles ran off the roadway, two when vehicles struck fixed objects or bridge abutments, and one each when a car overturned in the roadway and when a child fell out of a moving vehicle.

Take Milk 'Break' Instead of Coffee

Helps to Offset Fatigue, Says 'U' M. Specialist

Taking a mid-morning or mid-afternoon milk break instead of a coffee break was recommended today by Mrs. Eleanor Loomis, extension consumer marketing agent at the University of Minnesota.

Workers who drink coffee during relief periods for the stimulation it gives would find that milk does a better job of offsetting fatigue, Mrs. Loomis said. The complete protein in milk, together with the vitamins and minerals, increases vitality and working efficiency.

For those concerned with the weight problem, one-half pint of whole milk contains 165 calories, but half a pint of skim milk has only 85 calories. On the other hand, a doughnut and a cup of coffee with cream and sugar mount up to 185 calories, while a cup of black coffee and a sweet roll add up to 178 calories.

Few other foods give as much nutritive value for the money as milk and milk products, Mrs. Loomis says. These foods supply three-fourths of the calcium, nearly half of the riboflavin and a fourth of the protein in the nation's diets. Milk is by far the most economical source of calcium and is a relatively cheap source of good-quality protein, riboflavin and many other nutrients.

The average person uses about 2¾ cups a day, including all forms of milk and the milk values of cheese, cream and ice cream. However, some use more, and others have little or no milk. A recent survey made by the United States Department of Agriculture showed that four out of 10 persons were not getting enough calcium, regardless of their income.

For children, University of Minnesota extension nutritionists recommend a quart of milk a day for growing bodies, strong teeth and bones. Adults may well use three cups a day for health and well being. Nursing mothers and pregnant women should have 1½ quarts of milk. No one ever outgrows his need for milk, nutritionists point out.

GROWING WITH YOUR CHILD
Institute of Child Welfare, University of Minnesota

Which Type are You?

There were three boys in the Smith family—John, Bob, and Dick. John was the practical one; Bob, the brainy one; Dick was the musical one. Even as a baby, John had been good with his hands. His parents wanted to encourage his interests, and did so with first a toy work bench, later a real one, and extra lessons in woodwork and metalcraft.

For odd jobs around the house, John was always called. Bob was different from the start; he looked at people with more interest than he played with things. His parents gave him books and pictures; he learned to read early. He did well in school, took extra courses as he grew older, and his parents were sure he was happiest with his books.

Dick showed early interest in music. His parents were pleased and in turn offered him music lessons, first on the piano and later with other instruments too. He really enjoyed his music and his parents were happy that he, too, had his specialty.

Family life at the Smith house wasn't always so comfortable, though. The boys didn't seem to get along too well together and didn't seem very sympathetic with each other. As they grew older, too, John turned away from doing the odd jobs and poked around Bob's books and Dick's records.

Bob got interested in experimenting at John's work bench; Dick began to spend extra hours at the library. Their special abilities didn't change places, however. Bob didn't achieve John's skill with the odd jobs, nor did John or Dick earn the kind of school grades Bob was getting.

Yet, somehow, the family seemed happier. The boys were more friendly with each other; they seemed to have more in common and to be more understanding with each other.

It is fine for parents to encourage special interests and offer chances to develop special abilities. But it is also fine, and important, for children to explore different areas and to live more broadly than one can investing so much time and energy in one area only. Understanding of others grows partly through sharing many activities.

We're not mincing words . . . we say
It takes father-and-son craftsmanship to make Studebaker the best built car in America!

This is a challenge we are glad to sign — a challenge from South Bend to Detroit.

It is a challenge to all cars for a comparison of quality and durability with Studebaker — the best built car in America unquestionably.

Care that counts!

Upstanding citizens — many of them unique father-and-son teams — proudly man the great modern Studebaker production lines.

They are home-town people mostly — nearly all of them are Indiana born and bred — and they're the most painstaking craftsmen anywhere in automobile manufacturing.

Thanks to the constant care they take, Studebaker means, not only a great car, but a quality way of building.

See what you gain!

Come in and examine the superb construction of the new 1954 Studebaker. See how solid and sound it is throughout. It's more than the best built car in America. Its far-advanced style is like money in the bank for you as insurance of high resale value.

Father-and-son teamwork puts long life into every Studebaker.

For over 102 years, father-and-son teams and other able craftsmen have been proudly protecting Studebaker quality.

PEREGRINATING POPULATION

In the year 1949, just before the 1950 census was taken, folks came from every other state in the Union to live in Minnesota—and went in even larger numbers from Minnesota to live in every other state in the Union. We traded 15 Minnesotans for 30 Vermonters, attracted 8,775 from Wisconsin, sent 7,150 to California. We sent more south and west than we gained, attracted more from the east and central sections than we sent. On the whole, Minnesota lost in this population trading. In the decade 1940 to 1950 there were 364,000 more births than deaths in Minnesota but our population increased only 186,500, for a net loss of 178,000.

FAITH ALONE can guide man's footsteps into the future

In these days of swift change and catastrophic events the eyes of thoughtful men turn from the present to the unknown future. What does it hold for them, their families, their friends and their world?

Behind the dark veil that separates today from tomorrow may lie strange, new forces, treacherous tides, innumerable hidden dangers and new foes of human life and happiness. These are the great uncertainties of life.

The man of today, like his primitive ancestor, peers anxiously, even fearfully, into the future and tries to solve its mysteries, but the effort is futile. His vision is unable to pierce the darkness that shrouds tomorrow and tomorrow and tomorrow.

Yet man has risen from primitive degradation, through all the difficulties and dangers of the revolving years, to his present civilized estate. He has fought the beasts of the forests, the diseases of the jungle, the pangs of hunger and the sting of cold—and has survived.

He has survived and become preeminent in the world because he possessed faith—faith in himself and his race, and faith in a Supreme Being who drew the pattern of the universe and made the laws that govern human destinies.

This is the golden thread that runs through human history. It is the key to all the uncertainties and mysteries. It is the light that has guided man's footsteps into his eternal futures.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Key figures are shown here in a "huddle" about a fund-raising program to gather $300,000 to add to "ag campus" students' carefully saved $350,000 fund and total the $660,000 cost of a campus center. Left to right, Don Disselkamp, agricultural engineering senior from Morris; Keith McFarland, assistant dean of resident instruction on the St. Paul campus; Andy Boss, psychology senior from St. Paul and grandson of the late, beloved Andrew Boss, prominent on the "ag campus" for many years and President Emeritus Walter C. Coffey, who directed the Institute of Agriculture for 20 years before World War II and served as the University's president during the war years.

Dr. Coffey heads the entire fund-raising program and Disselkamp and Boss are its student co-chairmen. The planned and hoped for new campus center, or "Union," as they are called on the nation's campuses, will fill a long felt need on the "ag campus," where some 2,000 students study for home economics, forestry, agriculture and veterinary science careers.

Non-Certified Alfalfa

There's more certified alfalfa seed on the market than ever before—and at a fair price, too, says I. J. Elling of the University's agronomy department. He urges farmers not to try to save a few cents an acre by seeding uncertified seed. Uncertified Ranger alfalfa now is being offered farmers at a few cents a pound less. Elling says it's unwise to buy this seed expecting it to perform like certified Ranger—most of it was rejected for certification. It didn't meet high standards for purity that seed must to get the "certified" stamp of approval. So, be sure with certified seed. It has a known predictable performance non-certified does not.

Five-Year Rotation

Studies at the University's Northeast Experiment Station at Duluth, reported by Wallace W. Nelson, station agronomist, show that the best oat yields over a 34-year period came from a five-year rotation with about two tons of manure per acre applied every year. Rotations were of small grain, a row crop, and three years of hay. Oat yields on the five-year rotation were about six bushels higher than the three-year rotation and about four bushels better than the four-year rotation. Hay yields were about the same on all rotations. The five-year rotation had a higher nitrogen content and about a 10 per cent increase in organic matter over the three-year rotation.

Stop Erosion at Source

Work plans for the West Willow Creek, near Preston, and Chippewa-Hawk River Basin, near Benson, are nearly complete. These watershed protection projects were authorized recently by Congress to help stop erosion losses at the source. The Soil Conservation Service and other agencies are cooperating in developing the plans. In addition to stopping erosion losses, the watersheds will help in flood control by keeping water on the land and not clogging creeks, streams and rivers.

Grasses Help the Land

University and Department of Agriculture agronomists have helped develop and adapt many land-nourishing legumes and grasses. See or call your county agent for up-to-date information on approved grass and forage crop varieties.

50 YEARS AGO

Much Railroad Talk Here in April 1903

By the first of April, 1903, the Great Northern had announced officially its intentions of building a line north from Thief River Falls and Soo Line officials were definitely committed to the building of a connecting link between Glenwood and the Canadian border, to pass through Thief River Falls. There was talk of Thief River Falls becoming a division point on this new extension. And there was talk of building more lines, through Dakota to the west and, eastwardly, a line to Duluth and another line to International Falls. The Thief River Falls News printed more rumors than news in the rumorful year of 1903.

The Soo Line extension evidently was looked upon as an invasion of Great Northern territory. It was the Great Northern versus the Canadian Pacific in a struggle of the giants, and it was a battle that was watched with much interest by Thief River Falls citizens. It probably wasn't just a sham battle either.

Competes with Jim Hill

In its April 9 issue the News quoted a dispatch from New York City confirming the statement made the previous week by Soo Line President Thomas Lowry. The Soo would build to the Canadian border. "The line is decidedly an invader of Northern Security (Great Northern) territory, no matter how strong his official denials of any intention to antagonize Jim Hill. It cuts across Northern Securities lines and will certainly draw Twin City traffic from the Northern Minnesota lines of that system."

"It will deprive the Northern Securities lines of the haulage of grain in the southern part of Manitoba, hitherto handed over to them at the border by the Canadian Pacific. It is a reply also to the invasion of the Canadian Pacific territory by the Canadian Northern."

Another item in the April 9 issue suggested further, retaliation by Jim Hill. "The Great Northern surveyors who were called off from making the survey north from this city were sent to McIntosh, and are surveying a line south from that place to Pelican Rapids. This is supposed to be a move to stop the Soo from building north from Glenwood. The Soo, however, has made its official announcement that it will build and nothing will stop it." So spake the News.

In the same issue is a short quotation from a letter written to Wiley Tindolph by Edmund Pennington, at that time general manager of the Soo Line. Mr. Tindolph evidently had warned him of what the Great Northern was up to. In reply Mr. Pennington stated "The Soo Line will be in your country one of these days and we always get business wherever we go, but cannot say how soon we will reach your city."

Editor Asks Support for Soo

All of which arguments brought forth the following editorial comment from Editor Eastman:

"It can be announced in no uncertain language that the Soo will be built to Thief River Falls and while it will encounter many difficulties from other roads, it expects and should receive generous treatment from the business men and people of Thief River Falls. A free right of-way and other grounds should be given the company in this city."

The week of the issue of April 9, 1903, was a busy week for Mr Eastman

There was less heat in the issue of April 16. Five surveying crews were making good progress for the Soo Line, and there was only this brief comment about the enemy. "The activity of the Soo has caused numerous rumors of proposed extensions of the Northern Pacific and Great Northern, in order to divide the business with the Soo in the new territory."

Progress was also noted in a local item on the Great Northern survey south from McIntosh with another surveying crew working north from Pelican Rapids.

Canadian Pacific Enters Picture

The following week brought a report under a Montreal, Canada, dateline, stating that the Canadian Pacific had decided to secure an independent line south from Winnipeg to Minneapolis. A Winnipeg official of the company who "has watched the interests of the Canadian Pacific at Winnipeg" was quoted, "As there is no longer any agreement between transcontinental lines as regards territory, the Canadian Pacific has decided to run its line into Minneapolis because they are convinced it will prove a profitable branch."

In that month of April, 1903, the News covered a lot of territory in its reporting of railroad news.

Old Locomotive to Be Displayed at St. Paul Depot

The first railway locomotive in Minnesota and the Upper Midwest, the William Crooks, will be placed on permanent exhibition in the St. Paul Union Depot this spring.

Harry P. Congdon, vice president and general manager of the depot company, said the 93-year-old Civil War engine, has been offered for permanent display by the Great Northern Railway.

Widely exhibited in communities in Minnesota and the Dakotas in the past, the William Crooks was acquired in 1861 by the St. Paul & Pacific Railroad, first rail line in the Upper Midwest region. The St. Paul & Pacific was the parent line of the Great Northern, and was purchased by James J. Hill and his associates in 1878. The locomotive was built in Paterson, N. J., and arrived in St. Paul in September 1861 by steamboat.

The first railway ran between St. Paul and St. Anthony Falls (now Minneapolis), and the William Crooks pulled the first train over this line on June 28, 1862.

One of the few pioneer American locomotives still able to run under its own steam, the "watch fob" engine made two trips to the Atlantic Coast in the past 30 years in addition to scores of communities along the Great Northern.

Albert Gagner Gives up Post on Red Lake Board

Predator Hunting Licenses Are Open to Private Pilots

Private airplane pilots may now secure a permit to hunt predators from the air, provided they can meet certain qualifications, according to an order released by Conservation Commissioner Chester S. Wilson. Formerly, only commercial pilots were eligible for permits.

Private pilot applicants seeking such permits must first demonstrate to a check pilot approved by the state department of aeronautics that the applicant is capable of performing all maneuvers required in a commercial pilot's flight check, and that the applicant has received a minimum of one hour of dual instruction in maneuvers normally performed in hunting of predators from an airplane.

Hunting under these permits will be limited to the period from December 1 to the following Apr. 15th, inclusive.

East G. Forks Girl Semi-conscious after Two Years

It has been two years last Thursday since Mary Patricia Enright, rural East Grand Forks youngster, was involved in a truck mishap while walking home from school.

The injury has left her in a state of semi-consciousness since.

She is conscious of what she sees and apparently understands what she hears. One of her pastimes is listening to the radio. Mary Patricia is growing normally but is confined to her bed at her home.

STATE HAS "GRAND" RECORDS IN GRANDPARENTS

The number of fifth-generation families reported from all over Minnesota at very frequent intervals leads one to wonder how many there might be, and if there could possibly be any sixth generation families hidden away somewhere. On his 90th birthday Joseph Diethelm posed at Chaska with the youngest of his 51 grandchildren, 3-year-old Joyce Diethelm; he has 68 great-grandchildren.—Mrs. John Dobis, Avon, and Mrs. Nick Vos, Chandler, are matriarchs of five-generation clans.

School Board Gives Faculty Pay Increase

Board Approves Raises of $100 to $200 a Year at Meeting Thursday

The Thief River Falls board of education at an adjourned session last Thursday evening adopted a salary schedule for faculty members for the coming year calling for increases of from $100 to $200 per year.

Teachers were given until the next meeting of the board Monday evening, April 5, to accept or reject their contracts. Supt. W. G. Claffy indicated that, as has been the case the past several years, a considerable number of teachers will be leaving the local system for other fields at the close of the spring term.

The schedule as adopted provides for a salary of $2,600 a year for teachers with two years of college training and with no teaching experience, this figure being $100 a year more than the salary now in effect. Annual raises based on length of experience are provided until a maximum of $3,600 for eight years or more of experience is reached.

For teachers with four years of college training and with no experience, the starting salary will be $3,100, up $200 from this year. The schedule rises with years of experience up to a maximum of $4,100 for eight years or more experience.

To this schedule, $100 per year will be added for each advanced degree the teacher holds, together with an additional $300 per year for married men teachers, and additional pay for coaching and other extra-curricular activities.

Temporary substitute teachers in the elementary schools will be paid $9 per day and in junior-senior high school $10 per day.

The schedule as adopted represents a compromise compared to the increase requested by faculty members.

The board also re-engaged the services of Supt. Claffy at a salary of $8,500 per year, and Kalmer Ostby was reappointed principal at $5,800.

Wide Screen to Be Installed Shortly at Falls Theatre

"The Robe" Cinemascope Film, to Be Presented Here Starting April 7

Remodeling of the stage area in the Falls theatre in preparation for the installation of a wide screen for the showing of Cinemascope films has been completed, Ward Nichols, manager, stated today, adding that the same screen will be used for the showing of regular-sized pictures.

First Cinemascope production to be shown here will be "The Robe", sensationally successful film based on the best-selling novel by Lloyd C. Douglas, which is scheduled to open at the local theatre Wednesday, April 7.

Nichols explained that Cinemascope, using a screen two and one half times wider than a normal screen, achieves the illusion of depth without the use of special glasses. Enhancing the impression of realism is the new Stereoscopic sound system, which uses ten speakers, seven of which are located in the theatre auditorium and three on the stage, instead of one large unit at backstage as at present.

"Actually," said Nichols, "CinemaScope is a multiple process. It consists of an anamorphic lens, a curved screen specially designed to reflect greater light and sterephonic sound. The anamorphic lens makes it possible for a 35-mm. camera to 'reach out' to each side as the eye does and compress a wide angle scene on a narrow strip of film."

Paul Engelstad, president of the Pennington county Farm Bureau unit, presided over the session, which attracted nearly 100 persons.

Wells stated that the farmer should not be handicapped by extensive government regulations, but that he wants, and should have, freedom of choice to conduct his business as he deems best. He added that rigid maximum price supports can only result in stricter government controls.

The Farm Bureau, he stated, supports a long-range program including conservation, low cost power, sound credit policies, good transportation facilities, together with a price program designed to avert serious declines in farm income.

Alleged Driver of Hit-run Car Faces Serious Charges

Judge Paul A. Lundgren Sets Trial of Manitoba Man April 13 at Hallock

The trial of John Slator, 39, Stony Mountain, Man., on two charges of criminal negligence, was set Monday by Judge Paul Lundgren, Thief River Falls, for April 13 in district court at Hallock.

Slator was arraigned in district court before Judge Lundgren in connection with the hit-and-run car tragedy in St. Vincent March 3 that resulted in the deaths of two school children.

Judge Lundgren fixed bail at $5,000 on each charge. He also ordered defense attorneys to furnish a waiver of extradition from both U. S. and Canadian immigration authorities before Slator could be released on bail.

Slator is being held by Kittson Sheriff Oscar Pearson in the county jail at Hallock.

The defendant was first charged with criminal negligence in connection with the death March 3 of Elaine Fitzpatrick, 11, a few minutes after she was struck by a car that plowed into a group of school children on St. Vincent's main street and kept on going through the town.

County Attorney Lyman Brink, Hallock, filed the second charge after the death March 6 of Martin Gardner, St. Vincent, second victim to die from inquries suffered in the tragedy.

Goodridge School to Offer Play at Goodridge, Grygla

The senior class of Goodridge high school will present a 3-act comedy entitled "The Inner Willy", in Goodridge Thursday evening, March 18, at 8 p. m., and at Grygla Saturday evening, March 20.

Impish, puckish Inner Willy is a delightful character. In long underwear and clownish felt hat, he pops out of thin air "on a burp," to goad sedate, somewhat stuffy Willoughby into unbending and being himself.

Willoughby, embarrassed by this arrogant apparition who follows him around and audaciously perches on top of the piano, legs dangling, while he munches cucumbers (anathema to Willoughby) rebels at first, and calls Inner Willy a "supercharged atom in BVD's." But no amount of vituperation can squelch this little demon.

Washington PTA Points out Need for New School

Panel Discussion on Subject Conducted at Meeting Monday Night

The Washington PTA unit held a lively panel discussion on the need for a new school building at a meeting held Monday evening.

The discussion brought out the facts that on the top floor are the 4th, 5th and 6th grade rooms in addition to the spacious library and Miss Troumbly's teacher's training department, with 15 students. On the main floor are the kindergarten, 1st, 2nd and 3rd grades. Not one of these rooms are suitable for showing movies and slides which are so in demand in present day teaching. The basement is used for the veteran's agricultural class and the vocational nurses class. The lunch room is too small and must house all the equipment that the class in nursing uses, making it crowded during the noon hour.

Panel members said that when the children who are now three years old reach kindergarten age, enrollment will be increased by 40 or 50 pupils. The statistics show that the present five classes of the sixth grade moving into junior high will make one more class than usual.

There were very few people in 1902 who thought that a high school education was necessary. It was pointed out, and one of the best promoters was Lars Backe, who was a member of the school board at that time. A small group of 7 people were started out in high school subjects at the old Central school, but were soon too crowded to do efficient work. The Washington school was then planned and ready for use in 1902. In 1908 it was converted to grade school use as the high school pupils had already outgrown it and moved to a new building.

Dairy Club Is Host Tuesday Evening

Entertains Grocers and Restaurant Operators

The Thief River Falls Dairy club had local grocers and restaurant operators as its guests at a meeting Tuesday evening in Lincoln high school. More than 50 persons were in attendance.

Stanley Nelson, president, conducted the program, which included a discussion led by Albert Koop on means of increasing sales and consumption of dairy products.

As testimony to the importance of the dairy industry in this community, Rufus Olson pointed out that dairymen supplying the local creamery and dairy plants were paid $1,300,000 in 1953.

At the close of the meeting, an excellent and novel lunch, consisting of 20 different kinds of dairy foods, was enjoyed. It had been prepared by Miss Harriet Overboe and members of her home economics class.

G. Forks Eliminates Thieves by Winning 3 of 5 Playoff Tilts

The Grand Forks Redwings, the Northwest Hockey league champions, defeated the Thieves, 6 to 3, at Grand Forks on Sunday in the fifth and final game of the best-of-five series. The Thieves, by defeating the Redwings, 5 to 2, in the fourth game of the series here on Wednesday night, had evened the series at two games apiece.

As a result of their triumph on Sunday afternoon, the Redwings gained the playoff finals and will meet the winner of the Crookston Pirates vs. Warroad Lakers series, with the first game of the finals scheduled for Grand Forks on Wednesday night.

Sunday's game at Grand Forks, played before a large crowd of fans, was a "bruiser," and it was only through some loose defensive clearing by the Thieves that the Redwings pulled away to their 6 to 3 victory. The goalie, Jack McGill, played an exceptional game in the nets, being credited with forty-one stops, and a half-dozen of his saves were of the "believe-it-or-not" variety.

Swede Lund opened the game's scoring by beating Bun Nicholson with a waist-high shot from fifteen feet out at 6:33 of the first period, picking up a bouncing pass from Mouse Elfeland. Prince Johnson notched the equalizer for the Redwings when, at 8:03, he gathered in a centering-out pass from Wendy Feist, and banged in a shot from just in front of the crease. At 9:56 the Wings moved into the lead when Odie Lowe nudged the rebound of Don Crough's drive from the blue-line into the west goal.

With a 2 to 1 score for Grand Forks, Bud Brossoit evened the game at 4:11 of the second period when he circled the Redwing net from left to right, and as he came out into the scoring zone he beat Nicholson with an angled shot. Buzz Johnson, during a scramble in front of the Thieves' net, scored at 10:17, sending the Wings into a 3 to 2 lead. The game was "broken up" at 12:21 when Buzz Johnson and the Thieves' burly Bill Juzda engaged in fisticuffs, with Juzda being given a minor and a major penalty, and Johnson being given a major penalty. When the two players reached the penalty box, the fracas resumed, with the two exchanging blows, and a Grand Forks fan entered the melee, taking a punch at Juzda. As a result of the penalty-box encounter, Juzda and Johnson were given ten-minute misconduct penalties. The fact that the Thieves were without the services of Juzda for seventeen minutes in the second and third periods, undoubtedly was a factor in the Redwings' win.

The Thieves were also without the capable services of playmaking Bill Robinson on Sunday, with Robinson being on a trip into eastern Canada. Playing as a replacement for Robinson was Pete Langelle, the former Toronto Mapleleaf star.

Playing here last Wednesday night, the Thieves, with an exhibition of their best hockey, defeated the Redwings, 5 to 2, in a slam-bang game to even the series at two games each. The game was 2-all entering the third period when Paul Bedard, at 1:26, tallied the game-winning goal, with Langelle on the assist. Langelle and Robinson added insurance goals at 17:26 and 17:54, giving the locals a well deserved 5 to 2 win.

Winning Teams in Grade Athletics Honored Tuesday

Bjorkman Trophies Are Presented to Winners in Four Fields of Sports

A large crowd was in attendance at the high school gymnasium on Tuesday night to witness the awarding of the Bjorkman grade school athletic trophies.

As a preliminary to the trophy presentation, a pair of grade school basketball games were played. In the opener, the Knox team, building up a 13 to 0 first half lead, defeated the Northrop 'B' team, 17 to 8.

In the feature game, between the champion Northrop team and the Washington team, coach Phil Beadle's Northrop team edged out the Washington team, coached by Jim Carlson and John Elsbrener, 23 to 21, on Jack Johnson's one handed toss with but thirty seconds of play remaining.

The Northrops, held to an 8 to 8 score at half, pulled away to gain a 16 to 11 lead at the end of the third period; but Washington, playing a fine brand of ball, pared that lead, and with forty seconds to play, Roger Olson, on a one-handed shot from the circle, evened the game at 21-all. Then came the field goal by Jack Johnson, and that proved to be the winning points.

Following the game, Rev. E. C. Mead and Doug Tegtmeier supervised the awarding of the grade school trophies. The grade school baseball championship was won by the Northrop school, and Prowler baseball captain, Jack Hoppe, presented the trophy to Northrop co-captains Jack Johnson and Dick Sculthorpe. The grade school football championship was won by Washington, and Prowler football co-captains, Lyle Guttu and Darold Dalton presented the trophy to Washington co-captains, Arlen Hjelle and Peter Iverson.

The grade school hockey title, decided in a tournament held a couple of weeks ago, was won by the Washington team, and the presentation of the trophy to the Washington co-captains, Dale Wennberg and Archie Schneider, was made by the Prowler hockey co-captains, and all-state selections, Marv Jorde and Jack Hoppe.

The Northrop basketball team, which turned in a championship performance in defeating Washington, won the city grade school title, and in behalf of the Prowler varsity basketball team, which was at Grand Forks having a drill on the North Dakota fieldhouse floor in preparation for this week's regional, junior high coach Dick Edlund presented the trophy to Northrop co-captains, Jim Wegge and Bob Pearson.

Prowlers Repeat to Win Dist. 31 Tourney; to Enter Region 8 Play vs. Stephen at G. Forks Thursday

In a thrilling finals game at Grand Forks on Wednesday night, Coach Ralph Skjod's Prowlers, by a 48 to 46 score, defeated the East Grand Forks team to win the 31st district basketball championship, and gain a berth in the eighth regional tourney that opens on Thursday night.

The regional tournament which will be played on the University of North Dakota fieldhouse court in Grand Forks will find the Bemidji Lumberjacks, the defending regional champions and the district 29 representative, meeting Fosston, the district 30 champion, in a first round game at 7:30 p. m.; at 9:00 p. m. the Prowlers will play the district 32 champions, Stephen.

On Friday night, at 7:30 p. m. the losers of Thursday night's games will play a consolation tilt; and at 9:00 p. m. the regional championship game, between the winners of Thursday night's games, will be played.

In winning their third successive district title, and for the second straight year their finals opponent was East Grand Forks, the Prowlers were hard-pressed to squeeze out a two-point lead. With three seconds of play remaining, and the score tied at 46-all, Art Johnson flipped in a pair of free throws, and that proved to be the game winning points.

The Prowlers held a 16 to 11 first period lead, and a 24 to 20 advantage at the half. Playing their best basketball, the locals increased their lead to 39 to 33 at the end of the third period, and at one point in the period the Prowlers held a 32 to 21 lead.

East Grand Forks, with Howie Stallmo and Orv Hodge doing the scoring, pecked away at the Prowler lead to trail by a 43 to 41 score with 2:30 to play.

With the Prowlers leading by a 46 to 43 score, Stallmo scored on a lay-up shot, and Dean Dallum made one of two free throw tries, tying the game at 46-all. Louie Wedul intercepted an East Grand Forks pass with seconds to play, and on a play in to Johnson, Dallum committed a foul. Johnson, with the game in the balance, calmly one-handed the two points into the basket.

Warren Noses out Plummer for 3rd Place in Tourney

Cardinals Lose 45 to 42 in Hard-fought Game in District 31 Tournament

The Warren Ponies won third place in the district tournament at Grand Forks when they edged out coach Howie Carney's Plummer Cardinals, 45 to 42, in a preliminary to the championship tilt on Wednesday night.

Plummer, trailing by a 15 to 13 score at the intermission, rallied for seventeen points in the third period, with guard Neil Craft looping in five field goals, to take a 30 to 28 advantage.

The fourth period was touch-and-go, with the fast-breaking Cardinals holding 42 to 41 lead late in the quarter. Warren's John Carlson lofted in a long shot to move the Ponies into a 43 to 42 lead, and Russ Melgaard, with a pair of free throws, finished out the game's scoring, giving coach Clint Perkin's team their 45 to 42 triumph.

Plummer's Neil Craft, the tournament's finest floor-man, was the game's high scorer with twenty points. Craft, after scoring a free throw and a field goal in the first half, notched seventeen points in the second half.

Thirtieth Annual Region 8 Tourney to Open Thursday

The 30th annual eighth regional high school basketball tournament will be played on Thursday and Friday nights, March 18th and 19th, at the University of North Dakota fieldhouse at Grand Forks. The regional tournament system of determining entrants for the state high school tourney was instituted in 1925. Previous to 1925, the state tourney entries were determined on a district basis, with the state being divided into sixteen districts.

Since 1925, the following teams have won regional titles; and the Moorhead Spuds of 1928 and 1929, the Thief River Falls Prowlers of 1932 and 1938, and the Bemidji Lumberjacks of 1936 and 1948, have won state championships. From 1925 to 1930, Moorhead was included in the eighth region, but following a revision of territory in 1930, Moorhead was placed in the sixth region, and Bemidji was entered in the eighth region.

Another Regional

It's eighth regional basketball tournament time again, and on Thursday and Friday, at the UND fieldhouse at Grand Forks, the 30th annual tourney will be played. As has been the case in most of the years since 1931, when they entered the region, it will be Bemidji against the field. Coach Bun Fortier's Lumberjacks, third place winners in last year's state meet, will be carrying a season record of 22 wins and one loss as they open the regional at 7:30 p. m. on Thursday by meeting coach Bert Tveit's Fosston Greyhounds. At 9:00 p. m. coach Ralph Skjod's Prowlers will play the Stephen Tigers.

The most memorable of all regional tournaments, from a Prowler viewpoint, was, perhaps, that finals games played on the Auditorium court here in March, 1938, between coach Buck Robbins' Bemidji team and George Lee's Prowlers, and which was won by the Prowlers, 35 to 32. During that season the Prowlers defeated the Lumberjacks, 33 to 22 and 33 to 27, and were favored to win the regional meet. In that championship game, an inspired Bemidji club, with Rich Olson scoring thirteen points in the first period, raced into a 17 to 5 lead in that opening quarter. At the half-time intermission, the Prowlers had narrowed that Bemidji lead to 23 to 16.

Instead of paring that Bemidji lead in the third period, the locals dropped a point, and trailed by a 30 to 22 score as the final quarter opened. In that hectic final period, the Prowlers limited the Jacks to two points, on free throws, and scored thirteen points to pull out game and go on to win the state championship. During the second half rally, Don Lawrence dropped in nine of ten free throw tries, Earl Nicholson pushed in the field goal that tied the score at 30-all, and Roy Lee looped in the two-pointer that sent the Prowlers into the lead. Another field goal by Nicholson and a free throw provided the game-winning margin as the Jacks added a pair of free throws.

Athletic Banquet

Arrangements have been completed for the annual athletic banquet, honoring the Prowler athletic teams and their coaches, to be held at the Zion Lutheran church parlors on Thursday evening, April 8th. John Mariucci, the former Minnesota and Chicago Blackhawk hockey star, and now a coach at the Minnesota hockey team, will be the featured speaker. Lyle Guttu, Prowler football co-captain, will be the master of ceremonies for the event.

Tickets to the banquet are $1.50 each, and everyone is invited to be in attendance.

Words from Connie

We had a letter from Connie Stanbridge, the coach of the 1945 Prowler hockey team that was runner-up to Eveleth in the first state tourney, and among other things, he said: "I have never had the pleasure of meeting coach Dennis Rolle, but I want to congratulate him on bringing the first state championship in hockey to Thief River Falls. I also want to congratulate each member of the team, and hope that they have many successful seasons as they continue their hockey careers. To those boys who are coming up via the Peewee route, they should remember that good teams are made by hard work, practice, and team-work."

Miscellany

When Art Johnson dropped in those free throws in the third period of the game against East Grand Forks on Wednesday night, scoring his 11th and 12th point of the game, he boosted his season scoring mark to 426 and 427 points, tying Roger Williamson's season mark of 426 points, and then setting a new record. Getting 22 points in the game, Art brought his season point-total to 437, and he'll have a chance, in this week's two regional games, to increase that record considerably.—To all of the city's championship and first flight golfers, we'll serve notice that Phil LeGault, on Monday, purchased a weight-reducing diet. Now that Vic Jung has left town, Phil intends to become a serious golfer.—What's this we hear about Wally DuChamp losing a small wager to Russ Embury? Russ is supposed to have wagered that the Prowlers would win the state hockey title and the district basketball championship. Early on Saturday morning, Russ made a call at the DuChamp Bros. store in Plummer, for collection purposes. It was a painful early-morning greeting for Wally.

Bankers Start Tree Planting Program Thruout Minnesota

More trees and more effective local conservation practices are the objectives of a revised and expanded "Treeville" program Minnesota Bankers association is launching for 1954 and the years to come.

A comprehensive program to coordinate tree-planting activities at the county level has been carefully organized by the agricultural and conservation committee and forestry sub-committee of the association, in cooperation with the Minnesota department of conservation, agricultural extension division of the University, U. S. soil conservation service, U. S. Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committe, and vocational agricultural division of Minnesota department of education.

George M. Robertson, Winona, is chairman of the bankers' agricultural and conservation committee, Andy G. Sirek, New Prague, is chairman of the forestry sub-committee.

"Under our new plan," Mr. Sirek explains, "everyone interested in tree planting and soil conservation will get together at the county level and coordinate their efforts in activities designed to achieve maximum results.

"Instead of a statewide 'Treeville' like the Knox Farm event near Shakopee last April, each county will have its own 'Treeville' demonstration."

The period from April 15 to May 15 has been designated by Mr. Sirek's committee as Minnesota tree planting time, with special emphasis to be put on Conservation Week May 2-8, and on school observance of Arbor Day, May 7. This ambitious and constructive program already has been to some extent practically implemented by the presentation to county agents and local committee throughout the state of 42 tree-planting machines purchased individual bankers and various local groups of bankers, including the purchase of a machine by the two Thief River Falls banks.

The president of Minnesota Bankers association, W. L. Boss, St. Paul, says the entire tree-and-conservation program is a project long dear to the hearts of Minnesota bankers, individually and collectively, and that present plans have the hearty endorsement both of their 21-man Agricultural Committee. Mr. Sirek's sub-committee for this far-reaching project includes Kenneth Gay, Sturgeon Lake State Bank; B. M. Heneman, Security State Bank, Warroad; H. E. Krog, Farmers & Merchants State Bank, Stillwater; F. A. Weiland, First National Bank, Shakopee.

This committe has appointed in each Minnesota county a banker coordinator who is charged with spearheading all local activities, keeping in gear with the state program, and developing maximum local interest along these lines. Representing Pennington county as coordinator is George W. Werstlein.

Pipeline Contract for Area Awarded

Looping Project to Get under Way This Spring

Construction of part of a pipe line looping program is expected to begin in this area as soon as weather and ground conditions permit. Contracts for a loop to extend from approximately Plummer to the Clearbrook pumping station has been awarded to the R. H. Fulton & Company of Lubbock, Texas, according to John Barber, pumping station supervisor, at Clearbrook.

Barber explained construction of the loops along the line will act as large tanks on the line resulting in a reduced line pressure for a given load. It is expected, with the effect of the lodops, capacities of the line will be increased up to about one third more than the present lines can safely handle.

In a press release from R. E. Trammell, general manager of Interprovincial Pipe Line Company and Lakehead Pipe Line Company announcing successful bidders of the 1954 construction program at Edmonton, Alberta, it was stated the program will consist of 454 miles of 24 inch pipe, to be laid in Canada and 184 miles of 26 inch pipe to be laid on the American section of the line.

The work has been divided into several construction schedules, four in Canada and three in the United States.

Aquatennial Pins Sold This Year by State Lions Clubs

Profit from the sales of the 1954 Aquatennial Skipper Pins will go toward the youth activities and youth welfare of the 140 Lions Clubs comprising Lions Minnesota, it was announced by Harold Anderson, Aquatennial president.

Lions Minnesota was awarded official sanction from the Minneapolis Aquatennial Association board of directors to sell and distribute the buttons on an exclusive basis starting May 1st and continuing through June 15th.

The responsibility for the promotion and sales of the Skipper Pin will be handled by the Edina-Morningside Lions Club. Orrin O. Knutson of that club will act as state chairman. Requests for pins will be channeled thru Knutson.

Each Lions Club will use the profit from sales by their own organization to aid that club's youth program.

The price of the 1954 Aquatennial Skipper Pin has been set at $1.00.

'54 School Patrol Camp Opens June 6

State Legion to Sponsor Annual Camp at Brainerd

The 1954 series of American Legion school safety patrol camps will open Sunday, June 6, at their regular stand at the Crow Wing county fair grounds just outside of Brainerd, it was announced today by Horace Henry, St. Cloud, Legion chairman.

The camp is actually an annual training center for school safety and bus patrol leaders who return to their schools in the fall to continue their fine work of watching over young students as they cross intersections to and from home.

The camp, named Legionville, will be open for five weekly sessions, each beginning on Sunday and closing on Saturday; except the last week which because of the July Fourth holiday will open on Monday, July 5. A minimum of 120 school safety patrol youngsters is expected for each period. During 1953, a total of 562 young boys and girls received training here.

Although the teaching of safety—traffic, water, bicycle—and school patrol methods are primary reasons for the camp, other typical camping activities will take the rub off class work. Swimming, athletics, nature study, hobby and craft work, and instruction in conservation are included in the course.

The 1953 legislature gave the Commissioner of Highways the authority to establish uniform school safety patrol methods and techniques throughout Minnesota. Through the medium of this training center, this objective is reached with the cooperation of the Minnesota Highway Patrol and the Traffic and Safety Division of the Minnesota Highway Department.

Other cooperating state agencies include the Departments of Education, Conservation, and Aeronautics; with the Federal Bureau of Investigation also assisting.

The cost per camper, paid by local sponsoring groups, will be $18.50 per week, not including transportation to and from Brainerd.

Drinking Among Youth to Be Topic of 'U' Conference

Drinking among young people and drinking and driving are two major topics which will be considered at a University of Minnesota conference on the problems of alcohol April 1-3 at the University's center for continuation study.

On the conference program will be such outstanding authorities on the alcohol problem as Selden D. Bacon, director of the center of alcohol studies at Yale University; Dr. Paul Stevenson, psychiatrist of the National Institute of Mental Health, United States Public Health Service, Bethesda, Maryland; and the Rev. Forrest L. Richeson of Portland Avenue Christian church, Minneapolis.

The conference is planned by the University and the Minnesota department of health for physicians, nurses, welfare workers, judges, teachers, clergymen and other community leaders.

"Prime purpose of this conference," according to William F. Ferguson, chief of the section of mental health and consultant on alcoholism for the state health department, "is to mobilize communities to combat alcoholism. We hope the conference will bring to light information about problems of alcohol in our society."

SUGAR SETS A SWEET EXAMPLE

Red River Valley sugar beet growers have been allotted a total of 94,000 acres of that crop for the coming season. This is an increase of 9,000 over last year's total of 85,000 acres, but it is 16,000 less than the 110,000 acres that had been set up earlier as a probable total.

Many growers who now are unable to extend their operation, as they had previously planned, are not happy with this limitation on their production. Probably, however, they would be less happy with the final result of the season's net return from this crop if no limit were imposed upon them.

This sugar operation, close to home as it is, offers a good example of what can be accomplished by controlled production and marketing. It is an example of control that has been beneficial to both producers and consumers.

In January of 1950 sugar was worth slightly less than five cents a pound on both the American and world markets. During the four years that have passed since that time the American price has remained steady, the fluctuations being within a one cent margin. Not so with the uncontrolled world price. From five cents at the beginning of 1950 the world price went up to nearly eight cents in 1951 and then declined to a low of little more than three cents this winter.

While we have had an orderly market for sugar within our country, fair to both producers and consumers, these four years have been a peak-and-depression period in the world market.

In this segment of agriculture there have been no unmanageable surpluses, no subsidies and no arguments about parity price props. Under the provisions of the Sugar Act of 1948 the Secretary of Agriculture has had the responsibility and the authority to limit domestic production and determine import quotas. If it appears that the price is going too high he increases acreage. If the price sags he reduces acreage. It is an example of controls that has worked out well.

It no doubt is true that controlling the sugar market is a far less complicated problem than would be the control of the market for dairy products. But there wouldn't have been a satisfactory solution for the feast and famine cycle in the sugar market either if the industry hadn't bestirred itself and united behind a reasonable plan.

Any plan of orderly production and control requires a willingness to make sacrifices as well as reap benefits. The sugar beet growers do not have freedom to grow beets in unlimited quantities. And dairymen will have to yield some of their independence in any plan of orderly production and marketing they might adopt. But there is every reason to believe that by yielding a little for the time being they can gain much ultimately.

A bill providing for the self-help plan approved by the National Milk Producers Federation last November has finally been introduced in Congress. It is to be hoped that the industry will now unite in support of this measure.

STRENGTHENS THE WEST

Skillful, industrious and thrifty citizens of West Germany have made remarkable progress in recovery and they are now able to relax a little in their mighty effort to restore the economy of their country. So notable has been their progress that it has caused anxiety in some quarters, based on fears that with restored strength might come a resurgence of fanatical nationalism that might endanger the peace of the world.

While such fears among the people of some nations is understandable, it would seem that a strong West Germany today adds to the stability and security of the world. We may be sure that the powers behind the Iron Curtain are not getting much comfort out of the revival of the West Germans. A strong West Germany adds greatly to the strength of western Europe and improves immeasurably the bargaining position of the free world in dealing with communism.

NOT POPULAR BUT RIGHT

Still physically weak and mentally shaken from our nerve-wracking ordeal of the March 15th settlement of accounts with Uncle, we were not in the mood to cheer Monday night when we tuned in to hear Eisenhower's reasons why taxes should not be lowered. We came away however unhappily satisfied that it is better we pay our bills as they come due, painful tho it be.

Going further into debt certainly is not the solution for the fellow who already is up to his ears in debt, and those who propose to reduce taxes and make up the reduced revenue by additional borrowing are not giving us sound leadership. In this battle we hope "Fighting Ike" will stand his ground regardless of personal or party consequenses. Let us pray that those who choose that which is popular rather than that which is right may not be in the majority.

HIS LIGHT SHINES ON

Over a period of many years friendly and philosophical Jim Morrison, publisher of the Tribune at Morris, Minnesota, has been a guiding light in Minnesota journalism. His was a light that never was dull and, on occasions, was brilliant. Always it was clear, steady and dependable. That light flickered last week when Jim died, but it didn't go out, and to his many friends it still is as bright as ever. During his long and useful life in the field of journalism he has represented that which is clean and constructive and courageous, and by his example he has lighted the way for many through the dark hours of doubt and indecision.

President Eisenhower acted wisely in delegating to Vice President Nixon the assignment of answering Adlai Stevenson's attack on his administration. The Stevenson attack was embarrassing mainly because of its inference that Senator McCarthy had taken over at the party controls. The selection of Nixon to speak for the party was a nice way of putting McCarthy in his place, and putting McCarthy in his place was the most effective way of telling Stevenson he had guessed wrong.

Sunday will bring back to us the first day of Spring, according to the calendar, and we are not complaining about that. Spring is always welcome. Spring is a tricky gal, as we all know, and not to be depended on. She may play fast and loose with our affections. Nevertheless we love her dearly and if, in a fickle mood, she deserts us, we will welcome her back when she has had her fling. After all, old Dame Winter has been an agreeable mistress and we will not complain if we do have to share her company a few more weeks, providing of course, that she retains her present amiable disposition.

FEDERAL RESERVE BANK CONTINUES TO GROW

The rapid pace of Upper Midwest economy is reflected in statistics revealed in the current annual report of Minneapolis Federal Reserve Bank. Number of general checks processed gained 9% over 1952 to reach the stupendous total of 79,899,840, while government items were gaining 4.2% to 15,740,539; dollar volume, however, by reason of falling prices, was down somewhat. 118,727,234 coins and 71,571,988 bills were counted. 860 loans totaled nearly $3 billion compared with 591 in 1952 amounting to slightly more than $2 billion. 44,312 fund transfers were handled, totaling nearly $14 billion. Addition of labor-saving and service-speeding equipment and rearrangement of crowded quarters marked the year of growth.

LUCKY PEOPLE

Cribbage is more than a hobby, it is almost a profession, with the Tony Dasingers at Pelican Rapids. In mid-February Mrs. Dasinger held, for their 7,354th game, that cynosure of all cribbage-peggers, a perfect 29 hand. Her second! The first was somewhere around their 800th game. It's Mr. Dasinger's turn next — his only perfect hand in this pegging marathon was around the 1,200th game . . . The four children of Mr. and Mrs. Ole Anderson, Elmore, boast historic birthdays: Lincoln's Cleveland's, and Washington's, and the anniversary of Lindbergh's Atlantic crossing . . . W. R. An old Smiley landmark has been removed the past week. It is the Smiley school dist. 26. It would have been fifty years old next year, 1955. It was built in 1905 and opened that fall with Miss Ida Motz as the first teacher. Miss Olson was among the first pupils and she still resides on the farm the school stood on. Miss Lillian Steenerson and Mrs. Clyde Neill (Ida Steenerson) were Clara's first schoolmates also. The era of those one room schoolhouses had a charm of its own. They were cozy and the three R's were learned just as effectively, to be sure as the modern counterpart. Those thrilling Christmas program preparations, those socials, those bitter below zero mornings when it was heavenly to stand around the red-hot belly stove to warm up, all these added up to heart warming memories that bless the little red schoolhouse by the road. The purchaser of district 26 is Bob Kraemer and was moved by Jennings Jensen of Thief River Falls. Mr. Kraemer plans to use the school house for a machine repair shed in the future.

Mark Olson and Wayne accompanied by Keith Johnson attended the district basketball tourney in Grand Forks a week ago Monday.

Guests laden with gifts and lunch were the Mesdames Clayton Mathson, Johnny Nelson, Kermit Finstad, Carl Finstad, Martin Finstad, Arnold Gunderson, Melvin Torkelson, Arnt Wedul, Armond Lian, Ole Lian, Otto Netteland, Olaf Snetting, Glenn Engelstad, Alfred Hallstrom and Miss Melba Gustafson and the Messrs. Bert Vigen, Mathson, Torkelson, Gunderson, Hallstrom, Johnny Nelson, Snetting and A. Hallstrom.

A large group of relatives of Peter Thune met at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Carl Melby (Inga) in Thief River Falls Sunday afternoon to honor him on his 90th birthday. He was quite pleased at the honor bestowed him with gifts and a birthday cake headed lunch.

SPRING ON THE FARM

Richard Post successfully dragged many acres of plowing the third week in February, on his farm near Prinsburg, Kandiyohi county . . . Challenged by a 7x8 ¾-inch egg on a neighboring farm, one of Emil Horstman's White Rocks labored and brought forth, at Round Lake, an 8x9½-inch egg. Anyone want to try to "beat" it? . . Though a gain of more than 4,000 acres over the previous year, the 16,720 acres of trees planted in Minnesota the 12-month ending last June 30 left this state far behind other Lake States — Wisconsin 25,000 and Michigan 40,000 acres.

ICE SKATING IS ANCIENT SKILL

Advent in Minneapolis of the perennially popular and fabulous Ice Follies for a long April run at the Arena, turns the attention of the sports-loving Upper Midwest to ice skating. Near Bjorko, Sweden, were found the first steel blades that can be identified as ice skates, dating from somewhere between the 8th and 10th centuries. First written reference to skating is in the Icelandic "Edda" dated somewhere in the tenth century. It remained for later Scandinavians, Oscar Johnson and Eddie and Roy Shipstad, all native Minnesotans, to pioneer in putting spectacular production numbers on ice and gain, in only 18 years, international fame. A frequent question is, how fast do skaters travel? The record mile is 2 minutes 38.2 seconds.

The City Council of the City of Thief River Falls, Minnesota, convened in regular session in the Council Chambers on February 16, 1954 at eight o'clock P. M. with all members present.

Minutes of the meetings of January 19th and 20th were read and so approved.

Reports of Clerk, Treasurer, Municipal Judge, Librarian, Weighmaster, Superintendent of Water Plant and depositories were presented, examined and ordered filed.

H. O. Berve, Attorney, representing certain owners of properties within Storm Sewer District No. 3 appeared before the Council and presented objections to the inclusion of the areas and properties north of Seventh Street and properties in the South section of such District, in the proposed construction of storm sewers to serve such District of Storm Sewer No. 3, stating that his clients are opposed to any assessment against their properties for the reason that they do not receive any benefit from the proposed construction. It was also stated that signatures to the original petition has been secured thru misrepresentation and that it was questionable whether or not the petitions were signed by the required percentage of property owners and was in proper form. Objectors present suggested that new petitions be circulated in order to determine definitely whether or not a majority of property owners favored carrying out the project. The President indicated that such suggestions would be given consideration.

Land O'Lakes Hears Defense of Supports for Dairy Industry

A United States department of agriculture official Friday defended the dairy-price support program and attacked public misconceptions about it.

Don S. Anderson, acting director of the livestock and dairy division, commodity stabilization service, told the closing session of the Land O'Lakes Creameries, Inc., annual meeting in Minneapolis the dairy industry should get the correct facts to the public.

Anderson denied price supports have resulted in excessively high prices. He said prices received by dairy farmers have been little more than enough to meet mounting production costs.

In their resolutions, the voting delegates to the Land O'Lakes meeting accused Benson of "unwarranted discrimination against the dairy farmer" by cutting supports to 75 per cent of parity.

They said price supports on other farm products will keep prices high for feed and other products used in dairying, and consequently "it is not equitable to cut so drastically the return to the dairy farmer."

The delegates urged congressional approval of the Thye-Andresen bill that would limit the price support cuts to 5 per cent in any one marketing year.

M. H. Mauritson, Shelly, Minn., farmer, was re-elected president.

New directors named are Clarence Swenson, Ulen, Minn., succeeding Lawrence Sherman of the same town, and John Hasbargen, Jackson, succeeding the late Frank W. White of Marshall. The other 22 directors were reelected, including Art Stenberg of Thief River Falls.

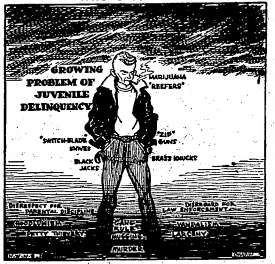
WHO IS TO BLAME?



New President of No. Central Named

Washington Man Will Succeed Howard Morey

Howard A. Morey resigned Wednesday in Minneapolis as president and general manager of North Central Airlines.

Following acceptance of his resignation, the airline's board unanimously elected Hal N. Carr, Washington, D. C., as the new president and general manager. Carr will take over his new post April 15.

Morey had served as president of the airline for about a year and a member of North Central's executive committee.

Carr is a director of North Central and was executive vice president of the airline from 1947 to 1951 when he became a member of the firm of McKinsey and Co., management consultants of Washington, D. C.

The airline's executive committee was designated to directed operations until Carr takes over. Grove Webster, vice president, will assist the committee.

North Central, formerly Wisconsin Airlines, serves Wisconsin, Minnesota and North Dakota with routes into Chicago and between Detroit and Houghton, Mich.

Permit Granted to Construct TV Plant in G. Forks

Permission to construct and operate a television station in Grand Forks on Channel 10 was granted Wednesday by the Federal Communications Radio Corp., operators of radio station KNOX.

The construction permit was granted to the group shortly after a competing application had been withdrawn by the Grand Forks Broadcasting Co. whose stockholders own the company operating the Star-Lite outdoor theatre in Grand Forks.

Because the withdrawal of the competing application was unexpected and the FCC's action came earlier than had been considered possible, plans for the television station are still incomplete.

"We had not expected a decision for several months," said Carroll Day, an official of the Community Radio Corp., "and while we have been pressing for early action, our plans still are somewhat in the formative stage."

Heart Fund Goal Is Surpassed in State This Year

The 1954 Minnesota Heart Fund drive has substantially exceeded its quota, Eugene L. Reichel, Minneapolis, state chairman, announced today.

With only a small number of returns still outstanding money in the drive stood close to the $265,000 mark.

Goal of the state drive was $210,000.

"The substantial amount by which we exceeded our quota is a tribute to the splendid cooperation extended the drive in all quarters by press, radio, television and other media, and to the spirited and persistent work done by the army of volunteers," Mr. Reichel said.

Last Call Issued to Get Trees for Spring Planting

Ray Clement, forester in charge of nurseries and planting, division of forestry, has issued a "last call" for tree planting stock to be ordered this spring.

Clement states that there will be white and jack pine, white cedar and hardwood trees, such as elm, maple, ash and black walnut available for a short time. As soon as ground conditions permit, digging trees will begin at the Badoura and Willow River state tree nurseries. More than 11,000,000 trees were planted last year on private and state lands and it is predicted that nearly 17,000,000 will be planted this year.

Orders for trees for planting on private lands must be sent in just as soon as possible. Individuals interested should contact the county agricultural office, the PMA or the nearest state forestry office for information and order blanks.

The trees will be shipped when planting conditions are favorable and notification sent to the person ordering the trees.

Coal mines east of the Mississippi River account for 90% of total U. S. production.

Of all homes in New Jersey, 43% are heated by coal.

Grygla Community Events of Interest

Mrs. Faye Rude, Phone 11C28, Grygla, Minn.

The Homemakers meeting that was scheduled for Monday, March 22 at 1:30 p. m. has been postponed because of the important school meeting scheduled for the same time.

Mrs. Paul Saurdiff and baby David Clyde were honored Friday afternoon at a pink and blue shower at their home. The lunch, which had been brought by all the guests was served after the gifts had been opened and admired. The afternoon was spent socially. Those present besides the honor guests were Mrs. Harold Bush, Mrs. Henry Hope, Mrs. F. A. Brown, Mrs. Albert Miller, Mrs. Milton Sandsmark, Mrs. Irven Anderson, Mrs. Sivert Salveson, Mrs. Gordon Anderson, Mrs. Clarence Peterson, Mrs. Ann Austad, Mrs. Harry McLean and the hostesses Mrs. Alton A. Anderson and Mrs. Fay Rude.

The senior class of Goodridge high school is going to present a 3-act comedy entitled "The Inner Willy" in Grygla on March 20 at 8 p. m.

"Impish, puckish Inner Willy is just about the most delightful character we've met. In long underwear and clownish felt hat, he pops out of thin air 'on a burp,' to goad sedate, somewhat stuffy Willoughby into unbending and being himself. Willoughby, embarrassed by this arrogant apparition who follows him around and audaciously perches on top of the piano, legs dangling, while he munches cucumbers (anathema to Willoughby), rebels at first, and calls Inner Willy a 'supercharged atom in BVD's. But no amount of vituperation can squelch this little demon. He's really there for Willoughby's good, you see."

The admission price will be adults, 50 cents; students, 25c; and grades 15c.

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Brown, Sofus Bjertness, Ellen Croninger and Lloyd Dyrdal visited with Mary Maney, who is a patient at the Greenbush hospital, on Sunday afternoon.

County Commissioners Sofus Bjertness, Irvin Anderson, and Andrew Korgen of Newfolden attended a conservation meeting that had been called by Senator Sinclair at Baudette on Friday.

The St Olaf Luther League met Sunday evening with a very appropriate Lenten program. Besides a short devotion by Rev. J. M. Erickson and several songs by the congregation, the skit "Voice of Passion" was presented by six men, Adolph Erickson, Ralph Galbraith, John McMartin, Alton Anderson, Robert Qual, and Harlan Lee, Jr., with Mrs. Irene Sandberg introducing the characters. When Their World Crashed . . . RED CROSS HEARD THEIR CALLS

Port Huron, Mich., Times-Herald photograph by Ralph Polovich

Upper Right: After the devastating Greek earthquakes last August, 3-year-old Stamatia Frangatos sat on a hospital bed with her name pinned to her dress, as doctors dressed her fractured leg and injured head. Greek Red Cross workers finally located her mother alive, after a month's search, and re-united the pair. The American Red Cross conducted a nation-wide appeal for funds to aid victims.

Lower Right: Fire, which completely ravaged a Chicago, Ill., apartment building, killed seven, injured six, and affected 100 persons, left Michael Cruz, 2½, bewildered and frightened. Here the terrified youngster is being comforted by Mrs. Rodna Nye, Red Cross disaster representative, who established disaster headquarters at the scene of the fire.

Last year the Red Cross aided an average of one person every five minutes among those suffering disaster injury or loss, as sudden death and destruction struck communities across the United States on an average of six times every week. The 1954 Red Cross Campaign for $85,000,000 and 80,000,000 members, now underway, enables everyone to serve his neighbors in distress or need.

GROWING WITH YOUR CHILD

Institute of Child Welfare, University of Minnesota

Chores, Or Bores?

When do chores end? When do bores begin? These are difficult questions for an adult to answer, because so many of the good answers and the plausible answers begin with the phrase, "It all depends."

It all depends, for example, on the age of the child. Children at even the earliest ages — two and three years old — can be given chores around the house which are within their capacity to perform. Interest is a good signal for the parent; what catches the child's desire to do, to perform? Does he want to help mix the cake batter? He perfectly well can help — provided you do not confuse helping with doing, or try too hard to show him the adult ways. Responsibility-taking will be very limited. It is enough that he has interest, that he wants to be a part of the functioning household.

It depends on how long a particular job or chore will take. Dislike for a task will grow out of being kept at it for too long, without being able to see any result or feel any joy of completion.

It depends on the job itself. There are many things which just have to be done there is no real pleasure in doing them, except to get them over with. What we can do is to work out a schedule so that no one member of the family is oversupplied with the dull and boring jobs.

It depends on the number of jobs to be assigned. A child with too many chores to perform may come to feel that life is nothing but a succession of unpleasant tasks that he must do.

It all depends, too, on the attitudes adults show toward the necessary but often dull and boring chores. Some jobs provide pleasure in themselves. But other jobs must be viewed as having something to contribute to good living, even though in themselves they are drab and uninteresting. Keeping the point of the job in mind contributes to the ease of completing it.

Recent excavations south of Cairo, Egypt, unearthed a wooden coffin at least 3,800 years old entombed in a pyramid said to be 8,000 years old.

The bituminous coal industry opened or placed in development 338 new deep and surface mines with a daily capacity of 500 tons or more in the years 1946-52.

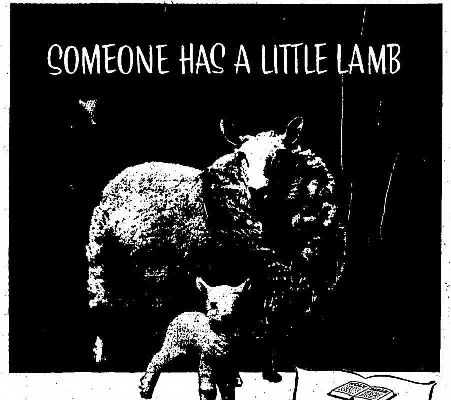
SOMEONE HAS A LITTLE LAMB



Youngsters are always "cute"—whether they're the woolly type or the romper variety.

Youngsters are appealing because they are fascinating miniatures of the adult of the species. So tiny . . . yet they look, and soon begin to act, like smaller editions of the grown-ups.

That fact should make human parents deeply conscious of their responsibility. Their own example and influence, and their provision for the child's spiritual needs can make or mar a youngster's character.

Churches are the chief allies of conscientious parents. They provide consecrated Christian teachers, interesting graded lessons and the inspiring worshipful setting for a child's moral and spiritual training.

Will you help some church in this vital phase of its work? Will you attend and support the Church? Will you encourage parents you know to give their children the advantage of the Church's teaching ministry?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

WRECKED...
2,000 miles from home!

An actual case based on Company File 26KAL8893

We were on a long winter vacation trip, far from home and friends, when we hit that icy strip in the road! The car was ruined — I was shaken up — my wife was badly hurt.

After I'd seen her safely in the hospital I got in touch with the Hartford Agent right where I was — and you should have seen how he went out of his way to help!

He sure moved fast! The car was replaced. My wife's hospital bills were paid. He even took care of special Pullman accommodations she needed for her trip home a few days later. All of this without a cent of expense to me!

After all the wonderful treatment we received, you can see why I'm a booster for the Hartford and its agents.

Here you have Hartford insurance service in action — the kind of service you can expect from us in this community — and from Hartford Agents and Claim Representatives anywhere in the country whenever the need arises.

Whether it's insurance for your car, your home, your family or business — you can always be sure of getting the finest protection available, through us. Hartford Protection. With all the peace-of-mind and service that goes with it.

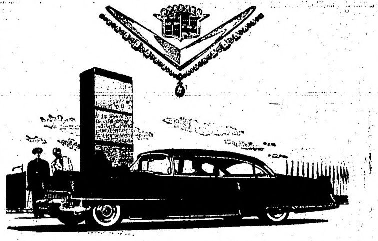
Cadillac



It Speaks a Universal Language!

It's the great 1954 Cadillac—and it speaks not only with great eloquence, but in a language which is known and understood wherever there are roads to travel . . . and people to behold.

First of all, it speaks of its owner—the minute its beautiful hood comes into view.

"Here is a man," it says—almost as plainly as the words are written here—"who has earned the right to sit at this wheel—by his industry and deportment and enterprise. Be he merchant or lawyer or businessman—or doctor or farmer or financier—the odds are great that he's a credit to his calling and to his fellow men.

"Accept him accordingly—and you'll likely be right in your judgment."

And then, as it comes closer, it speaks its special message for 1954—the story of its own advancement.

Its beautiful silhouette—graceful, free-flowing and dynamic—announces a whole new era in automotive design . . . "expect me to be copied for years to come!"

And its smooth, silent, easy movement—a true symphony in motion as it glides past and on and away—says with clarity and eloquence that the world's standard for performance has been raised again.

And remember—the wonderful "voice" of a 1954 Cadillac, with its significant message, comes as a bonus to the man who sits at the wheel.

It comes in addition to all the priceless fundamentals which make a Cadillac a Cadillac: unrivalled endurance and dependability—incomparable comfort and handling ease—and unbelievable economy of upkeep and operation.

Better come in—and let a Cadillac speak for you!

News Happenings in Goodridge District

By Mrs. Orvis Olson, Goodridge, Phone 808-4

The senior class of Goodridge high school is going to present a 3 act comedy entitled "The Inner Willy."

Impish, puckish Inner Willy is just about the most delightful character we've met. In long underwear and clownish felt hat, he pops out of thin air "on a burp", to goad sedate, somewhat stuffy Willoughby into unbending and being himself. Willoughby, embarrassed by this arrogant apparition who follows him around and audaciously perches on top of the piano, legs dangling, while he munches cucumbers (anathema to Willoughby), rebels at first, and calls Inner Willy a "supercharged atom in BVD's". But no amount of vituperation can squelch this little demon. He is really there for Willoughby's good, you see.

Grand Forks Objects to Airline Proposal

Approval by a Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce subcommittee of a "proposal" that Northwest Airlines service to Grand Forks be replaced by North Central Airlines service brought quick reaction in Grand Forks Wednesday.

A subcommittee of the Minneapolis Chamber's aviation committee, according to a Minneapolis newspaper, had submitted a report in connection with its investigation of North Central's application for permission to discontinue service to Grand Forks and Fargo.

This report agreed the financial condition of North Central, together with current operating difficulties, "will not permit" continuation of the Twin Cities to Grand Forks and Fargo service on two different routes, with intermediate stops.

Hearing on the North Central application, originally set for March 17 in Minneapolis, has been postponed to March 23 before CAB Examiner Joseph L. Fitzmaurice.

The Minneapolis Chamber told the Grand Forks Herald that the subcommittee's report had simply been filed by the full aviation committee without action, and indicated the Chamber did not plan any intervention in the North Central case.

Malcolm S. MacKay, executive vice president of Northwest in St. Paul, also told the Herald his company has taken no part in the North Central matter and had not considered any abandonment of service to Grand Forks in connection with the North Central's application.

The Minneapolis Chamber subcommittee had reported, according to the Minneapolis newspaper, that the "North Central proposal to discontinue the Fargo segment and retain the Grand Forks segment, provided that Northwest Airlines surrenders Grand Forks, is both logical and desirable and might well obtain the support of the communities involved and the Minnesota department of aeronautics."

The Minneapolis Chamber's manager said the report was not intended for publication and that it did not have the approval of the Chamber's board or the full aviation committee.

Southwest U. S. Legume Growing Helps Midwest

Minnesota farmers are benefiting in lower legume seed prices from a seed growing project based 2,000 miles west of the North Star State—in the hot, dry irrigated valleys of Arizona, California and Utah.

Farmers of the sunny southwest are benefiting in the program, too, according to Laddie J. Elling, assistant professor of agronomy at the University of Minnesota. He was in the Southwest recently with an official of the National Foundation Seedstocks Project, a unit of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, studying legume seed growing facilities.

Here's how the program works: Southwest farmers buy foundation or registered seed from northern growers and raise high yields of seed crops on their irrigated land. Their land's high productive ability make possible big seed yields, which, in turn, lowers seed prices.

For example, certified Ranger alfalfa seed was $1.10 a pound in 1950 and this year it will be about 45c. This also has forced down the price of common alfalfas. By making plenty of seed available at low prices, the program is allowing upper midwest farmers to plant soil-saving red clover and alfalfa at far lower cost.

Thus, in the decade 1940-1950, Minnesota farmers grew a yearly average of 1,100,000 acres of alfalfa. In 1953, they grew 1,575,000 acres of the soil-building legume and probably will grow more because of having to divert part of the wheat crop acres to other uses.

4-H School for Tractor Upkeep at N. W. School

Minnesota 4-H'ers who have attended a tractor school will have an opportunity to brush up on tractor maintenance in one of four one-day refresher courses to be held March 30 through April 2, according to Osgood Magnuson, assistant state 4-H club leader at the University of Minnesota.

The first school is set for Tuesday, March 30, at the Southern School of Agriculture, Waseca; others are: Wednesday, March 31, West Central School and Station, Morris; Thursday, April 1, Northwest School and Station, Crookston and Friday, April 2, North Central School and Station, Grand Rapids.

The schools will begin at 9:30 a. m. and end at 4 in the afternoon. Included will be new developments in tractor maintenance, a review of basic knowledge on tractor care, and how 4-H club members can aid others in learning better and safer tractor care.

Magnuson and Don Bates, agricultural engineer with the University's agricultural extension service, and a representative of Standard Oil Company will be at each school to help conduct it and answer questions.

Further information about the schools is available from the county agent.

Report to the People

By Governor C. Elmer Anderson

Investment in Taconite

One of the biggest prospects in Minnesota's future is the taconite industry. Still in its early stages, the development has progressed to the point where it has warranted the investment of more than 450 million dollars in facilities by three large mining companies. The Reserve Mining Company will have spent 160 million dollars on its taconite development by the end of the year. The Erie Mining Company is launching plans which call for the expenditure of 270 million dollars. The Oliver Mining Company plans to spend about 23 million on taconite.

• • • • •

The benefits of new oil fields in North Dakota and Canada are coming to us in Minnesota, too. Already operating at Wrenshall is the new International Refinery, costing about 7.5 million dollars. The enlarged Northwestern Refinery has cost as much or more. Officials of the Great Northern Oil Company have announced plans for erection of a 25 million dollar refinery. A pipe line from Duluth or Clearbrook to St. Paul is contemplated at a cost of 4 million or 5 million dollars. Refinery installations and pipe lines already operating in the state or planned represent an investment of about 45 million dollars.

Prefer Jobs

The annual report of the division of social welfare for the year ending June 30, 1953, made public this week, stressed among other things the decline in number of persons receiving aid to dependent children. Aid to dependent children declined 4% in number of cases during the year and $242,273 in costs. About one-third of the cases are closed each year because some person in the family gets a job. The turn-over in persons getting aid thus is fairly rapid. Says the report:

"These findings are significant because they show that there is a marked tendency for families to find a solution to their problem and to to leave the aid program. Families seek aid during a crisis until they can marshall their own resources, both material and spiritual, and then they leave the assistance rolls. During periods of assistance the county welfare boards seek to accelerate the rate of return to self-support."

Pioneer Days in This Area

By Old Timer

Part Two

The folks in this new community later known as Rosewood, survived the first winter, and there were no deaths recorded. The nearest doctor was at Crookston, and it was doubtful if a doctor could travel that far in winter time, since there were no roads.

During the summers of 1884, '85 and '86 new settlers arrived, including Amund Myrom, Knut Lappegaard, Sven Johnson, John Nordhagen, John Carlson, John Blom, Andreas Opseth, Torinus Mellem, Martin Nordhagen, Fred Styrlund, Severt Rafteseth, Ole Nyhus, the Sorenson brothers Peder, John and Sam and their aged father Soren, Gilbert Haugen, Erick Braaten, Amund Remmem, Ole Nesha, the Setnes brothers Gunelius, Edward and Ole, Halvor Strandvold and Ole Lappegaard.

The midwives, Mrs. Even Anderson and Mrs. Martin Nordhagen officiated at childbirth. They evidently knew their business, as we do not recall that they lost a mother.

This was now an active community, in which they co-operated and worked in groups. No one had all the tools and implements required, so they borrowed from one another. Andreas Opseth was a carpenter, and he was always busy. When his services were needed, if the neighbor did not have the cash to pay for carpenter work he worked on the carpenter's farm—in other words, they traded work.

New two room homes were built out of logs with shingle roofs. There was usually an attic which served as bed room for the youngsters. Some of the early cabins had sod roofs and when it rained everything inside got wet. Later such roofs were covered with boards and tar paper. Some of the settlers made dugouts in the sandridges, which were comfortable if the roof did not leak.

During the first years the grain was cut by cradle. A good man with a cradle would lay a nice bundle with each stroke. The cradle was a scythe with a rack built on to catch the grain as it fell. Before the early settlers had grain of their own they went to older communities and tied grain by hand behind the cradle.

The slow faithful oxen provided the power to pull the breaking plow and other machinery. The wooden yoke was then in use; it was a cruel way to get service from the oxen. It was a long step forward when the ox harness was invented, both in service and less cruelty to animals.

More next time.

OUR LAND

Prepared by the Minnesota Soil Conservation Service in cooperation with University Farm, St. Paul

Soil Conditioners

Although soil conditioners improve a soil's workability and water absorption, they do not increase crop yields. According to extensive field experiments with corn, oats, wheat and flax by University of Minnesota agronomists, up to 1,600 pounds of 25 per cent soil conditioner gave no yield increases over non-treated plots.

Heavy Tilers

Lyon county farmers laid over 100 miles of drainage tile during 1953, reports the county soil conservation district. The 100-mile figure is for both district and ACP cooperators. In addition, 26 miles of open ditch drainage was completed, reports SCS farm planner Jake Janarn. These improvements, plus crop rotation programs, pasture improvements, fertilizer and seeding, and waterway repair, have contributed to better land.

Conservation Improves Wildlife

Hunters and fishermen will get a better break in the Kittson county area as the result of a conservation and improvement program now under way. While dealing with wind erosion, water erosion and farm drainage, farmers also plan improving conditions for upland game birds, ducks and deer. The conservation blueprint includes building farm ponds, spillway-type dams in creeks to hold back water and at the same time permit flowage, planting shelterbelts of trees with a couple of rows of berry-producing shrubs and establishing wildlife areas in the western part of the county.

Plan Crop Rotation Now

Right now is a good time to plan your crop rotation says Matt Thorfinnson, extension soil conservationist at the University of Minnesota. Planning now allows plenty of time for making your new sedings of legumes and grasses.

Gunhild Syrtveit, our teacher and Bruce Hall, our bus driver reported seeing a bald eagle in this vicinity last week. Jerry Sabo looked up the following facts concerning the same in our encyclopedia: this majestic bird inhabits all of North America North of Mexico. He may be here anytime but more common in spring and summer. His chief food is fish. In the spring he often joins the crows and ravens and he feeds upon carrion at the time. This majestic bird was chosen as our National emblem not for his habits but for the magnificence of his flight which is truly beautiful.

No birds visit our feeding station lately due to the fact that the squirrels have taken over.

This is a copy of a letter received a few days ago by Mr. G. H. Cook. I think it would be of interest to our readers.

Dear Mr. Cook,

On March 5, 1954 a flight of seven B-29's entered our area of responsibility in an attempt to surprise and test our defensive system. I am happy to report, that, thanks to your alertness they were unable to sneak in undetected.

Between your post and four other posts in the northwest corner of the state, six out of the seven aircraft were detected and reported as they entered our area. Your reports came prior to any knowledge on the part of radar, as to the presence of these aircraft and were instrumental in alerting the Radar stations, thereby enabling them to locate all of the B-29's and track them as they progressed toward the Twin Cities.

This is the reason for the existence of the ground observer corps and it once again proves that any mechanical detection system will have to be backed up by human effort in order to give us the defensive strength that we need in this day and age. It is reassuring to know that the observation posts such as yours are on duty and capable of sounding an alarm whenever unidentified aircraft penetrate our area of responsibility.

Thank you for your efforts in this important program.

Sincerely,
Robert L. Thompson,
Major, US Air Force
Detachment Commander.

Here are a few "briefies" for you this week, tips about home management passed on from extension specialists at the University of Minnesota.

Towels

The dark-colored bath towels so popular these days need little special care in the laundry.

Since an unusual amount of dye is required to produce the deep tones in these towels, they may sometimes color the wash water. For that reason, they should be washed separately in warm water and a mild or synthetic detergent.

If you hang the towels outside to dry, select a shady spot and give the wet towels a shake to fluff up the pile. Hang about a third of the towel over the line so the hems won't pull out of shape. When the towels are dry, shake and fold them, but never iron them. Ironing flattens the loops and lessens the absorbency of terry towels.

Ovens

If you've done a good deal of baking lately, it may be time to clean the oven.

Here is a suggestion you can use when cleaning your oven. Soak a piece of cloth in ammonia, put it in the oven and leave it there an hour or more with the door closed. The ammonia will loosen the fat and you can clean the oven easily with fine steel wool, or mechanic's soap and hot water. A commercial oven cleaner may be used instead of the ammonia.

• • • • •

Knives

It's much easier to keep knives sharp than it is to recondition them if they become badly dulled or blunted. Be careful that blades don't strike against each other so they're nicked or dulled or the chrome plating scratched. If plating is scratched, the exposed metal may rust or stain.

I am planning to have a column during April on ideas for bridal showers. If you've held a shower, or been at one, with a different theme, tricky games, or even a special lunch, I would enjoy hearing from you about it.

Congratulations today to all the Irishmen in the county on St. Patrick's day!

Tourists Visit Itasca Park from Wide Area in '53

A tourist visitor from Rangoon, Burma, was one of more than 500 people from 25 foreign countries who last year signed the guest register at the headwaters station, at the source of the mighty Mississippi River, in Itasca State Park. Two came from China, one from Africa, 11 from South America and 33 were from the European continent. Canada sent 865 visitors.

Such is the annual report made by Andie Peterson, superintendent of Itasca Park to U. W. Hella, director of the division of state parks.

Guests also registered at Douglas Lodge, the camp and picnic grounds, and the fire lookout tower and from the lists and spot checks it is estimated that at least 450,000 people entered Itasca Park during the summer.

Minnesota and nine nearby states, North and South Dakota, Wisconsin, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Nebraska and Kansas, accounted for 90 per cent of the total park visitors, which is almost identical to records of previous years.

This time of year citrus fruits are at their best! Oranges and grapefruit are rich in Vitamin C, so necessary to good health and vitality.

Here are a few hints on caring for citrus fruits.

...Do not buy more than your family can use during a week!
...Store citrus fruits in a cool, dark place.
...Handle fruit carefully. Avoid bruises caused by dropping or crushing.
...Chill oranges for juice before squeezing. Adding cubes to chill, dilutes the juice.

Another Round of the Battle of the Giants

Under a rousing headline, "Battle of the Giants," the Thief River Falls News in its April 30, 1903 issue, continued its interesting reports on the progress of the fight between the Great Northern and the Soo Line. A story dated from New York April 27, stated:

"Hardly a day passes without new indications of trouble brewing between Canadian Pacific and lines of the Northern Securities. Officials of both companies are very modest in their statements, each side making the claim that the other company is the aggressor and that they, on their part, are simply going to defend their rights in the territory."

The Canadian Pacific's point of view was presented in the form of a quotation of "the most prominent representative of the Canadian Pacific in New York." He said:

"We are not going to invade anything. I do not know officially of any intentions on the part of the Canadian Pacific to carry operations across the border either in person or by deputy. I believe however that it is the intention of the company to connect up with the Soo Line in such a way as to form a short route from Manitoba to the Twin Cities. I know that plans have been discussed many times for the making of this short route.

"The existing arrangement with the Great Northern has been satisfactory enough so far as traffic operations go, but there is a long haul south of the Manitoba border out of which we never made a cent. It is not an expensive country to build through, and the Canadian Pacific thinks there is an opportunity to make money on that haul.

"That is all there is to it. These stories of plans to deliberately parallel the Great Northern or Northern Pacific must be taken with a grain of salt. We are not looking for a pitched battle and I do not believ that Mr. Hill is."

On which statement Editor Eastman opines

"The meaning of this conservative statement can be nothing else than that the Canadian Pacific intends to complete its system in the United States no matter what opposition it meets. It is not going out of the way to attack anyone, but is quite prepared to meet opposition if such develops."

Soo Let's Glenwood Contract

In the May 7 issue of the News announcement was made that the Soo Line had let a contract for the building of 125 miles of the line north of Glenwood. The statement was credited to the chief engineer of the company and the contract was awarded to Richards, Lundeen & Co. of Minneapolis. The exact location of the new line had been announced only in part. Alexandria was definitely "in" according to the News which stated factually that, "The town of Alexandria secured the new location by raising a bonus of $19,000." "It is supposed," the News guessed, that the new line "Will touch Detroit Lakes."

That week's issue also announced that D. B. Bakke, president of the Commercial Club, had called a meeting of that organization for the following evening. "Much of interest to Thief River Falls is to be discussed and every business man should attend. A committee will be appointed to meet the offical of the Soo Railroad which is to build a line through Thief River Falls in the near future."

The May 7 issue also carried a story under a Chicago date line of May 2 confirming the previous weeks' report from New York. This report states:

"The executive committee of the Canadian Pacific has definitely decided to lay before the directors of the company a plan whereby the Canadian Pacific will become directly responsible for the construction of the lines between the Manitoba border and Glenwood on the Soo Line. The directors will approve the measure and formulate a proposition to be laid before the stockholders of the Canadian Pacific at their meeting.

"This project is one of the most important undertakings now pending in the United States. It will considerably alter the railroad map of this region lying between the Twin Cities and the network of lines owned by the Canadian Pacific in the southwestern corner of Manitoba. Hitherto the Canadian Pacific has reached the Twin Cities from Manitoba over the lines of the Great Northern."

G. N. In the News Again

For several issues of the news nothing was mentioned of the progress of Great Northern planning. The road had withdrawn its survey crews from the proposed extension north from Thief River Falls. The announced plan was to build north from Pelican Rapids to McIntosh and extend from that point to Lake of the Woods territory. The May 14 issue however reports progress on this proposal in a quotation from the Crookston Times to this effect:

"The Great Northern surveyors have completed their work south of McIntosh and moved north. Just what or where they are headed for is a secret which is being carefully guarded but looks like Roseau, with a possible extension to Warroad.

"Their course so far as outlined is a trifle east of north and takes them about three miles east of Lambert and 16 to 20 miles east of Thief River Falls."

In the June 4 issue however, a short reference to the completion of a survey of 34 miles due north of Thief River Falls indicated that the Great Northern had not definitely decided against the proposed extension north from this point.

Then, thruout the remainder of the summer of 1903, the News was singularly silent on railroad matters. It must have been a summer of doubt.

C & C Members Urged to Boost Local Industry

Representative of Small Business Administration Guest Speaker Thursday

Industrial possibilities in Thief River Falls were discussed at the meeting of the Civic and Commerce association Thursday night by A. H. Batsche, a representative of the Minneapolis regional office of the Small Business Administration. Mr. Batsche stated that much of the work done in the regional office relative to small business financing is not in lending money, but in educating, advising, and showing small business operators methods in which they can procure private financing.

He pointed out that many small business failures are directly traceable to lack of knowhow and experience and that the regional office is rapidly assuming a role as clearing house for exchange of information which is available to small business. There is a general revolt against living under the crowded conditions found in highly industrialized cities, he said, and Minnesota had much to offer in climate, health, education and recreational facilities.

He stated that contrary to the generally accepted theory, taxes, freight rates, geographical location and raw materials are not the detriments to industrial development and pointed out examples of this fact. We have much greater assets in the intelligence and ingenuity of our people, he maintained.

Everyone was urged to become interested in industrial development, and it was pointed out that it was not necessary to have a General Motors plant to bring payrolls to our town, that several small plants employing several people provided greater stability than one large plant employing many. Expansion programs are important to everyone in a community and everyone eventually gets a cut of the payroll dollar.

The SBA program of rapid tax amortization was explained, as was the loan policy. One of the basic policies of SBA is that "any loans made by SBA must be so secured as to reasonably expect repayment" and that "the government is not in competition with the banks and other private lending institutions, but is cooperating with them," said Batsche.

A. W. Applequist, Soo Line Yard Foreman, Retires

Has Been Employee of Company Since 1910; Here Past Ten Years

A. W. Applequist of this city was honored Monday by fellow employees of the Soo Line on the occasion of his retirement following more than forty years of service with the company. At a luncheon meeting at the Rex Cafe Monday afternoon he was presented with fishing equipment as a gift from the general staff.

During the past ten years Mr. Applequist has served as yard foreman at Thief River Falls. Prior to his coming here he had been roadmaster at Flaxton, Bismarck and Harvey. He entered the service of the company April 1, 1910 when he was employed at Moose Lake as a section laborer. He later served as a section foreman and in 1926 he became foreman of an extra gang working on rail and ballast jobs on all divisions of the system.

He is a veteran of World War I and served overseas. His biggest problem in railroading came in 1942 when he awakened one morning to find 28 washouts on the Bismarck Hankinson and Pollock lines.

His retirement became effective February 12 and he states that he intends to continue to live in Thief River Falls in his home at 803 North LaBree ave. His hobbies are Whist and fishing and he expects to devote a lot of time to these activities.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Berg spent the weekend in Minneapolis on business and also visiting with their son and daughter-in-law

Hospital Receives First Installment of Matching Funds

Northwestern Hospital received its first installment of matching Federal Public Health Funds Saturday, hospital administrator Harold Peterson announced this week. The check in the amount of $155,792.89 covers the federal grant on construction up to about February 1, he said.

The remainder of the governments contribution will be made in two installments, a second and final settlement. This will make it necessary to delay the second estimate as much as possible in order that the amount to be covered in the final settlement be kept small. Because of this it will be necessary to make a special effort to collect a sufficient amount on pledges to meet contract obligations, Mr. Peterson said.

Construction is proceding well ahead of schedule. At the present time 48 men are at work on the new hospital addition. This number includes 11 laborers, 8 roofers, 7 carpenters, 10 plumbers and steamfitters, 4 bricklayers, 2 pipe insulation men, 2 sheet metal workers, 2 electricians and two welders.

Roofing of the new structure is 60% complete and it is expected that in another week 100% of the roofing, and all the roughing in of plumbing and steamfitting will be finished.

Completion date for the construction work, with the exception of the remodeling of present Hospital Plant 8 has now been advanced from Oct. 15th to August 15th.

It is expected that the new hospital addition will be completed soon enough so that the building may be dedicated during the 50th Anniversary celebration next fall. William LaFave member of the Board of Trustees of Northwestern Hospital, has already been appointed by the Board to make arrangements for the dedication of the building at that time.

B & W Will Change Name to "Piggly Wiggly" April 1

Gordon Ballingrud and Otis Wold Continue to Own-Operate Store

Starting April 1 the B & W Food Market will be operated as "Piggly Wiggly," Gordon Ballingrud announced this week. A pylon electric sign that will display the nationally known trademark is being erected at the east end of the store front and the interior of the store is being redecorated and rearranged in a merchandise display pattern that is recommended by the organization.

There is no change of ownership or management in the store under this new name, Mr Ballingrud explained. He and Otis Wold will continue in partnership as they have been associated in the past. "Association with this national organization will give us a definite buying and merchandising advantage with many established name brand food products and will enable us to provide a better food service for the Thief River Falls trade area," he said.

Announcement of the change will be made next week with a gala opening event.

Burglars Get Big Haul in Pharmacy Job

Money Loss Estimated at $1,000; Evidently Knew Where to Find Cash

Burglars entered the Thief River Pharmacy Thursday night through the rear door and made their get-a-way with in the neighborhood of $1,000 in cash and currency and an estimated $100 worth of cigarettes. In volume of loot taken it is the largest burglary on record in this area in recent years.

The Pharmacy burglary was one of several reported in this area within a week. On the previous Saturday night the Odegaard store at Hazel was entered and a small sum of cash and some merchandise taken. The following night, Friday, several schools in neighborhood towns, including Holt, Middle River and Badger were entered and in each instance the lunch money was stolen.

Entrance to the Pharmacy was gained by smashing the wire mesh glass sufficiently to insert an arm and draw the latch. The money taken was in five different places besides what was in the two cash registers. The fact that the money was so distributed and that it was found without any evidence of a ransacking search lends support to the opinion that the burglars were familiar with the premises and the operation of the business.

Discovery that the store had been entered was made by C. L. Bowman, building janitor, as he walked through the lane at the rear of the building at about 5:30 a. m. Seeing the broken glass, he tried the door and observing what had happened he called the police. Police officer Hardy Bjerk and deputy sheriff Elton Cummings arrived shortly. When Ole Ekeren, Pharmacy proprietor, arrived and the probable amount of the loss was realized, the State Bureau of Criminal Apprehension was called. Elmer Madsen, district representative of this organization, responded to the call later in the day.

Sheriff Arthur Rambeck stated this morning that his office is cooperating with the city police but there is nothing to report on the progress they are making.

Fire Causes Big Damage to East Side Home Sunday

$10,000 Is Estimated Loss to Berger Home in Morning Blaze

Two early morning fires Sunday disturbed the sleep of local fire fighters. The first alarm at 4:42 a. m. came as the result of a furnace failure at the main plant of Land O'Lakes Creameries, Inc. on Horace Ave. A 6:30 call came when a newsboy discovered smoke coming out of the R. G. Berger home at 620 St. Paul Ave. south.

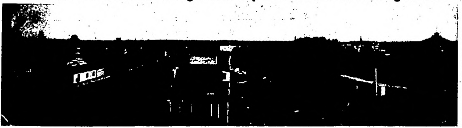
Damage to the Berger home is estimated at approximately $10,000 by Chief Roy Langevin. This includes practically a total loss of furniture and extensive damage to the building. The fire had made substantial progress when the alarm was sounded and its origin has not been determined.

An alert newsboy, Anthony Kozojed, detected smoke coming out of the building as he was delivering papers and awakened neighbors to make known the fire. The building was not occupied, the Berger family having departed Saturday night for Mahnomen. Mr. Berger is a car dispatcher employed by the Soo Line.

The loss at the Land O'Lakes plant resulted largely from smoke damage. The night watchman detected smoke. It was discovered that a furnace failure had resulted in oil seepage to the floor of the fire room and this had ignited.

YN3 Ernest Aaseby left Sunday for Oceana, Virginia after spending a few days at the home of his mother Mrs. I. C. Aaseby. He is now connected with the intelligence work of the navy air force.

Thief River Falls 50 Years Ago From Top of Court House Looking South



Here is a panorama view of Thief River Falls as it appeared 50 years ago looking south from the top of the court house at First and Main. In the skyline at the left are the stacks of the lumber mill. A little to the right is the elevator near the present Great Northern depot and the flour mill. At the extreme right is the Washington school. This view is a reproduction of a double post card scene loaned to the Times by Mrs. Knute Evenson of Oklee. Dairy Inspector Impressed with Progress in Area

Many Farms Meeting High Standards for Quality Production

V. J. Byrne, milk sanitarian with the state department of agriculture, dairy and food, inspected a dozen farms in this area Thursday and Friday and expressed great satisfaction with the progress that is being made in meeting the high standards of quality milk production. This was his second inspection tour in the Thief River Falls community, his first trip having been made in January. He expects to be here again in the course of a few weeks.

He was especially impressed with the increased interest in the quality program. Farmers are discovering that the standards are reasonable, he said, and compliance in many instances is not as expensive or as much of a hardship as anticipated.

On Thursday evening he spoke to a group of dairymen at the Bridgeman plant. There is no alternative to the quality program in the production of milk for human consumption, he stated. The higher standards are already so well established that the market for milk that does not measure up to these standards is shrinking rapidly.

Mr. Byrne, who headquarters in Bemidji, has 18 counties in his inspection district.

Pioneeer Days in This Area

By Oldtimer

A yoke of oxen, a cow and a few chickens were the first livestock on most farms. There was some advantage in having ox power on the breaking plow. At noon the yoke or harness was taken off and the animals were turned loose to gather their own food and drink in the vicinity. They were sometimes used for power on horse power threshing machines, however they really were too slow for that work. It was a long day driving to St. Hilaire and return and when a homesteader went to town he got the mail and shopped for neighbors contacted enroute. The trail from the north passed near the Charley Gustafson farm and that was always a good place to stop for coffee.

The pioneers were not easily discouraged and they were accustomed to being without money for long periods of time. I remember once at our home when there were not even two cents in the purse to buy a postage stamp. They had many misfortunes; prairie fires that burned their grain and hay stacks; early frost that destroyed their crops; the severe winter snow storms that would last for days. They kept on trying and we know that they succeeded when we take a look at the same community now.

The summer of 1880 was very dry, but rain came with violent electric storms the first days of July. Fred Blomberg of our community at Rosewood, and Carl Berg of west of Norden township were killed by lightning that same day, but not by the same storm.

On Sunday's John Sör and Ole Nyhus taught Sunday School in their homes, each in their own language. Church services were conducted in the homes and babies were baptized whenever a minister would walk through the community.

The life of pioneer women was hard indeed and there were times when they did not see another woman for several weeks. In our neighborhood they had improvised a system of signals that served a good purpose. A bed sheet on a pole meant that assistance at that home was immediately necessary and while this system was not as satisfactory as a telephone it nevertheless brought results.

They were always busy with the usual household work, carding wool, spinning yarn, knitting socks, mittens and sometimes underwear. Some of the women were not idle even when they visited a neighbor and it was not unusual to see them tending to their knitting as they walked along the trail, a ball of yarn in a basket pinned to the dress.

More next time.

Marge Olsen

This is the year that the shirt has become a major fashion for teen-agers and career girls; it looks right with everything from jeans to skirts, and it goes everywhere, to school, to the office, and on dates.

If teen-agers want to be a bit different, why don't you adapt a man's or youth's shirts for yourself? Here is a chart that shows how to convert your shirt and blouse sizes to boy's and men's shirt sizes.

Boys sport or dress shirt size	10	12	14	16	18
Junior misses blouse size	9	11-13	15	17	19
Misses blouse size			12-14
Women's blouse size			30-32
Men's business shirt size (neck-band)	13	13½	14	14½	15
Misses blouse size	12-14	16	18	20	22
Women's blouse size	32	34	36	38	40
Men's sport shirt shirt size			Small		Medium
Misses blouse size			16-18		20-22
Women's blouse size			34-36		38-40

Now that you have the correct size of shirt, let's choose one idea for decorating it. Here are several that you might like to try:

1. Try outlining the yoke, edge of collar and the front with rick-rack braid. You may also monogram the pocket with narrow rick-rack. Instead of buttons, shirr together ten points of rick-rack and hook them over the five prongs of a dot button snap top. The tiny daisy rick-rack covers up the buttonhole you've sewn together.

2. Pin a cluster of flowers, just one big flower to the closed neckline of the shirt. Make cuff links of matching flowers for french cuffs. Violets on a pink shirt are sweeter than a double malt, and twice as potent!

3. Start a collection of necklet ribbons for your first shirt. Wear them crossed under the collar and fastened with a pretty pin in front. To keep the ribbons fresh and crisp, press occasionally between two pieces of waxed paper.

4. Cover buttons with your shirt fabric. The result? High fashion coordinate. Try your ideas for "converting" a shirt. You'll have lots of fun experimenting with eye catching results!

Modern Hog Rations

Shifting from old-fashioned to modern up-to-date hog rations often means an almost overnight speed-up in gains and drop in costs.

Proof of that statement comes from unusual demonstration conducted by L. E. Hanson, professor of animal husbandry at the University of Minnesota.

The first part of the demonstration was conducted last summer. At that time newly weaned litter mates, weighing about 51 pounds each, from six litters of pigs were placed on rations typical of the years 1910, 1930, and 1953.

The results were sensational. Eleven weeks later pigs on the 1953 ration had gained 150 pounds; those on 1930 rations, 80 pounds; and those on 1910 rations, 55 pounds.

What's more, the feed cost per 100 pounds per gain for 1953-fed pigs was slightly over $10.00 compared to $17.35 for 1910-fed pigs.

Later the hogs on the 1910 rations, all of which were lagging in gains, were shifted to 1953 rations. Before the shift, these pigs were gaining about one third pound per day, were eating 3 pounds of feed per day, and were averaging 870 pounds of feed per 100 pounds gain.

After the shift, they gained nearly 2 pounds per day, ate 6.6 pounds of feed, and were taking only 335 pounds of feed per 100 pounds gain.

The modern ration used contained ground corn plus a supplement of 41% soy bean oil meal, 20% tankage, 10% linseed meal, 25% alfalfa meal, 2% steamed bone meal and 2% trace mineralized salt plus B-12 and antibiotics. Other supplements would work satisfactorily also.

Growth Important In Chicks

Early maturing pullets result from wise early feeding chicks. And wise feeding means not only feeding a high quality ration, but plenty of feeding space for each chick. One four-foot trough per 100 chicks does the job for the first two weeks—after that, they need double the feeding space. And by that time pullets are 10 weeks old and eating grain and mash, they need two six-foot troughs for each 100 chicks. I hope this hint will help you to have a more even faster growing flock this year.

Lumberjacks Come from Behind to Take Prowlers in Regional; State Tourney Starts Tomorrow

Trailing by a 12 to 6 score at the end of the first period, and by a 21 to 19 score at the intermission, and a 29 to 23 score midway into the third period, the defending regional champion Bemidji Lumberjacks rallied in the twelve minutes of the game, exploding for a 23-point fourth quarter, to defeat the Prowlers, 57 to 45, in the finals of the regional basketball tournament played at Grand Forks. By their triumph, Bemidji will represent the eighth region in the state high school basketball tournament that opens in the Williams fieldhouse on the University of Minnesota campus in Minneapolis on Thursday.

Bemidji will play St. James in a first round game at 3:30 p. m. on Thursday. Other tournament first round games on Thursday will find Hibbing playing Renville at 2:00 p. m.; Willmar meeting the tournament favorites, Austin, at 7:45 p. m.; and Red Wing playing Brainerd at 9:00 p. m. The tournament semifinals are scheduled for Friday night, with the championship game being slated for Saturday night.

In first round regional tourney games played Thursday night, Bemidji eliminated the Fosston Greyhounds, 60 to 45; and the Prowlers defeated the Stephen Tigers, 50 to 48.

In the championship tilt on Friday night, the Prowlers moved into a 12 to 6 first period lead, with Bill Frahm hitting on a pair of jump shots and Art Johnson scoring a pair of layups. The Prowlers increased their lead to 19 to 11 with but two minutes of the second period remaining, but the Jacks, on field goals by Hoffman, Whiting and Parker, erased that lead to two points, 21 to 19 at the intermission.

Opening the third quarter, Johnson scored a point on Parker's foul and then pushed in a rebound field goal and another free throw, giving the Prowlers a 25 to 19 lead. A pair of Bemidji field goals, by Parker and Carter, and Jacks trailed by two points, 25 to 23. A field goal and a pair of free throws by Johnson gave the blue-and-gold a 29 to 23 lead with four minutes to play. Whiting and Parker scored Bemidji field goals, and Whiting added a free throw. Gary Humes notched a Prowler point on Elmon Johnson's foul, but with 2:10 to play Hoffman took a pass from Whiting and drove in for a lay-up to tie the score; and when Parker scored on another close shot, the Jacks moved into a lead that they held the remainder of the game.

With Bemidji leading by a 34 to 33 score entering the fourth period, the Jacks' Darrel Erickson notched seven points to give coach Bun Fortier's club a 41 to 35 lead. With 5:08 to play, the Prowlers' Art Johnson, fouling Jack Whiting, was forced out the game on personals, and Bemidji, taking advantage of the locals' lack of rebound strength, controlled the ball and went on to win by twelve points. Fourteen of Bemidji's last sixteen points were scored from the free throw line as the Prowlers were forced to commit fouls in their efforts to secure possession of the ball.

In the preliminary game, coach John Jamieson's Stephen Tigers registered a minor upset by trouncing the Fosston Greyhounds, 52 to 26.

In the first round games on Thursday night, Bemidji, leading at the period stops, 14 to 8, 30 to 23, and 42 to 32, defeated the district 30 champion, Fosston, 60 to 45.

The Prowlers, playing Stephen, the district 32 champion, rolled up a 19-point third period while holding the Tigers to but five points, to break open their semifinals game and win by a 50 to 48 score. The locals, with Art Johnson, Bill Frahm, and Gary Humes covering the rebounds, had too much height for the Stephen club.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

Too Many Horses

It's unanimous that coach Bun Fortier's Bemidji Lumberjacks were the best basketball team in the eighth region, and that they will be capable representatives in the state tournament that opens in Minneapolis tomorrow.

The Lumberjacks defeated coach Ralph Skjod's Prowlers, 57 to 45, in the regional finals at Grand Forks on Friday night, and it was a case of Bemidji winning the game, for the Prowlers didn't "lose" it.

It's been evident all year that the Prowlers didn't have any consistent "outside" shooting, and that lack was an important factor in Friday night's game. Knowing that the percentages were against the Prowlers on their shooting from out on the court, coach Fortier could afford to "sag" two or three players around big Art Johnson. It was apparent, too, that Bemidji's strategy was to force Johnson out of the Prowler lineup on fouls, and with Art being surrounded by Lumberjacks whenever he made an offensive or defensive move, it was a certainty that Art would cause some bodily contact. With a bit more than five minutes of the game to go, Johnson committed his fifth foul and left the game. We can imagine that the Jacks breathed easier from then on.

Incidentally, in a check of the records for the past three years, we find that Art Johnson has fouled out of a game only three times, and that's including Friday's contest. In 1951, playing against Grand Forks, Art fouled five times; and last year, in a hectic game at Red Lake Falls, Art was guilty of five fouls.

Yes, the Prowlers, and their coach, can take pride in the fact that they extended the Lumberjacks plenty on Friday night, and caused nervous moments on the Bemidji bench. It must have been a strange experience for the Jacks to reach the half-way mark of the third period and find that they were trailing the Prowlers by six points, 29 to 23.

Senior Hockey

The Winnipeg Maroons entered the third game of their best-of-seven Manitoba-Thunder Bay senior hockey series at Winnipeg last night leading two games to zero. Playing at Fort Williams on Friday night and Sunday afternoon, the Maroons scored victories of 2 to 1 and 1 to 0.

The Maroons lineup contains the following players: goal, Don Collins, with Bun Nicholson as spare goalie; defense, Bill Juzda, Gordy Simpson, Ward Brandow, and Tom Rockey; wings, Bill Robinson, Jim Young, Ken McKenzie, Ken Little, Lou Joyal, Laurie Mitchell, and Angus Juckes; and centers, Odie Lowe, Pete Langelle, and Bruce Bell. All of those players, excepting Rockey, Bell, and Juckes, have played with Northwest Hockey league teams. Juzda, Robinson, Mitchell, Langelle, and Brandow appeared in the Thieves lineup this season; Collins, Little, and Young were with Roseau; and McKenzie, Nicholson, and Lowe were with the Grand Forks Redwings. It appears that the best senior hockey players in Winnipeg were playing in the Northwest Hockey league this season.

All-Tournament Teams

The district and regional basketball tournament committees, and they conducted the two tournaments at Grand Forks in an efficient manner, did not announce an all-district and all-regional selection. It's perhaps a wise move not to have an "official" all-star team selected, for there have been occasions when these selections, by a tournament committee, have caused injustices to the players that were omitted.

But while the tournament committee does not name an all-star team, we can express our opinion on the players that we considered outstanding in the district and regional tourneys, and we have had the assistance of a number of the side-line "experts." On the all-district team, it was the consensus that the Prowlers' Art Johnson would be at center; Warren's John Carlson at one forward, with East Grand Forks' Howie Stallmo at the other forward; the guards would be manned by Plummer's agile Neil Craft and the Prowlers' Bill Frahm.

Entitled to consideration for the all-regional squad would be Art Johnson at center, Bemidji's Elmon Johnson and Stephen's Cliff Laudal at forwards; and Bemidji's Bob Parker and Darrel Erickson at the guards. Bemidji's Jack Whiting and Fosston's Glen Olson were mentioned often, too, but Whiting was held to one free throw in the Jack's game against the *Greyhounds; and Olson was out*played by quite a margin by Stephen's Laudal in the consolation game.

Cy Torgerson and Orv Gillespie Win Bowling Tourney

Cy Torgerson and Orv Gillespie, with a total of 1421, took first place in the mixed doubles bowling tourney. In winning first place Cy Torgerson had scores of 122, 116, 177, 152 and a 128 pin handicap, while Orv Gillespie had scores of 132, 142, 203, 177 and his handicap of 72 pins.

Alverda Noel had scores of 152, 167, 116, 171 and handicap of 80 pins while her partner Norm Wennberg had scores of 149, 150, 155, 155 and his handicap of 100 pins placed them in second place with a total of 1404.

Jane Buen with her handicap of 72 pins and Dewey Noel with a handicap of 52 pins came thru with a total of 1400, placing them third. Other leaders were: Marj Tegtmeier and Ted Lendobeja, 1385; Dode Wilson and Larry Gilbertson, 1378; Jean Liden and Sid Vraa, 1378; Orpha Ryan and G. Skomedal, 1372, Bea Lang and Willie Mathieu, 1322; Shorty Perkins and Ardy Mattson, 1311; Helen Griebstein and Ardel Robinson, 1303; Mary Ann Myhrer and Oscar Bakke, 1297.

Marj Tegtmeirer had high single game for the ladies which was 198, while Doug Tegtmeier had high game of 215 which was high single game for the men.

Johnson Racked Up Several Records in 3 Years of Play

When Art Johnson fouled Jack Whiting with 5:08 of the fourth period of the regional finals game played at Grand Forks between the Prowlers and the Bemidji Lumberjacks, the six-foot, five-inch, 17-year old local center committed his fifth foul and was waved out of the game, closing out his high school basketball career. In the years that Johnson has been wearing the blue-and-gold, he has established a number of individual scoring records.

This year, in twenty-three games, Art tallied 174 field goals and 134 free throws, for an aggregate of 482 points, breaking Roger Williamson's previous record of 426 points. As a junior, Johnson scored 409 points, and his sophomore year, the rangy Prowler racked up 109 points, giving him a three-year total of 1012 points, the first time that a Prowler cager has broken the one thousand mark in point scoring. Playing here on Feb 12th, against the Crookston Pirates, Johnson scored fourteen field goals and five free throws, for a 33-point total and a new single game scoring record.

Licenses Suspended for 3,751 Drivers in Two Month Period

Drivers licenses of 1,736 Minnesota motorists were suspended during February, while another 740 motorists had their permits revoked, according to a report issued by the State Highway Department. These actions brought the two-month totals for the year to 3,751 suspensions and 1,736 revocations.

More than 8,000 inside tests were given applicants for driving licenses during the past month, and over 7,000 road tests were conducted, with approximately half of the people being given tests being asked to repeat their examinations because of failure to pass requirements.

Conviction of speeding charges was the greatest single moving violation which brought suspension to 290 licenses holders during the month, while 688 motorists convicted of drunken driving charges forfeited their driving privileges via the revocation route.

Rural Youth Conference to be Held at Ada

Young people from twelve northern Minnesota counties will attend the tenth annual Rural Youth spring conference for northwestern Minnesota at Ada, Friday and Saturday, Marlen Parbst of the Norman County Extension office announces. The conference will open Friday evening with a buffet supper and a get acquainted party will be held Friday evening at the Ada high school gymn.

Theme of the conference, "Design Yourself to Fit" will be carried out in discussions on Saturday morning at the Ada Club Rooms beginning at nine o'clock. The annual business meeting will be held Saturday afternoon.

The conference will close with a banquet at the First Lutheran Church and recreational session at the high school Saturday evening. District officers who have assisted with arrangements for the meeting are Donald Shirack, Red Lake Falls, president; Bert Vigen, Thief River Falls, vice-president and Marlen Knoll, Warren, secretary.

Benson Publisher To Head State Press Safety group

Harry Davey, publisher of the Benson Monitor and News, has been named to head the Minnesota Editorial association's Safety committee for the ensuing year, according to Don Brown, Waseca, association president. He succeeds "Ted" Norelius, publisher of the Chisago County Press, Lindstrom, who has headed this group for the past three years.

At a recent Minnesota Saftey Council committee meeting, Mr. Norelius thanked The Times and other newspapers of the state for their cooperation in the cause of traffic safety. He said that President Eisenhower's recent traffic safety conference, which he attended, emphasized that one hope for reducing the traffic death toll is the all-out cooperation and publicity which only the local newspapers can provide.

Large Signs will Remind State Park Visitors of $1 Fee

Visitors to Minnesota state parks this summer will be reminded of the state law requiring a one dollar sticker on automobiles entering the parks. Sixty large 4 ft. green and red display signs have been completed and will be erected at all park entrances in time for the opening about May 30. Park visitors may purchase the sticker before or after entering the park.

"Occupants and drivers of cars entering the parks need have no qualms about entering without a sticker" Mr. U. W. Hella, director of state parks said. "They will not be embarrassed or hounded but will be given every opportunity to purchase a sticker from park attendants."

Those who wish to purchase the sticker before entering the parks may do so at all county auditors or they may order direct by writing to the Division of States Parks, Room 6, State Office Building, St. Paul.

Lynx Shot Northeast of Goodridge

Pictured above is a lynx shot last week by Fred Fiskevold in the neighborhood of his farm northeast of Goodridge. In the picture is Fred's brother, Ed, who stated that the cat-like animal had been killed after being wounded and then held at bay by two dogs. Game warden Carl Sundstrom thinks the animal wandered in here from Canada. They are unusual as members of the cat family, he said, in that they are webb footed and live mainly on fish.

Will Spend 50 Millions For Construction

N. W. Bell Announces 1954 Program Will Equal That of 1953

S. B. Cousins, president of Northwestern Bell Telephone Company, has announced in his annual report that his company is launching a 1954 construction program in the five-state territory that it serves costing upwards of 50 million dollars. This will equal the company's 1953 expansion, he says, to meet growing telephone needs.

Last year's program amounting to nearly a million dollars a week — made possible the addition of 57,000 telephones, including 9,000 in rural areas, more long distance circuits, better grades of service to thousands of subscribers, and extension of other services such as outdoor public telephones.

By year's end, Mr. Cousins pointed out, the Company was serving a total of 1,750,000 telephones in Iowa, Minnesota, Nebraska, North Dakota, and South Dakota, and 22,000 of these were rural. Actually, 82 per cent of all farm homes in Northwestern Bell territory now have telephone service, which is about the same as the figure for towns and cities.

Other highlights in the Report include:

The Company handled 3.2 billion calls during the year — a new record, and an average of over 1,800 per telephone.

Dial systems were installed in 24 communities, and dial conversion programs were started in 34 others.

During the year the company was operating in 663 local exchanges and some 23,000 men and women were required to provide telephone services. The company's lines connect with 1,936 exchanges operated by 1,132 other telephone companies in the five states it serves.

Game Violators Pay $2,852 Fines During February

February arrests for game and fish violations this year totalled 117, with $2,852.50 in fines plus $67.40 costs. In February, 1953, 133 arrests resulted in fines totalling $1,990.00 plus $78.55 in costs. February arrests this year included 91 for fishing violations; 9 big game; 5 small game; 2 transporting loaded firearms; 3 migratory waterfowl; 2 transporting uncased set up firearms; and 2 trapping.

Analyze Population Migration of 1940's

Some "hidden" clues as to why it's hard to "keep 'em down on the farm" are revealed in a new University of Minnesota report, "Migration in Minnesota—1940 to 1950." The 16-page publication is written by Lowry Nelson head of the University's rural sociology division, Charles E. Ramsey, assistant professor of sociology, and Allan D. Orman, a graduate student.

Their study ... the 10-year period's migration from rural areas shows that counties which had the smallest proportion of farmers on hard-top roads and the greatest average distance of farms from trade centers lost the most in migration.

An overall general tendency was for people to leave sparsely populated areas for densely populated sections—cities and urban developments. Mechanization also was a factor, the study indicates. Migration was high in many counties which had large increases in tractors during the 1940's.

Counties which lost the least people or gained have an average or better standard of living, low fertility ratio, older farm owners, farms close to trade centers, a high proportion of farms on hard roads and a large number of workers in manufacturing.

Despite migration, Minnesota farmers greatly increased their agricultural output in the decade 1940 to 1950, Nelson says. They were aided by mechanization, good weather, high incentives and other factors.

A copy of the publication is available free at county agent's offices.

Paper Mill 1953 Production Sets A New High Record

New production and sales records were established last year by the Minnesota and Ontario Paper Company. Reporting in the firm's annual report today, J. B. Faegre, Mando president, said sales income reached $67.3 million last year, some $4 million more than in 1952.

Mando's Insulite division, working on a seven day around the clock basis, produced more than 455.6 million square feet of structural insulation board or enough to sheath a house every other minute. Mando's eight paper machines, running six days per week, produced 284,000 tons of paper for the newspaper, magazine, commercial printing, packaging and converting industries.

And the firm's National Pole and Treating division processed or treated more than 18 million lineal feet of forest products at the division's plants at Minneapolis, Minn., and Spokane, Wash.

New Varieties of Pie Cherries are Now Available

Now Minnesotans can add pie cherries to the list of fruits adapted to growing in their gardens. Two new hardy varieties of pie cherries recently developed by the University of Minnesota Fruit Breeding Farm make cherry growing practical in Minnesota for the first time, according to Leon C. Snyder, head of the department of horticulture at the University of Minnesota.

Northstar and Meteor, the two new cherry varieties, are both available from nurseries thruout the state. They are the first high-quality sour pie cherries hardy enough to be grown successfully in Minnesota, Dr. Snyder said.

Even gardeners with limited space can use Northstar, which is a dwarf tree and will fit well into the shrub border. Both trees are highly ornamental as well as productive. They should start bearing by the third year and should bear annual crops thereafter.

City telephones are generally busiest between 9 and 11 a. m., when business is in full swing. There is another business peak between 4 and 5 p. m. Residence telephones are usually busiest about 7 p. m.

APRIL FIRST APPROACHES

There is terrific pressure on the administration to modify secretary of agriculture Benson's order for a 15% cut in the government's price supports for dairy products. There is no indication however that the pressure is producing results. Neither Benson nor the President have indicated that they might recede from their position and with the first of April only a few days away it is interesting to speculate on what is going to happen.

We may assume that the administration is aware of the consequences in the dairy states, politically, if the industry suffers a serious financial set-back. It is likely that full consideration has been given to the results in terms of votes and an already feeble party control of congress. It is reasonable to assume too that the administration has not decided to commit suicide.

The dairy industry is sick, and on that point there can be no question. Sugar-coated pills will not solve its problems. Leaders of the industry agree that the patient will have to change his living habits drastically if a major operation is to be averted.

We can recall what happened to another sick industry 21 years ago, when another president called a certain holiday and, for a day, put the industry out of business. That was a major operation. The patient survived and is healthier today than ever. While the bank holiday was not pleasant at the time, and resulted in some injustices and perhaps a few unavoidable hardships, nevertheless the net result was good.

Those who have the responsibility of prescribing the treatment for the dairy industry are no doubt certain that their medicine is the right medicine. Certainly it is not their intent to injure the industry and we will be better able to pass judgement on their qualifications as restorers of health after we see how fast the patient recovers following the treatment.

Anyhow its fun to speculate and the first of April is not far away.

THURSDAY'S SKY WAS A DUST BOWL

That was quite a dust cloud that shaded a large area of the country Thursday, and it was a most unpleasant reminder of the dust bowl days of the 'thirties. It was an ominous warning of the possibility that the drouth that has brought ruin to a large area in the Southwest in recent years may be spreading out.

While it probably is true that a more widespread crop damage might relieve us of some of our surplus burdens, that would not provide a satisfactory solution to this problem. Prosperity to some areas as a result of poverty in others would, in the final analysis, be a net loss.

But whether we would have it so or not, periods of drouth no doubt will come in the future as they have in the past. The surpluses that we are not managing well are causing a lot of trouble. As a reserve, however, these surpluses are not great. We may find ourselves needing all that we have.

HOCKEY PAYS ITS WAY

Hockey has established itself as one of the big revenue producers in college athletics. During the past season the University of Minnesota team attracted 103,163 customers who paid $58,774 to see 19 games. This total did not include students. Ten years ago the Minnesota team played ten games for a total gate of less than $5,000.

Minnesota's hockey program cost $30,000 this year, which means that the income was nearly double the cost. That puts the game up in the class of football and basketball, and another athletic activity that better than pays its own way.

HOUSECLEANING NEEDED

Business Week carried an interesting analysis last week of what it happening in the transportation field, with increasing competition between railroads, inland waterways, pipelines, trucks, buses and planes. It pointed up the need for what was recommended five years ago, following a Brookings Institute study, when it was urged that we establish,

> "—a U. S. Department of transportation and a transport regulatory commission that would embody all the aid and regulations now scattered among many agencies."

Public transportation in all its various forms is subsidized in many ways, and the following conclusion of Business Week sounds reasonable,

> "With carriers scrambling for business now and shippers wincing at freight bills, the country can no longer afford the inequities and the inefficiencies that have grown into the transportation industry over the years. Congress and the administration should straighten out the tangle of agencies concerned with transportation. And Every businessman who is concerned with shipping his goods at the lowest real cost should support this housecleaning chore."

IS IT GOOD OR BAD?

Pennington county population increased during the past year according to official estimates, but the total is down from the official 1950 figure. The actual in 1950 was 12,065 and the estimates for the following years are, 1951, 12,945; 1952, 12,744, and 1953, 2,898. Fewer farmers and larger farms is the reason for the decline in rural areas. By some this is looked upon as an evil trend. To the extent that it results in more efficient units of operation, using to the fullest possible extent available labor saving devices, our guess is that the good in this trend far outweighs the evil.

Looking Backward

1924—THIRTY YEARS AGO

Dan Shaw, M. C. Burns, J. S. Arneson and A. E. Mattson motored to Grygla to help H. E. Mussey, pioneer newspaper editor, celebrate his 75th birthday. —C. T. Jaffray, president of the Soo Line, addressed a meeting in the Auditorium.—Mrs. Louise Robbecke, pioneer resident of this community and mother of Mrs. G. W. Booren, died March 17 in Yakima, Washington.—The Pyramid Oil Co. erected a gasoline station at the corner of Main av. and First st.

1934—TWENTY YEARS AGO

Otto Rehm was elected Pennington county Farmer Labor chairman at the biennial convention in this city.—County Agent R. M. Douglas moved his office into the basement of the Auditorium.—H. O. Chommie filed for the office of the 14th district judge.—C. M. Wilson, pioneer contractor here, died March 19 at the age of 79.—The seventh annual T. R. Falls automobile show and spring exposition was held in the Auditorium.—Mr. and Mrs. Eric Olson of this city celebrated their golden wedding March 21. —Miss Elizabeth DeCremer left for a visit with her sister at Fordyce, Arkansas.

1944—TEN YEARS AGO

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Olson, pioneer residents of the town of North, celebrated their golden wedding March 15.—F. A. Rinkel was named Pennington county Republican chairman.—Lt. Gaylord Strong, pilot based in England, was killed in action March 12. He was formerly a local barber.—Dr. C. W. Jacobson, physician here the past three years, took over a practice in Breckenridge.—Stanely Mortenson received his law degree at the University of Minnesota. —Miss Lydia Dahlen, serving with an army hospital unit in the New Hebrides, was promoted to the rank of first lieutenant.—Three Civil Air Patrol planes based at Minneapolis were the first to land at the new municipal airport here.

Thrift in individuals will encourage thrift in community and governmental concerns. Thrift education will help train growing students in the good American tradition of self-reliance, and of the desire and ability to stand on one's own feet in security and independence.

Two Thief River Falls soldiers and one from Euclid are pictured here with the mule that seems to be an important part of their organization in the training program, Exercise Ski-jump, at Camp Hale, Colorado. They are with the 35th Quartermaster Company, which uses mules to haul supplies needed for the Army's 1954 cold weather and mountain training exercise.

You save time on deliveries. With new truck Hydra-Matic transmission, you save time at every delivery stop. And you can forget about clutching and shifting for good! It's optional at extra cost on ½-, ¾- and 1-ton Chevrolet trucks.

You save on operating costs. New power saves you money every mile! The "Thriftmaster 235" engine, the "Loadmaster 235" and the "Jobmaster 261" (optional on 2-ton models at extra cost) deliver increased operating economy.

You save with lower upkeep, too. Extra chassis strength saves you money on maintenance. There are heavier axle shafts in two-ton models . . . bigger clutches in light- and heavy-duty models . . . stronger frames in all models.

And your savings start the day you buy. In fact, they start with the low price you pay and continue over the miles. Chevrolet is America's lowest-priced line of trucks. It's also the truck that has a traditionally higher trade-in value.

Come in and see all the wonderful new things you get in America's number one truck. We'll be glad to give you all the money-saving facts.

Land O' Lakes Set New Records in '53

A record-setting year for Land O'Lakes Creameries, Inc., and a record crowd combined to make the thirty-third annual meeting of Land O'Lakes a highly successful event. The delegates heard that Land O'Lakes completed a record year with total business of $141,056,896.54 in 1953. This represents an increase of $28,608,131.84 over 1952 in spite of lower prices. Butter sales were up 13 per cent over the previous year's sales. Fluid milk sales went up 33 per cent and ice cream sales increased 13.9 per cent. Sales of non-fat dry milk solids to consumers also showed an increase during the year.

A resolution was adopted that recommended immediate congressional action on amendments to the Agricultural Marketing Act of 1949 which would limit the reduction in price supports during one year to five per cent. The organization also reaffirmed its position in supporting the self-help program first advocated by its late president, John Brandt. A resolution stated that such a plan "would provide protection for dairying from the factors that may arise from other programs and provide adequate dairy supplies for a growing population."

The meeting also endorsed the American Dairy Association's expanded program.

Leader Training Group Completes Lesson Series

Leader training meetings were completed last week on the Foundation Garments lesson, the last to be held this year in the Pennington County Home Program, reports Home Agent Marge Olsen.

Meetings were held in Thief River Falls on March 12, 15, and 17, and at Goodridge on March 16th. Miss Athlene Scheid, Extension Specialist in clothing, conducted the first training meeting. Over forty leaders were trained at the sessions.

Leaders got acquainted with foundation garments, by learning why everyone should wear them, how to shop and care for them, and how to put them on correctly. Shops in Thief River Falls selling foundation garments were most generous in loaning samples for the training meetings, Miss Olsen added.

Rabies Danger is Greatest in Spring

Contrary to popular tradition, the "dog days" of late summer are not the time of greatest danger from rabies. Actually, rabies infection is heaviest in early spring according to a bulletin issued by the Minnesota State Medical association.

For that reason, and also because an epidemic of rabies is reported now in Illinois, the bulletin lists the following important facts in case the epidemic should spread to animals in Minnesota.

First: The disease is transmitted to human beings by a virus in the saliva of infected animals.

Second: The virus is introduced into the broken skin through the bite of an infected animal.

Symptoms may appear within 10 days. In the case of an arm or leg the time lapse may be from 30 to 60 days. A doctor should be consulted immediately after any dog bite so that preventive injections can be started without delay. The dog should not be killed, but kept under observation.

Effective antirabic protection can also be given to pets to prevent infection.

Hospital Food Service Topic at Fergus Meet

Hospitals in the northwestern region of Minnesota are being invited to send representatives to the first regional workshop to be held in the state for hospital food service managers. The two-day workshop is planned for March 26, and 27, at Fergus Falls State Hospital.

The course will include lectures, discussions, and demonstrations of modified diets, principles of menu planning for hospital patients, food service, and economical food buying. Hygiene, sanitation, and safe working practices will also be stressed. The course is planned especially for hospital cooks who must plan and prepare meals in hospitals that do not employ a professional dietitian.

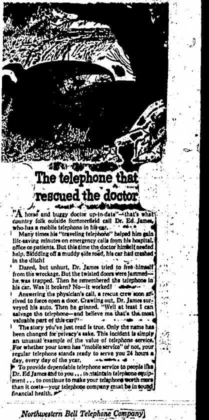
There are 38.6 telephones per 100 population in Minnesota, and 83.7 per cent of the households in the state have telephone service.

Approximately 2,000,000 farms in the United States have telephone service.



The telephone that rescued the doctor

"A horse and buggy doctor up-to-date"—that's what country folk outside Summerfield call Dr. Ed. James, who has a mobile telephone in his car.

Many times his "traveling telephone" helped him gain life-saving minutes on emergency calls from his hospital, office or patients. But this time the doctor himself needed help. Skidding off a muddy side road, his car had crashed in the ditch!

Dazed, but unhurt, Dr. James tried to free himself from the wreckage. But the twisted doors were jammed—he was trapped. Then he remembered the telephone in his car. Was it broken? No—it worked!

Answering the physician's call, a rescue crew soon arrived to force open a door. Crawling out, Dr. James surveyed his auto. Then he grinned. "Well at least I can salvage the telephone—and believe me that's the most valuable part of this car!"

The story you've just read is true. Only the name has been changed for privacy's sake. This incident is simply an unusual example of the value of telephone service. For whether your town has "mobile service" or not, your regular telephone stands ready to serve you 24 hours a day, every day of the year.

To provide dependable telephone service to people like Dr. Ed James and to you . . . to maintain telephone equipment . . . to continue to make your telephone worth more than it costs—your telephone company must be in sound financial health.

Today's new Studebaker—styled by Raymond Loewy — is Studebaker's answer to America's growing demand for lower cost motoring.

The speedlined new Studebaker silhouette is designed to save gasoline sensationally because it's free from power-wasting excess bulk.

Studebaker's independence is the reason we've been able to introduce the far-advanced new 1954 Studebaker so fast.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

You Might Call it a "Gravy Train"

Was reading the other day about a Maharaja in India who has a miniature electric train all made of silver. Now, maybe that's not unusual for a prince, but this fellow had it running around on an enormous dining table in the royal palace.

The twelve cars on the train are loaded with different kinds of fruits, nuts, and beverages. And the train stops automatically in front of each plate so the person sitting there can choose what he wants.

From where I sit, the Maharaja is really going to extremes to impress his guests. Around this part of the world, hospitality certainly doesn't need all those fancy trimmings.

You don't have to spend a lot of money or go to a lot of work when folks drop in. Just offer them what you have—coffee, tea, a temperate glass of beer—and let them make their own choice. They'll feel they're getting a royal welcome!

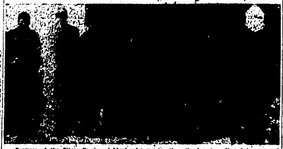
Silver Creek Farmers Harvest Big Fox Crop



Farmers of the Silver Creek neighborhood northeast of Thief River Falls harvested a good crop of fox during the winter, bagging a total of fifty animals. Bounty money collected was donated to the Silver Creek Church Brotherhood fund.

This group of fox hunters did their hunting the hard way. Only rifles were used and the good result required lots of leg work and lots of ammunition. On several occasions their combined fire sounded like a battery of machine guns going into action. No one in the group claims high honor in the number of animals killed but by general agreement the shootingest shooter in the group was Bernard Meyers. By general agreement too ,the cost of ammunition was far greater than the bounty collected but a good time was had by all.

Make Every Bit of Moisture Count
with a JOHN DEERE-VAN BRUNT "LL" Press Grain Drill

Soil moisture is much too valuable to sacrifice to evaporation, run-off, and misuse—especially when the correct planting method will permit you to put it to work nourishing paying, profit-building crops. And that's just where the John Deere-Van Brunt Model "LL" Press Grain Drill comes in.

With the Model "LL," you make every bit of moisture count—place uniform quantities of seed at an even depth in the ground and pack the soil over the seed—protect seed from wind and water erosion, and improve capillary action which speeds germination and combats drouth.

Let us show you how to guard against moisture waste with a Model "LL."

Art Olsons and Son Wayne Home from Norway Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Art Olson and son Wayne of this city returned Tuesday, March 9, from a three-month vacation trip to Norway. The Olsons left this city December 8 by train for New York, where they boarded a plane for Oslo, Norway. While in Norway they visited with Mrs. Olson's mother, Mrs. Nella [illegible] of Alfheim Sandefjord, Norway and with her five brothers and five sisters who still make Norway their home. They also visited with Mr. Olson's aunts and uncles.

Mrs. Olson who has made the United States her home for the past six years found several changes in her old home. She states that there are more modern improvements including more farm machinery and more cars of the German make and small English models. Food is priced much the same as here and is more plentiful now than before.

The Olsons commented on the nice winter Norway is having. When they arrived there, much of the landscape was still green but that quite a lot of snow had fallen during the last two weeks they were there. They left Norway Saturday, March 6 by plane to New York and from there they traveled by train to this city.

At a special meeting of the School Board of Independent Consolidated School District No. 1, which was held last Monday evening, the Board approved a new set of plans which have been submitted by the school's architects.

The new plans call for the removal of the two old buildings on the present site and the building of an 8-room elementary grade building on the present school grounds which would join up with the present gymnasium and high school building. Besides the 8 class rooms, there would be hot lunch and toilet facilities. The present gymnasium would remain as such and would serve as a play room for the grade school. QUESTIONS answered for VETERANS

Veterans with personal problems or questions should contact Leo L. Haley, Contact Representative, Room 210-212 Post Office Building or Box 875, Grand Forks, North Dakota.

Q: I started training as an accountant under the Korean GI Bill, but I'm afraid I'm in the wrong field. I know I'll have to make my one-and-only change of course, but I want to be reasonably sure it'll be the right change. Could I get VA vocational counseling to help me?

A: Yes. You may apply for counseling on the same application form you use for requesting a change of course.

Q: I want to go to college under the Korean GI Bill to take courses in a variety of fields. They wouldn't lead to a degree or any sort of objective; they're just courses I've always wanted to study. Would I be permitted to do this under the GI program?

A: No. Under the law, your training program must lead to a single, identifiable educational, professional or vocational objective. You would not be permitted to take courses that do not lead to such an objective.

Q: My wife and I are World War II veterans. May we buy a business together, with a GI business loan, and thereby increase the amount which may be guaranteed? It would not be a real estate loan.

A: Yes. However, the guaranty may not exceed 50 percent of the loan, up to $4,000, which is the maximum for your combined business loan guarantees.

Q: May a seller charge me more for a house than it has been appraised for by the VA, if I buy it with a GI loan?

A: No. Under the law, the purchase price may not exceed the reasonable value determined by VA appraisal. It is illegal to pay more.

IN THE LAND OF MAKE-BELIEVE

Suppose we were all wealthy . . . and all healthy. And suppose we had to work only one day a week, and could devote the others to recreation and rest. And suppose we had no worries, no problems, no responsibilities.

Would we all be happy . . . really happy?

Of course not! For a week or two we might revel in our good fortune, and enjoy our freedom from care. And then suddenly life would become colorless and empty. For where would we find incentive? How would we recapture ambition? What would we substitute for perseverence and fortitude and hope: the qualities that crown existence with achievements?

And what would happen to FAITH—the true foundation of happiness?

In this work-a-day world, with all its turmoil and care, the man who depends on God lives with a smile in his heart. And week after week his shoes wear smooth the threshold of his Church as he rejoices in the love of His Saviour. He doesn't dream of happiness in a land of make-believe! He has found happiness.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

50 YEARS AGO

School Bonds Voted

The years 1902, 1903 and 1904 in Thief River Falls were interesting for many reasons besides the opening of a large area east of the city for settlement and the city's development as a railroad center.

For instance the first issue of the Thief River Falls News of 1902 reported an important development in our school system, the authorization for a bond issue to build the Washington School. Said the News:

"Men and women in the number of 298 gathered in the city hall Saturday night and voted to bond Independent School District No. 18 to the amount of $18,000 for the purpose of building an eight room brick school house on block 65 of the original townsite of Thief River Falls. The vote was 200 for bonds and 90 against, 8 of the ballots being thrown out for defects.

"The election was quite a spirited one. The crowd in the room was so large that people were pushing up against the stove, knocking it over. This had the result of filling the room with smoke, but nothing serious happened."

* * * * *

Editor John Eastman was happy with the result of the school election:

"The people of Thief River Falls are to be congratulated," he said, "upon the fact that next summer an eight room brick school house, to cost $18,000, is to be built. At present we have but two 4 room buildings, while store buildings are rented, to accomodate the overflow. These buildings have been entirely inadequate for the purpose for which they were used, and it is a great source of pleasure to note that they will be abandoned."

Court House Mentioned

At that early day there were rumblings of a court house being in prospect. In its January 9 issue the News carried a letter-to-the-editor commenting on what appeared to be an argument involving Thief River Falls and St. Hilaire. It involved a certain Mrs. "C". It seems that in its Thanksgiving issue the St. Hilaire Spectator was thankful, among other things, for the fact that Mrs. "C" was leaving St. Hilaire and moving to Thief River Falls. The contributor who signed his letter as "One Who Knows," made these observations.

"Mrs. "C" is a noble woman and if everyone in St. Hilaire was as honest, the place would be 100% better. She believed in cleanliness both inside and outside of the house, and if the people of St. Hilaire practiced the same they might get the court house, which is now doubtful. Some fine day the court house will come sliding through St. Hilaire to Thief River Falls, and the big bugs at St. Hilaire will be standing with their hands in their jeans astonished when they realize what has happened."

* * * * *

At that time there was quite an argument about a proposed dam at the outlet of the Red Lakes. Thief River Falls was for it. The Board of Trade of Red Lake Falls opposed it. This prompted Mr. Eastman to observe,

"The Board of Trade of Red Lake Falls is composed of some very ignorant men on the subject of water power."

Community rivalry was a no-holds-barred argument in those lumberjack days.

Creamery to be Built

There was creamery talk in those days. The News made frequent mention of the need for a butter manufacturing plant and urged farmers to increase and improve their dairy herds. In its February 20, 1902 issue the News stated definitely that a creamery would be built that summer. As with other prospective developments this creamery was to be the "Biggest Ever," would manufacture from 3,000 to 5,000 pounds of butter a day and would be "the largest institution of its kind in the state," with six to ten receiving stations feeding it from neighboring communities. It was to be built by a local company of which the Prichard Stone Company was the principle stockholder.

The March 6 issue confirmed the creamery report stating that the building would be put up "in a hurry" on lots at the foot of Second Street.

* * * * *

Plans for the new school were accepted by the middle of March. The building would be 78x63 feet, two stories high and basement.

* * * * *

The News observed April 17 that "never before in the history of the city was there more building being constructed than at present and every man in the city capable of driving a nail is employed at good wages.

School Contract Let

At a meeting of the school board Friday, May 23, 1902, a contract was let for the building of the new school. The News reported.

"The contract for the building of the Thief River Falls new high school building was let Friday to N. C. Bachelor of LaCrosse, Wis., for $13,000 and must be completed before September 1. Miss Francis, a bright young lady who is acting as agent for Mr. Bachelor, will have charge of the building and she has sub-let the contract for digging the basement to A. C. Hanson, who already has the work nearly completed."

8 Persons Los[illegible] ives in Tragic Croo[illegible] on Fire Friday Mo[illegible]ng

One Victim Was Brother of John Gullingsrud of Thief River Falls

Eight persons lost their lives early Friday morning in a tragic fast-spreading blaze that razed the Northwood Inn in Crookston, formerly the Commercial Hotel. In a little more than one hour, the 73-year-old three-story brick and stucco veneer structure was razed.

Bodies recovered from the ruins Friday were identified as those of Colonel Horn, 34, Grand Forks; John Quam, 63, and Paul Gregory, 75, both of Crookston; Angelo Pacifico, 36, Minneapolis; Mrs. Lars Tokle, Kasota, Minn. Victims who died in Crookston hospitals Friday morning were Alfred F. Sowl, 44, Duluth; and Mrs. Lester B. Schmidt, 38, Blackduck, who had been married only the previous Saturday.

The body of the eighth victim, Teman Gullingsrud, 59, of Gary, Minn., was recovered Saturday. He was a brother of John Gullingsrud of Thief River Falls and had been staying at the hotel while consulting a Crookston doctor.

Several persons were treated at St. Francis and Bethesda hospitals in Crookston and released.

Clarence Kauppi, 28, Duluth; Norton Googins, [illegible], Minn.; and Milton Jensen, [illegible], Baudette, were all treated for minor injuries suffered when they jumped from second-floor windows to safety

Three Crookston firemen suffered injuries while fighting the blaze. H. G. Welter received second degree burns on his hands, face and knees. Alfred Hinkley injured his foot and Francis Standacher ran a piece of iron in his hand.

Philip Hamre, co-owner of the hotel with his wife, said he had worked at the steamtable in the cafe until 1 a. m. He said there was no sign of trouble when he left. Just after he arrived home, Hamre said, the night clerk called to tell him he smelled smoke. Hamre dressed and came downtown immediately.

"By the time I got out in the street, I could see a glow in the sky from the direction of the hotel," he said. "It was an awful sight."

Catching most of the guests in their beds, the fire, starting in the one-story kitchen at the rear of the hotel, swept through the first floor, minutes after the alarm was turned in at 1:55 a. m.

A mysterious explosion broke windows and rattled open doors, fanned flames and smoke thruout the structure. Lights went out with the blast.

Screaming, sleep-dazed guests leaped and dropped to safety from second and third story windows. A few groped their way down the stairs, and out on fire escapes.

Death Confirmed

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sunadahl of Goodridge have been notified by the War Department of the death December 5, 1950, of their son, Pfc. Roy Lloyd Sunadahl, who had been a prisoner of war in North Korea since being reported missing July 6, 1950. He was only 19 years old.

Pfc. Sunadahl enlisted in the army in September, 1949, and took his basic training at Fort Riley, Kansas, later going to Fort Lawton, Seattle, Washington. He left for overseas April 20, 1950, and arrived in Japan May 8. He served in Korea with the 24th Infantry Division.

Plan Pageant to Be Given in City Next Fall

Harold Searls, Noted Director, to Supervise Show on Coming of Soo

Preliminary arrangements were made this week for the staging of a historical pageant on the occasion of the fiftieth anniversary of the commencement of service on the Soo Line next September. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Searls, directors of the several annual pageants presented at Itasca Park and also a series of Territorial Centennial pageants for the state of Minnesota in 1949, have agreed to produce the spectacle.

Planned originally as a part of the program for the anniversary of the opening of the Indian reservation in June, it was found that the September date is better suited for a production of this kind, giving more time during the summer months for preparation.

Mr. and Mrs. Searls visited here earlier this month as guests of the arrangements committee. They were favorably impressed with the possibilities of the Tourist Park as a place to present a pageant.

The river makes possible a reenactment of water scenes of historic interest and, with a little fill and grading, the slopes that form a natural amphitheater can be made to provide seating cap-

Dairy Products Prices Skid with Lower Supports

Milk Distributors of City to Maintain Price to Producers for Present

Market prices for dairy products started skidding early this week in anticipation of the lowered government price supports to become effective Thursday. Reductions have varied in different areas according to local conditions and among the different dairy products somewhat in relation to the butterfat content of the product.

Butter is taking the biggest drop. New York extras being quoted Tuesday at 62½c. Land O' Lakes Creameries Inc., operating two drying plants in this area, unofficially expects the local price of milk bought for drying to drop from $2.97 to about $2.60 per cwt, approximately 10%. G. S. Bergland, manager of the Thief River Creamery, big buyer of milk for cheese manufacture, is of the opinion that the drop in the market value of milk for this purpose will be about in the same proportion as the drop in milk purchased for drying.

The three local milk packaging plants, City Dairy, Bridgeman's and Land O' Lakes, are making no change in the price paid to the producer or charged the consumer for the time being. Milk is reported to have dropped one cent a quart in the metropolitan areas but the local plants are awaiting developments in this general area before making any changes.

TRF Stores Reveal Big Sales Promotion Plan for the Month of April

Signaling the arrival of April and spring (it's bound to warm up soon), the merchants committee of the Civic and Commerce association announced today that starting April 2, Thief River Falls stores will remain open Friday evenings until 9 o'clock, and will continue the practice thru the summer and fall months.

As an added incentive to patronize Thief River Falls business places, a month-long April sales promotion will get under way Thursday, featuring the distribution of "Auction Dollars" to all persons spending 50 cents or more at any of the participating business places. The more the patron buys, the more auction dollars he will receive.

Store customers will accumulate the auction dollars all during the month of April, and then on Saturday, May 1, they may be used to bid on approximately $1,500 worth of valuable merchandise that will be put up for sale at a big public auction.

Items to be offered include furniture, sporting goods, hardware, feeds, jewelry, toys and boxes of groceries.

Merchants are offering a special inducement to patrons to visit their stores Friday evening, and will give a double issue of auction dollars with all purchases made between the hours of 6 and 9 p. m. Thus, each patron spending from 50 cents to $1.49 will receive two auction dollars instead of one, while those spending $1.50 to $2.49 will receive four auction dollars, and so on.

Testimony Heard on Plea of No. Central to Halt Service to City

At hearings conducted last week in Minneapolis on the application of North Central Airlines to discontinue service on its routes between Minneapolis and Grand Forks via Thief River Falls, and between Minneapolis and Fargo, representatives of the affected cities and L. L. Schroeder, state aeronautics commissioner, contended that the operation can become a paying proposition if given more time to develop the necessary traffic.

Representing Thief River Falls at the hearing was a Civic and Commerce association committee including J. M. Roche, secretary; Elmer Bratsch and Don Olson.

Frank W. Buttomer, North Central vice president for traffic and sales, was cross-examined by Gordon Rosenmeier, Little Falls, who is acting as attorney for Brainerd, Bemidji and Thief River Falls, all stops on the Grand Forks run.

Earlier, Joseph L. Fitzmaurice, Washington, CAB examiner, heard testimony by civic leaders from these cities, as well as those on the Fargo run, that the airline failed to promote the routes sufficiently and its schedules and performance had lessened possible passenger traffic.

Buttomer insisted, however, the airline record was good and that "we have been ready, willing and able to serve these cities if there had been any business."

He also defended the airline's schedules, saying at one point: "We will give the best service that the federal government, through its rate section, will underwrite."

North Central in 1953 received $2,357,962 in federal mailpay funds, 90 per cent of which is a direct subsidy, postal officials say

"We believe the business is there and, given sufficient time, the traffic will develop," said L. L. Schroeder.

The line of testimony was that North Central's performance factor has been unsatisfactory and has discouraged patronage

The cities North Central wants to cut off its routes, said Schroeder, have as much traffic potential as any local service point in the country

Schroeder insisted that to abandon the experiment in so short a time will result in an unnecessary waste of public funds, with respect particularly to monies spent for airport facilities to meet minimum standards for scheduled air carrier operations.

"There is a further economic loss to the extent that airport facilities created to meet military requirements must continue to be maintained for that purpose without serving any useful peacetime purpose," Schroeder declared.

Frank Buttomer expressed the opinion that North Central's "segment 5" operation, which he described as an experiment, was immature—"probably three or four years too early."

He said the area served is one of declining population with small cities and farm communi-

Review of Red Lake Drainage Project Being Considered

Hagen Resolution Asks Study by Army Engineers of Need for Revision

Harold C. Hagen, 9th district congressman, announced last week that the committee on public works of the House of Representatives, has approved a committee resolution requesting the board of engineers for rivers and harbors to reveiw the reports on Red Lake River, including Clearwater River, with a view to determining if it is advisable to modify the existing project in any way at this time. Action taken by the committee stems from a bill introduced by Representative Hagen.

Hagen pointed out that a further study of the entire river channel is necessary for the purpose of determining the cause, or causes, of flooding in recent years. If it is found that flooding is caused by reason of the improvements heretofore made upon the upper reaches of the Red Lake River channel, steps will then be taken to correct the condition. Sufficient authorization and funds exist to make this study.

One of the possible projects to be considered is the proposed Huot Dam and reservoir project on the Red Lake river

Group to Promote Use of Dairy Products Is Given Name, "Voice of Dairyland"

A crowd of 700 people interested in the future of the dairy industry jammed the municipal auditorium at Plummer Monday night. It was the third of a series of meetings held under the sponsorship of Red Lake county dairy interests, called for the purpose of promoting an understanding of the problems confronting the industry and encouraging the increased use of dairy products.

Presiding at the meeting was Henry Paul of Red Lake Falls. The program consisted of talks by Dr. L. N. Dale of Red Lake Falls; Gaylord Dryndale, operator of the Red Lake Falls creamery; P. L. Anderson, Land O' Lakes fieldman of Crookston, Pete Gerardy and Dave Ostby of Plummer; Leander Berberich of Brooks, and Paul Turma, representing the American Dairy association, who also showed a picture explaining the ADA sales promotional campaign.

Tony Schiefert of Plummer was declared the winner of the $25 cash prize in a name contest. His suggestion for the name of the organization was "Voice of Dairyland." While the organization has been sponsored by Red Lake county interests it is hoped that under this broad title it may expand to other communities in this area.

A committee consisting of Sherman Mandt, Dave Ostby, Glen Fellman, Oren Melby and Stuart McLeod was directed to prepare resolutions urging support of the self help plan sponsored by the National Milk Producers Federation now before both houses of Congress. The meeting also favored the ADA sales promotion plan and the Wisconsin plan of dealing with low grade butter.

Meets Quality Requirements

When V. J. Byrne, milk sanatarian with the state department of agriculture, dairy and food, inspected a number of farms in this area two weeks ago, the Tormand Christianson farm east of Thief River Falls was one of those that came in for praise. In the top picture is Mr. Christianson with Byrne at the entrance to the vestibule between the barn and the new milk house. In the lower picture Byrne is looking over some of the utensils in the roomy, well-lighted and completely equipped milk house. Being 12-ft. square, this milk house provides ample room for easy working conditions.

Mr. Erickson is now milking 10 cows and is on his way to increase this to 15 by next year. To go beyond that will require an addition to his barn. One son, Dell, is attending the Northwest School of Agriculture at Crookston where he now has a calf project. He is taking training with the view of succeeding his father in the operation of the farm.

By Oldtimer

The sewing and mending was all done by hand back in the early days of the Rosewood community. Carding wool was usually an evening job, while the husband was tanning sheep, dog and wolf pelts for robes and mittens. Fur robes were necessary to keep warm on the long and slow trips to town.

Wolves would howl on clear and cold winter nights, first one, and then a whole pack. They seemed to be everywhere and it gave us an eerie feeling to be walking along a trail when they started their mournful serenade. I can't remember however, of any time when they attacked human beings. They would often make raids on sheep and sometimes calves were killed. But the howling was of some benefit. Youngsters did not venture very far from the house after dark.

There were many amusing incidents, that is, they are amusing now when looking back. One evening I was with my mother in the barn yard when she was milking the cows. The neighbor's ram paid us a visit and evidently he considered me an unnecessary nuisance. He bunted me down and each time I got on my feet he repeated the process until my mother came to my rescue.

The first mower in our community was owned by the Even Anderson family and their son, Albert Paulson, was kept busy mowing hay for the neighbors. The first grain binder my father had was a wooden frame and wooden platfrom McKormick. It was a crude machine compared to the grain harvesters of today, but it was a great improvement over cutting grain with a cradle and tieing the bundles by hand.

The first steam engine used for threshing in our community had no traction so it was hauled from setting to setting by ox teams. Fanning mills were not used mainly because there were no such machines in our community in the early days. The grain was thrown across a room with a shovel, the heaviest kernels went the farthest and these were used for seed. This was a crude way to clean grain but it was practical.

When there was no money to buy lumber the pioneers got it the hard way sawing it by hand labor. One winter John Hellquist and Fred Styrlund sawed enough boards for floors in two rooms from 8 to 10 inch spruce logs. They used two high saw horses with a platform on top, one would stand on the platform the other on the ground pulling and pushing the large rip saw. When this lumber was dry it was planed, edged and matched all done by hand labor.

Switching the pageant to the fall program means that original plans for the June event will have to be revised. In the tentative plans the June program, honoring the early settlers, will serve as the start of a number of activities thruout the summer commemorating the community's progress.

Political Roundup

By Arthur Naftalin

The state Democratic-Farmer-Labor convention, which opens this Friday in Albert Lea, is certain to produce some exciting in-fighting, and top Party leaders have to do some fast stepping to guide the convention through a harmonious conclusion.

Lines were forming this week over the crucial question of whether the DFL should follow its established practice of endorsing a full slate of candidates for state and Congressional office. Predominant sentiment seemed to favor endorsements, but there was a sizeable bloc urging an "open primary," and this issue promised to provide the first skirmish of the convention.

Assuming that the convention decides on the endorsement route, the next struggle will be over whoch candidate the Party should officially back for the Governorship. Here the fighting is likely to center around whether to support again Orville L. Freeman, the Party's nominee in 1952, or to turn to another candidate.

Primaries Haunt DFL

This convention markes the tenth anniversary of the DFL Party. It was in 1944 that the Democratic and Farmer-Labor Parties fused. The Parties held simultaneous state conventions that year, with the Farmer Labor Party virtually disbanding by changing its name to the Fellowship Party, while the Democratic Party picked up the Farmer-Labor label, thus giving birth to the DFL.

Since 1944 the DFL has sought to establish strong tickets by officially endorsing a slate of primary candidates. But the results have not always been pleasing to the Party, and the DFL is haunted by memories of humiliating losses, such as occurred in 1950 when endorsed candidates for lieutenant-governor, state treasurer, clerk of supreme court, and two positions on the railroad and warehouse commission were defeated.

That was the year when a totally unknown candidate by the name of Joe McCarthy from Lake City won one of the railroad commission nominations. In other years the endorsed slates have fared better, but in each election there has been at last one loss.

No Other Route

Despite the obvious risks of endorsements, most Party leaders feel they have no alternative. Topnotch candidates tend to stay out of an "open primary," because without the assurance of formal organizational support, the risks for them are too great. There is also the added cost of a primary campaign, and getting funds for a primary fight is among the more difficult political tricks. Contributors ordinarily want to back nominees, not aspirants for the nomination.

Party leaders like to think in terms of a strong, balanced ticket, one that will provide candidates who will reenforce each other and help carry the overall load of the campaign. It is the notion of the "team" at work. Nominees who might emerge from an "open primary" might not only be not members of the "team" but they could conceivably be antagonistic to other candidates.

Thus, the organizational leaders feel they have no other route but to endorse, and this is what the convention is most likely to do, but first it will have to agree upon a nominee for governor.

Spotlight on Freeman

As the DFL convention opens the spotlight will be on Freeman. He has said he is not seeking the endorsement, but will accept it if it comes his way. A number of county and district conventions have endorsed him, and his supporters may try to develop a "draft" in his behalf.

He is not likely to get the endorsement, however, without a fight; and the fight very likely could take the form of a Freeman vs. No-endorsements struggle. If Freeman should withdraw altogether from the fray, the convention would then have a field of a half-dozen or so prospective candidates to choose among.

Of other possible candidates the most likely to receive consideration are DFL State Chairman Karl F. Rolvaag and Hennepin County Commissioner Richard O. Hanson. But neither is prepared to make a contest against Freeman.

Humphrey View Sought

The key man in the DFL deliberations is, of course, Senator Hubert H. Humphrey. While he could not hand-pick his running-mate, his word on the subject would command tremendous respect, but Humphrey has been reluctant to be involved in any final decision.

Last week Humphrey stated publically that he was leaving the decision about the governorship to the Party. "I will not tell you whom to select," he declared. But Humphrey's view will still be eagerly sought. The Party is not likely to endorse anyone not wholly acceptable to the Senator, and, when the chips are down, he is not likely to sit by and watch the convention endorse some one he does not want as a running-mate.

As this week opened the best guess was that Party leaders would gather in committee rooms into the wee hours of Friday and Saturday nights in a final effort to fill the Party's vacuum with a slate of endorsed candidates that can command harmonious and enthusiastic support of the rank and file.

GROWING WITH YOUR CHILD

Institute of Child Welfare, University of Minnesota

"What can I do?" Mrs. Johnson asks. "My children are so interested in music, but we don't have a piano." This question is frequently brought up these days since smaller homes and housing shortages have crowded out the traditional parlor piano.

Actually, children can have many enjoyable musical experiences without a piano in the house. Preschool children may even find greater pleasure in simpler instruments. The parent who guides a child in exploring many kinds of sound is not only helping him have fun at the time, but is also laying a good groundwork for later musical skills. A two or three year old is delighted to have small bells tied to his wrists or ankles as he keeps time to singing or a record. One mother fastened the small bells to an ordinary cardboard fan, and her youngster discovered many ways to move it to music.

At the age of three or four, a child will enjoy making a rattle by pasting decorations on an empty salt box into which a few buttons, or dried beans, or pebbles have been dropped. A whole family of rattles can be made, producing different tone qualities by varying the sizes and contents of the boxes.

As children grow older, with a little help they can make simple drums, pipes, and stringed instruments. Their interest in them will be increased by their pride in having made them themselves. If home made experimentation seems impractical, small xylophones, tambourines, pipes, kazoos, triangles, and drums are not expensive, and these simple instruments are fine to use as rhythmic background for familiar songs, or for use in small "parades"—and such practice stimulates and developes the child's appreciation of music and rhythms.

Lack of a piano need not stunt a child's musical growth. For centuries man has produced music from the materials at hand. The child who has lived with and experienced tunes and rhythms in a variety of ways has been given a fine start on his musical education. The enjoyment of these early experiments will help make him ready for more formal instruction a little later on.

Going on a Trip?

Over the past few years, our "stepped-up travel on wheels" has led us to realize that travel with children is not only possible, but that trips can play an important part in children's lives. We tend to think of trips as long distances to be covered, with supplies of road maps and loaded car trunks. While these are important, there are other sorts of trips, too, which are around us all the time.

Someone once defined a trip as "going from here to there." No mention was made in this definition of how long it must take, or how far the distance must be. But "going from here to there" can equally well be a short trip. For a very young child a trip to the basement just to see what is there can be very fasinating.

Have you considered tracing the trip the heating pipes or the water pipes take through the house? The essential part of a trip is to point out something that has not been seen before, or to return to something familiar and liked. With a young child, short trips in and around his home are ways of getting acquainted with life, or pushing back the barriers of the unknown.

The immediate neighborhood becomes the natural extension of the home. Try a walk around the block, pointing out all the different things you can see. A short walk becomes an excursion; unusual sights, to the adult, becomes things to be explored, when interpreted to the child. Is there a new house being built nearby? A new store about to be opened? A road being repaired? A sidewalk being put in?

These are important new living experiences for a young child. Take a trip to the grocery store, and go shopping with your five year old for food from Hawaii (pineapple)—South America (coffee),—or Florida, or California. All of life is new, and meanings and understandings grow from living and from experience. Trips need not involve great distance and travel. New things are to be found among familiar ones, to those who look.

GULLY...

By Mrs. Arnold Bratvold, Gully

A double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Halvard Lie at his home near Trail Saturday evening, March 27, at 9 o'clock when Mavis Lunde, daughter of Mr. and Mrs Clarence Lunde of Gonvick became the bride of Roy Curtiss Tharaldson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Tharaldson of Gully.

The bride wore a blue-grey suit with black accessories and a pearl necklace, a gift from the groom's mother. Her only attendant, her sister, Mrs Herbert Larson wore a grey plaid suit with blue accessories. The groom wore a blue suit and his attendant, Herbert Larson wore a dark blue suit. Mr. and Mrs. Tharaldson plan to make their home at Warren, Minn. Roy was just recently discharged from the service.

The Gully Merry-Makers 4-H Club will have their regular monthly meeting Tuesday evening, April 6 instead of the regular date. Mr. Glen Pricket, extension safety specialist will be guest speaker that evening. Since safety is such a popular subject the members of the Queen 4-H club have been invited as special guests for the meeting and any other parent who may be interested is invited to attend.

On Sunday he and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ellertson accompanied by Miss Arlene Larson of Fosston attended the Sacred Concert at the Bemidji auditorium. Also there were Mrs Idius Christianson and Miss Bertha Christianson who sent greetings to their friends here.

Seed Treatment Boosts Profits

Even oats, which seldom rates high as an income crop, will yield enough extra bushels from carefully treated seed to pay the small cost of treating for 10 years to come, and other grains will, on the average, pay even better returns for seed treatment.

Yield trials of treated and untreated fields of oats of approved varieties showed over a 12-year period that seed treatment raised yield an average three bushels per acre per crop. Average treatment cost at most elevators is about six cents a bushel of seed, but this cost varies depending upon the locality.

Figuring two bushels of seed per acre, cost per acre is about 12 cents—thus, you get an extra yield of three or more bushels of oats at only about four cents a bushel.

Seed treatment does two things: first, the fumes disinfect seed during the storage period. Second, the chemical protects the seed from soil organisms after seeding.

Only a highly volatile chemical will do a thorough job on the small grains—wheat, oats, barley, and flax. Ceresan and Panogen have been approved by the University.

After treatment, store the seed for several days before seeding—this is important. Why? The chemical vapors need time to penetrate the seed hulls, crevices and seed parts not thoroughly coated.

R. C. Rose, extension plant pathologist at the University of Minnesota, says power treaters that air blast the dust into sacked grain or bulk truckloads are almost useless, and they do not give uniform treatment. So called mercury treatments aren't of much value, either, he says.

Early seed treatments were used mainly to kill the smut organisms on the seeds, but now smut is no longer important since almost all varieties are smut-resistant.

However, varieties now recommended are subject to other bacterial and fungus infections carried on the seed or living in the soil.

Since corn and soybeans are not likely to carry surface-borne diseases, treatment with non-volatile chemical does the job. Legumes may be injured by mercury treatment, Rose says. He advises treatment with one of the organic compounds—Orthocide, Arasan, or Spergon.

If you have other questions concerning seed treatment, come down to the extension office, and I will try to answer your questions.

Loading Lumber at Mill Here 50 Years Ago

Above is a view of the Thief River Lumber Company mill, the main industry in Thief River Falls fifty years ago. It is a reproduction of a picture loaned to the Times by S. T. Hetland, a pioneer in the community. This picture is particularly interesting as a car-top view of the lumber loading operation. At that time the Great Northern tracks extended across the Red Lake River. The mill ceased operations here about 1910. The area pictured above is still industrial but it is redeveloping with a different type of industry.

Marge Olsen

During January and February, a lesson on the use of sewing machine attachments was given to homemakers in the county. Since these meetings were held, many women have been considering buying a new sewing machine. There are so many types of sewing machines on the market, selling at different prices and suited to different purposes, that getting a good buy can be quite a problem.

Before you go shopping for a machine, consider the kind of sewing for which you plan to use it. For plain sewing, making simple garments, patching, mending and darning, a straight sewing machine is satisfactory. Many women prefer it for fine dressmaking and tailoring where machine-made decorations are not used.

In contrast, the swing-needle or zigzag-type machines are for specialty sewing such as decorative stitching, embroidering, making place mats and napkins, finishing seams and buttonholes. These machines, in part, do the jobs intended for the attachments that can be bought for straight-sewing machines and which are so seldom used. You will need to decide whether specialty stitching will be done often enough to warrant the added cost of such a machine.

Another important question is whether to buy a cabinet or a portable machine. A cabinet with well-supported leaves and sturdy legs gives good sewing support and is ready for immediate use. The portable is the choice where space is limited, as in small homes or apartments, or where the machine must be moved often.

Brainerd Warriors Nose out Bemidji to Win State Cage Title

The Brainerd Warriors were forced to resort to stalling tactics to hold off a never-quitting Bemidji Lumberjack team in the finals of the state high school basketball tourney in Minneapolis on Saturday, with the Warriors edging out a 49 to 47 win to gain the state title.

Preliminary games on Saturday found the Willmar Cardinals outscoring the Hibbing Bluejackets, 60 to 65, for the consolation honors; and the rangy Austin Packers won third place by defeating Renville, 60 to 43.

Brainerd's victory over Bemidji was due largely to the spectacular outside shooting of the Warriors' two guards, Rod Skoog and Roger Adair. The Warrior's, with Skoog getting 11 points, sprinted into a 14 to 3 lead in the first four minutes of the game, and the Lumberjacks never could erase that big lead, although Bemidji, with Jack Whiting, Elmon Johnson, and Bob Parker connecting on field goals, pared the Brainerd margin to 19 to 13 at the end of the first quarter.

Brainerd, with Skoog continuing to hit on his long shots, held a 36 to 27 advantage at the intermission; but in the third period Bemidji's famed all-court press began to take effect, and the Jacks moved to within three points of the Warriors, 44 to 41, at the end of the quarter.

A free throw and a pair of field goals by Adair and Jelacic sent Brainerd into a 49 to 43 lead, with four minutes to play. Whiting and Parker notched Bemidji free throws, and Don Hoffman looped in a field goal, and the Jacks were again in the game. Brainerd attempted to stall out the final minutes of the hectic contest, but misplays gave Bemidji the ball on several occasions, but the Lumberjacks shots at the net refused to fall into the hoop.

In their first round game, Bemidji, the region eight representative, defeated St. James, 60 to 54; and in the semi-finals, in the tournament's most exciting game, the Lumberjacks were forced into double overtime before Whiting, on a one-handed shot, gave Bemidji a 46 to 44 win over Renville.

Brainerd, playing in the tournament lower bracket, defeated Red Wing, 56 to 55, in a first round game; and then eliminated the tourmament favorite, Austin, 57 to 56, in the semi-finals.

Baseball Stirrings

About two dozen baseball enthusiasts were in attendance in the Auditorium's Civic & Commerce room on Friday night when the Thieves baseball club held its annual organizational meeting. The election of officers for the ensuing year found the following men named to positions: Len Goulet, president, Elmer Poole, vice president; Berdeen Nornes, secretary-treasurer; and Ole Vraa, Irv Wilson, Ray Amundson, and Charley Smith, directors. Harold Johnson, general manager last season was re-named to that post.

In a brief discussion of plans for the approaching season, it was decided that the officers and the board of directors would select a team manager. And it appears that Derwood Swede Lund, who handled the club several times last year, will replace Phil LeGault as team manager. Phil stated that he did not want to have the responsibility of the team management this year, but that he would be willing to assist Swede. It is expected, too, that Al Williamson, team captain last year, will return for this year's campaign.

Expected to be available for this year's club, in addition to Lund, LeGault, and Williamson, will be Cal and Sid Vraa, Larry Gilbertson, Joey Poole, Jack Hoppe, Jerry Stevens, Shorty Perkins, and Gene Leslie. Bill Hallamack, a right-hander who has pitched a lot of ball around here, and who is always a tough competitor, has expressed a wish to play with the Thieves.

It's True, Al

When Al Holzknecht left town several weeks ago for a California vacation his Northern Chevrolet bowling team was solidly entrenched in first place in the Business League. Al will return this week to find his team solidly entrenched in second place, a game and a half behind the league-leading Hartz Office club.

It's certain that Al will call his team together for a couple of "How Come and What's Up" meetings.

Last Tuesday night the Northern Chevrolet and the Hartz Office teams met in "crucial" three-game series, and after the sound and the fury had subsided, the Hartz boys had won two games and taken the league lead. The Chevvies opened with a 930 game to defeat the Hartz, who totaled 894. In the second game, the Northern Chevrolet had a score of 807, a total that will bring tears to Al's eyes, and lost to the Hartz' 907. The third game, which was a "saw" game and a thriller all the way, found the Hartz team gaining a two-pin win, 959 to 957. There was plenty of paper and pencil work by the Chevrolet boys before they accepted that two-pin loss.

Miscellany

Peggy Torrison, Minneapolis' top-flight women bowler, and who has seven 600 totals to her credit in league bowling this year, and who rolled a 642 total in an exhibition series this past week, is a native of this city. Her father was one of the proprietors of the Torrison Bros. store here in the early days. That store was located in the building now occupied by the Montgomery Ward store. — Two of last year's Prowler athletes earned numerals at North Dakota University as freshman participants in basketball and hockey. Duane Dude Rafteseth played with Pinky Kraft's North Dakota freshman basketball team; and Bill Maruska was a goalie of the Sioux' standout freshman hockey team. — The Winnipeg Maroons defeated the Fort William Beavers, four games to none, in the Manitoba-Thunder Bay Canadian senior hockey playdowns. Starting tonight, the Maroons will begin a best-of-seven series with the Moose Jaw Millers, with the first two games being scheduled to be played at Moose Jaw. If the two teams split the first two games, a third game will also be played at Moose Jaw, following which the series will move to Winnipeg for completion.—The Grand Forks Redwings, with Bud Brossolt, Paul Bedard, Marv Jorde, and Bob Amundson from the local Thieves on their roster, were defeated in a best-of-three series, losing two games to none, by the Great Falls, Monana, club.—The surprising Crookston Pirates, by scores of 4 to 2 and 5 to 4, defeated the Grand Forks Redwings in the Northwest Hockey league playoffs, and won the playoff title.

Women of the Korean island of Cheju for centuries have proved themselves better divers than the men, who in some instances take over domestic tasks. Cheju women make shallow sea dives for pearls, shellfish, edible seaweed and other ocean products.

The boom in home repairs is expected to continue through 1954 and may increase 20 to 30 per cent over 1953 record of $6 billion spent in the fix-up market.

Search Being Made for State Director of Traffic Safety

Determined to "go all out" in its battle against the alarming toll of traffic accidents and deaths, the state of Minnesota is now engaged in a nationwide search for the best qualified man it can obtain to fill the newly-created job of highway safety director. As announced last week by Governor C. Elmer Anderson and Highway Commissioner M. J. Hoffmann, the new position will be one of the top positions in the classified state service.

The new highway safety director will be responsible for planning, developing and directing a stepped up statewide program of safety on the trunk highway system. He will have direct supervision over the highway patrol, the drivers license and driver examination division, accident records and safety education. In other words, he will coordinate the licensing, accident analysis, education and enforcement facilities of the state highway department.

Another important phase of his work will be maintaining liaison with private and semi-public citizen groups, such as state and local safety councils, automobile clubs, chambers of commerce and insurance groups, which are active in the promotion of traffic safety and have, to date, carried much of the load in this field.

Notices of the examination for the position have been mailed throughout the 48 states by the state civil service department and are to be returned not later than April 10. The top 15 applicants, deemed on basis of experience to have the best qualifications, will be called in for an interview before a board of experts in the field of highway safety. It is hoped the selection of the new director of highway safety can be made within a month or six weeks.

Audrey Hepburn, William Holden Win Film Awards

Audrey Hepburn, the lovely princess of "Roman Holiday," and William Holden, hard-bitten war captive in "Stalag 17," won the top Oscars in the Academy Awards Thursday night in Hollywood, Calif.

"From Here to Eternity" was announced the best picture of 1953, and it swept awards for supporting players Frank Sinatra and Donna Reed, director Fred Zinneman and writer Dan Taradash. It won eight awards in all, tying the all-time record of "Gone With the Wind."

She won the Oscar in her first starring role.

Holden, 36-year-old native of O'Fallon, Ill., paced the lobby during the program. When his name was announced as the winner, he rushed to the stage and all he could say was, "Thanks, thanks, thanks."

A 15-year veteran of films, he switched his type to play a semi-heel in "Stalag 17."

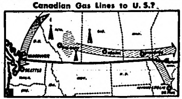
Canadian Gas Lines to U. S.?



CALGARY, ALTA.-Homeowners and industries in the Pacific Northwest and Midwest areas of the U. S. may soon be able to tap some 10 trillion cubic feet of Canadian natural gas through extensions of two major pipelines proposed for Canada, according to estimates of Canadian Oil & Gas Reserves Ltd.

The Westcoast Transmission line would bring gas from northern British Columbia and Alberta to Vancouver. The trans-Canadian line would carry gas from central Alberta eastward.

Extensions of the two lines southward to supply homes and industry in the U. S. Pacific Northwest and Midwest await approval of the U. S. Federal Power Commission.

Hopes are high that FPC approval will make it possible for the Northwestern states to tap the vast supply of Canadian natural gas by 1956.

Western Canada has more than 10 trillion cubic feet of natural gas available. Canadian Oil & Gas Reserves Ltd. estimates that future discoveries will increase Canada's gas reserves at the rate of one trillion feet a year.

Sportsmen's Clubs Are Requested to Cooperate

Sportsman club cooperators in the bureau of game's annual pheasant distribution program were reminded today that applications for day-old pheasant chicks should be in the bureau of game office in St. Paul by April 15.

In 1953 about 50 cooperators raised and released about 34,000 birds under the day-old chick program. In addition sportsmens clubs assisted in distribution of 83,994 six week old and breeder pheasants last year.

Each year cooperators, including sportsmen's clubs, The American Legion, Chambers of Commerce, Boy Scouts and similar groups raise the day-old pheasant chicks until they are six weeks old, when they are released under the supervision of the local game warden.

Cooperators provide the brooder equipment, feed and necessary care according to bureau of game specifications. Sportsmen's clubs also cooperate in the release of six week old birds shipped to release points from the Carlos Avery and Madelia game farms.

APRIL 1 ARRIVES

The dairy industry has been in a state of understandable confusion, these past days, getting adjusted to price changes resulting from the lowering of price supports. There is increased concern within the industry too over the difficulties involved in a program of production controls. Dairy products have the distinction of being the only perishable commodities for which there are price supports and for which there are not also production controls. There still is that old question to be answered, if we must have controls who is going to do the controlling, the industry itself or the government.

Of all the dairy products, butter probably will take the worst beating in the downward price adjustment. As the percentage of fat content diminishes other dairy products will suffer less. This points up the fact that butter itself probably will feel most directly the result of any program of production control.

An interim committee of the Minnesota Legislature, studying this problem, is inclined to the opinion that if there is to be a curtailment of production the curtailment should be in low grade butter and not in high grade. That would be along the lines of the thinking in Wisconsin where the producers obtained legislation in a special session this winter that would tend to keep low grade butter off the market.

While one or two states alone cannot accomplish a great deal by outlawing substandard butter, the Wisconsin law would be very effective and very beneficial if adopted nationally. Quality is not a serious problem up here in dairyland but there are areas of the country in which people do not know what good butter tastes like. Whatever steps are taken now to control production, the emphasis should be on quality and the quality producer should be given protection and encouragement.

We accept the price differentials that go along with quality standards in the marketing of other products. Top quality eggs get a premium price and there is no market for rotten eggs. There is no reason why there should be a market for rotten cream, for human consumption, and if we can get the low grade butter off the market there will be no surplus to worry about. A move in this direction would be in the interests of the dairy industry of our community and our state.

A COUNTY ROAD PROGRAM

County engineer Joe Seidel is enthusiastic about a program of planned and coordinated highway development for the county. He believes we have now progressed to the point where we can start building a bituminous surfaced primary system of county roads that in a few years will put a "blacktop" within a comparatively short distance of all farms.

About 100 miles of our county roads are now in what is called the Federal Aid Secondary system. Federal funds are available on a matching basis for the improvement of these main county highways, and Mr. Seidel is of the opinion that we are now in a position to proceed with a development program that will give us five or six miles of bituminous treated roads a year. In a period of ten years that would mean another black-top road extending across the county from east to west and several connecting links with our present east and west trunk system.

Mr. Seidel's conclusion that we are now in a position to start such a program is based on several encouraging facts. There is no burden of debt to take a first bite out of revenues. Our most urgent bridge problems have been provided for. We are not faced with any serious equipment problem. Our roads, generally, are in good condition. Quite a few miles of our present system have already been built up to the standards required for bituminous surfacing.

Engineers generally agree that, under ordinary conditions, the black-topping of any road that has a traffic count of 100 cars a day saves money. We have county roads on which the traffic count is twice that figure, and to maintain them and replace the gravel we plow into the ditches each winter is far too costly to be continued.

TOLL ROADS INCREASING

There now are 3,250 miles of toll roads in our country, including with the miles already built, those that being built, and also those that are definitely scheduled to be built—Business Week reports. Along with the report is a prediction that "There'll be a lot more." A U. S. Commerce Department official is quoted as finding a toll road potential of 8,000 to 10,000 miles in the next ten years, "on a fully self-liquidating basis."

That would represent a ten billion dollar investment and would supplement very substantially the present 1.2 billion dollars now being spent annually by the state and the federal government on trunk roads. Inadequate financing seems to be the insurmountable obstacle in the solution of our road problem at all levels.

Incidentally it is interesting to note that our neighboring state of Wisconsin is one of the many states giving serious consideration to the toll road as one of the answers to this problem. A Turnpike Commission was set up last year to study the possibilities in a toll road across the state for the heavy Chicago-Twin Cities traffic.

President Eisenhower has ordered an increase in the stockpiling of metals and minerals, and that seems to make sense. A reserve supply of the basic materials that would be needed for purposes of national defense in an emergency, available at the places where it would have to be processed, would provide protection in two ways. It would lessen the effectiveness of enemy raids on our transportation centers. And it would make possible a more orderly and less expensive procurement of these supplies in the event of an emergency. A stockpile would be an effective hedge against spiraling costs that go hand in hand with sudden heavy demands. Reasonable stockpiling at this time should be helpful too in leveling off the dip from a war time to a peace time economy.

The Prowlers didn't win the state championship in basketball but they almost beat the team that almost beat the team that did, and that isn't too bad. Lincoln High athletes have had a good season with a district championship in basketball, a regional championship in football and a state championship in hockey. Many students have participated in these sports and in all three of the groups the participants have been an exceptionally fine lot of young fellows. To these exceptionally fine young men our congratulations on an exceptionally good season.

The Petroleum industry has a surplus problem too. Storage stocks of gasoline are dangerously big and, here and there thruout the country, there are price wars. The industry knows what to do about this problem however. Production will be curtailed to the needs of the market. The National Petroleum News expects refineries this year to operate at about 87% of capacity.

Research indicates that the application of Douglas fir sawdust at the rate of 10 tons per acre will increase crop yields without the addition of Nitrogen fertilizer. Sawdust applied at the rate of 100 tons per acre with the addition of 1,400 lbs. of ammonium nitrate gave maximum yields.

How 'Piggly Wiggly' Got Its Name

We have been asked by many where the name Piggly Wiggly came from and here is the story as it has been told to us.

Back in 1916 Clerence Saunders, on the occasion of one of his many drives out through the country, noticed an unusually large family of little pigs, all trying to get their dinner at the same time and all grunting, squealing, shoving and pushing to attain their goal. It brought to mind the problem of customers in his store on a busy day, all trying to get waited on at the same time and the high cost of providing trained clerks capable of giving a satisfactory sales service.

And there was born the idea of self-service. Mr. Saunders went to work on the idea and reorganized his store into a self-service market. It was the world's first self-service store and the first store in the present nation-wide Piggly Wiggly organization.

The organization is still growing. Our store is the first of a development in a large territory in Northern Minnesota. According to present expansion plans 60 stores will be added to the system in this area in the next 5 years.

N. W. Hospital Gives Reasons for Charges

In the following statement, prepared by Harold W. Peterson, administrator of Northwestern Hospital in behalf of the board of trustees, some questions frequently asked by patients are clarified:

a. A hospital operates 24 hours per day, 365 days per year. Three shifts of nursing personnel and maintenance must be maintained every day of the year.

b. The number of people working in a hospital cannot easily be reduced when the patient load is low. The patient load generally drops during summer months but since those same months are vacation periods for employees, not much can be saved. The hospital cannot drop valuable, trained nurses, and other employees, in order to take advantage of a temporary and unpredictable, reduction in number of patients.

c. It is almost necessary to calculate the number of nursing personnel needed on the basis of the personnel that might be needed in the event of an emergency. Emergeny hospitalizations often happen and when they do happen a high degree of co-ordination of an adequate number of personnel is needed if life is to be saved. A hospital must be sufficiently manned with trained personnel so that happenings of this kind may be taken care of. That is why a hospital always has certain personnel "on call." They are not in the hospital but if they are needed they will come at a moment's notice. People "on call" must be paid as well as those "on duty."

d. The hospital performs many diagnostic services for the physician whenever a patient is admitted. Northwestern Hospital Laboratory is equipped to perform as many as 150 different kinds of tests. The X-Ray department can take any of a variety of 43 types of X-Rays. The hospital is equipped to administer electro-cardiograms as a basis for diagnosis of heart conditions. The hospital also helps provide some of the minor diagnostic instruments that the doctor must use in his day to day rounds of patients in the hospital.

e. The hospital provides many treatment facilities for the care of the patient. Illustrations of these are diathermy machines, resuscitators, oxygen tents and oxygen apparatus, suction machines, a vast array of surgical instruments, special frames for treatment of fractures, apparatus for producing and controlling moisture, wheel chairs, blood bank refrigerators, apparatus for drawing blood and giving blood transfusions, apparatus for administering intravenous solutions, expensive operating tables and delivery tables. To these might be added a thousand other items, ranging from hypodermic needles, bed pans, and a tremendous variety of drugs. It may be pointed out that many of the expensive items of hospital equipment are seldom made under conditions of mass production.

Seed Legumes on Diverted Acres, Co. Agent Advises

Penning Points out Black Summer-fallowing Tends to Deplete Organic Matter

Diverted acres for the wheat farmer? County Agent William Penning has some timely tips about the current diverted acres question.

Although situations vary greatly from farm to farm, some general pointers apply to most farms. If the farm raises primarily wheat other small grains, with little livestock, the farmer will tend to shift mostly to other cash grain crops—barley, flax, oats, soybeans, corn, or summer-fallow, depending upon the cost of raising these crops and the return he expects to get from them.

Summer fallowing, says Penning, gives the farmer a good opportunity for weed control, but if fallowing is to be most advantageous, a substantial increase in legume plantings for soil improvement must accompany it, because black summer fallow tends to deplete the soil of organic matter.

Assuming the wheat program of acreage allotments and marketing quotas continues, all farmers who plan to summer fallow can afford to start this spring with a systematic increase in legume acreage.

There's plenty of good sweet clover and alfalfa seel at reasonable prices. Certified Ranger alfalfa, for example, which cost about $1.10 a pound in 1950 now is 45c to 50c a pound.

For livestock farms with wheat acreage adjustments, there are other alternatives The main one is an increase in the acreage of grasses and legumes for livestock feed. You can either broaden your operation with more animals or shift the feeding program toward the use of more roughage—or both.

But whether you use the legume crop for feed or for soil-building, says Penning, it's good insurance for the future to seed plenty of legumes this spring.

Grateful Slav Thanks Donor of Overcoat

Mrs. Sig Grothe received a letter of appreciation from the recipient of an overcoat she had given to Lutheran World Relief for needy Europeans. The letter dated March 6 from Allgau, Germany, reads in part as follows:

"I would like to thank you very much for that nice winter coat. It is very cold over here and I am not able to buy anything for myself. I come from Jugoslavia. The communists took all our property and put my parents and me into a concentration camp My parents died there. In the camp I learned to know a parentless girl with whom I fled to West Germany Right now I am living in a refugee camp."

R. L. Falls Club Promotes Return of Game Reports

Other clubs in Minnesota anxious to do a good turn for sound game management might follow the lead of the Red Lake County Sportsmen's Club, Red Lake Falls.

Concerned over the laxity of sportsmen in returning their big and small game hunting report cards, the Red Lake County nimrods urged club members to complete their report cards and leave them at one of two collection points in Red Lake Falls. Used as a lure was a .22 caliber rifle to be drawn for on the regular meeting night of the club.

Close to 400 report cards were turned in, which the club forwarded to the Division of Game and Fish.

Assistant Dean T. H. Fenske of the Institute of Agriculture, University of Minnesota, St. Paul, gave the commencement address on the theme, "This is Your Hour of Decision." University Regent H. F. Skyberg of Fisher extended greetings and Superintendent T. M. McCall presented diplomas and scholarship awards.

Medals for high scholarship and citizenship were presented to Adelle Larson of Twin Valley, valedictorian, and Neal Bjornson of Arvilla, North Dakota, salutatorian. Art Institute in Minneapolis to Have Rare Display

Treasures of the Inca Empire and the ancient civilizations of Pre-Columbian South America, including more than two hundred dazzling ceremonial and ornamental objects in gold — priceless artifacts which escaped Pizarro and the sixteenth-century conquistadors — will be displayed at the Minneapolis Institute of Arts in the exhibition, Ancient Arts of the Andes, opening a two-months showing on April 21.

This exhibition presents publicly for the first time the arts of early Andean civilizations from the beginnings of organized society on the west coast of South America, about 1200 B. C., to the Spanish Conquest in 1532.

Containing the most comprehensive collection of gold objects, ceramics, weaving and sculpture ever assembled from the Inca Empire and other Andean societies, the exhibition comes to Minneapolis directly from the Museum of Modern Art, New York, where it has attracted thousands of visitors since its opening last January.

The battle for Leyte Gulf on October 23-27, 1944 was probably the biggest naval action ever fought. Some 166 American ships and 1,280 planes engaged 65 Japanese ships and 716 planes.

Due to the exceptionally close ranking among the top students in the Lincoln high school senior class, it was found necessary this year to divide honors between two valedictorians and three salutatorians, a situation without precedent here, it was announced Tuesday by Kalmer Ostby, principal. There are 133 candidates for diplomas this year, he added.

Selected as co-valedictorians on the basis of their scholastic standing during three years in senior high school were Gene Bratsch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Bratsch, and Beverly Hornseth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Hornseth.

Co-salutatorians include Devera Borchert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Borchert; Janet Nelson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Curtiss Nelson; and Carol Ulshafer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ulshafer.

During his high school career, Gene Bratsch has taken part in many extra-curricular activities, including basketball, band, chorus, dramatics, speech, and Lincoln Log sports editor the past two years. Beverly Hornseth was a member of the Log staff and of the Mid-day Masquers.

Each of the three co-salutatorians was a member of the high school chorus and glee club, as well as serving on the Prowler and Lincoln Log staffs, and taking part in dramatics.

Also released were the names of the students to be designated as honor students on the basis of their scholastic rank. In addition to the valedictorians and salutatorians they are Mary Anne Anderson, Lyle Guttu, Burnell Kast, Richard Kruse, Joyce Rux, David Thompson, Barbara Wangenstein, Linda Wold and Patricia Wold.

Class members chosen for National Honor Society on the basis of scholarship, service, leadership, and character are Devera Borchert, Gene Bratsch, Gail Brown, Janis Bugge, Darold Dalton, Sharon Evenstad, Kathryn Flom, Lyle Guttu, Gary Humes, Dale Klungness, Richard Kruse, Janet Nelson, Joyce Rux, Marilyn Stenberg, David Thompson, Barbara Wangenstein, Horst Warteberg, Linda Wold, and Patricia Wold.

Easter Seal Sale Now in Progress Thruout State

School Children Are Giving Cooperation in Drive Again This Year

Boys and girls in schools in this area are tying-in with the Easter Seal appeal to help the handicapped with a discussion in their classrooms of how to prevent accidents that cause handicaps.

Last year the school children of Minnesota donated almost $5,000 in dimes. This sum has been set aside to sponsor a cabin in the new Camp Courage project.

This year the schools have been sent coin cards, safety posters and safety lessons which call attention to the fact that accidents cause handicaps, too.

"Prevention of crippling is one of the concerns of the Easter Seal Society, along with the provisions of needed services for the handicapped," Nobel Shadduck, Annandale, president of the society said today. "This is one of the reasons the society has initiated as an Easter Seal service, a safety and accident prevention program in the schools of the state."

Research is an important aspect of prevention and this is one of the 3 R's that Easter Seal funds help support. The others are Rehabilitation, Recreation.

Rehabilitation centers thruout the state help make dependents partly or wholly independent. Mr. Shadduck states that "while hundreds of persons are being added to the list of handicapped in the state each year that similar growth is taking place in the fields of rehabilitation. It makes us realize how worthwhile it is to come to grips with the growing problems of the handicapped, by doubling and redoubling our efforts."

The Easter Seal campaign will continue until Easter, April 18th.

Offer Ten Prizes to County Farmers in Barley Contest

Ten farmers from Pennington county may receive cash prizes amounting to $200 in the 9th Annual Malting Barley Contest sponsored by the Minnesota Brewers Association. The prizes in counties having 20 or more entries, run from $50.00 for the county winner down to $10.00. In addition, there will be $1,000 awarded to 11 state winners ranging from the $300 Grand Champion prize to eight State Merit Awards of $50.00 each.

Total state and county prizes may reach $6,200. An all-expense trip to the Twin Cities for the annual two-day meeting of the Minnesota Crop Improvement Association will also be awarded to the top three winners.

To qualify, contestants must have a field of barley of at least 10 acres or more of the two eligible varieties — Kindred L or Montcalm. Entry blanks can be obtained from your county agent and should be returned before May 15th when the contest closes.

To make a ton of chlorine requires 1 and one-tenth tons of coal.

IN TIME OF NEED . . .

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	Deuteronomy	8	1-6
Monday	Matthew	22	34-40
Tuesday	Matthew	25	31-46
Wednesday	Luke	6	27-38
Thursday	Romans	12	3-10
Friday	Galatians	5	13-26
Saturday	I Corinthians	13	1-13

It took less than an hour—forty-nine minutes, to be exact! The planes, the bombs, the strafing, the invading army . . . and then it was all over.

But how long does it take to get over a war, when it happens right on your doorstep? A year . . . twelve years . . . a lifetime?

The American who feels no compassion toward the tragic millions in whose front yard the battle had to be fought has forgotten the sacred scars of the Revolutionary War. The Christian who cannot see His Lord suffering in the pathos of a crippled world has forgotten the Cross of Christ.

This week in almost all of the churches of our land people will be asked to give . . . to aid their distressed brethren in other lands. Even if you haven't been to church for a long while—go now to share your blessings with a world of suffering millions. And, perhaps, in the very act of giving you'll discover anew the joy of worship.

By the gift of His Son, God touched the heart of mankind.

50 YEARS AGO

The Story of the Dam

Fifty years ago Thief River Falls was a young community but not all of those who lived in this young community were young. Not youngsters those who were in positions of responsibility and whose names will always be associated with the activities of that era of the community's development. There were young men, occasionally mentioned at that time, who achieved prominence at a later period. But there were old men too, who had played their parts and retired from the scene, even in that young settlement.

Among the top-ranking pioneers in this category was Carl Kretzschmar, who had died February 22, 1902. He had lived a long and useful life when Thief River Falls was still little more than an outpost of civilization. His record is interesting because of his prominence in the earliest stages of the development of the city. It is especially interesting because it is linked to the history of the dam which converted Red Lake "Rapids" to Thief River "Falls."

Carl Kretzschmar

"Carl Kriezschmar, the pioneer and father of Thief River Falls, died Saturday morning after a long illness. Death was not unexpected, as the doctors long ago had said he could not recover, but friends continued to hope for the best.

"No man in Thief River Falls was held in more universal esteem and his death is a severe blow to the city. No man was more public spirited, had better judgement, or would do more for the community in which he resided than the deceased. He was of sturdy German stock, had a strong sense of right and wrong, and was true and devoted to his friends.

"Few men have met with more reverses than did Mr. Kretzschmar yet he never lost heart, and in the end conquered. Born in Germany in 1832, he commenced business in the city of Berlin, where he conducted a large restaurant and made a comfortable fortune, but met with business reverses and came to this country, settling on a claim near Elizabeth, in Otter Tail county, where for a number of years he worked and succeeded in making a little money.

"When the Great Northern built to Crookston he removed to that city and opened a general merchandise store. . . . In the Spring of 1882 he sold his business and moved to Red Lake Falls where he built a large flour mill and made other improvements. . . . In 1888 he came to Thief River Falls where he has since resided. Here he built the dam, constructed the flour mill, and platted the original townsite of Thief River Falls where he has since prospered. Twice had he been elected to the highest office within the gift of the people here—once president of the village council and once mayor."

For Mill Power

Mr. Kretzschmar had built the dam to provide power for his mill, the water for this purpose having been diverted from the river channel through a millrace. He had rented the dam itself to the city for water power purposes and presumably on very reasonable terms. When he died this lease became an estate problem and the city, which was seeking a long time renewal, was asked what was considered a more realistic rental.

In its July 21 issue the News reported on this situation. The city had been paying $60 a month. The estate thought the rental should be $200. The city offered $160 and the offer had to be accepted within 5 days. The city was running short of power. Either the dam would have to leased and the hydro plant expended or a steam plant would have to be built.

Several weeks later Mrs. Kretzschmar stated that arrangements had been made to repair the dam and that in the meantime the rental could continue on the terms of the old lease. While repairs were being made the city was without electricity for a period of two months.

Then in April of the following year a new problem developed. Mrs. Kretzschar's father, John Hoernig, got into the act with a mortgage on the dam and threatened to foreclose. As mortgagee he had not been a party to the old lease and, as the News stated, ". . . consequently, if he should come into possession of the property, the city's lease, which is a very favorable one would become invalid and a new one would have to be made." The amount of the mortgage was $7,000. The News regretted that the former Council had not taken necessary precautions, etc. etc.

W. A. Schreiter of Red Lake Falls, an associate of Carl Kretzschmar's, then proposed a compromise of $175 a month for a period of 16 years and free lights for Mrs. Kretzschmar and certain provisions in the event additional power equipment were to be installed. Else foreclosure and no lease. At the next meeting of the council the Schreiter proposal was laid on the table and the matter referred to the city attorney.

Court Action

The city attorney, a Mr. McIntyre, acted. Reported The News:

"The city won the first round in the legal contest which is being waged by the owners of the dam here to have the city's lease to the power broken. The matter came before Judge Watts in Chambers in Crookston Tuesday on application made by city attorney McIntyre to restrain the foreclosure of the mortgage upon the property and this was granted." In the hearing it was contended by the owners of the property that the lease was illegal because Mr. Kretzschmar had been Mayor when the city had entered into the contract. There was talk of appeal.

But no appeal was made and in the July 23, 1903 issue, progress toward the settlement of the differences was reported. The agreement as worked out provided for a rental of $80 a month to November 1904 and from then on, for a period of twenty-two years, a monthly rental of $175. The city obtained a few other concessions. The new agreement was finally signed in October.

Bringing the story down to a more recent period, at the expiration of this lease the city bought the dam and now owns it, and with no mortgage to worry about.

Freeman Gets Backing of DFL for Governor

Minneapolis Attorney Is Endorsed at State Convention on Sunday

Orville L. Freeman of Minneapolis emerged from a three-way fight at Albert Lea Sunday as the Minnesota Democratic-Farmer-Labor party's endorsed candidate for governor.

A roll call gave Freeman 282 votes, slightly more than the two-thirds (271) votes he needed.

Trailing him were Probate Judge Douglas Hunt, Montevideo, with 94½, and Sidney Goff, St. Paul, with 28½.

In a show of harmony, Mrs. Douglas Hunt, national committeewoman, who had favored an open primary, presented Freeman with a kiss and a $25 check as his first campaign contribution.

Her husband quickly pledged full support for the convention choice.

Lieutenant governor — Karl Rolvaag, Minneapolis.

Secretary of state — Koscie Marsh, St. Paul.

Attorney general—Miles Lord, Minneapolis.

C. & C. Assn. Plans Annual Meeting with Township Officials

Several reports were submitted at the luncheon meeting of the Civic and Commerce association last Thursday noon in the Rex Cafe, with President Art Christianson conducting the session.

County Engineer Joseph Seidel proposed that another in the series of annual spring discussion meetings with township board members be arranged by the C. & C. association, and it was indicated that this would be done.

In the absence of Ken Gustafson, general chairman, Dr. O. D. Beich reported briefly on plans for the 50th anniversary celebration, and stated that responsibility for handling the many details involved were being divided among the various local organizations.

It was reported that a representative of a parking meter company had been conferring here relative to the possible installation of meters in this city, and President Christianson suggested that local merchants should be prepared to express their views for or against the proposal.

Secretary Roche distributed cards listing the dates on which local business places will remain closed in 1954. The schedule provides for remaining closed Good Friday, April 16, between the hours of 12 noon and 3 p. m., as has been the practice for a number of years past.

Youth Sentenced in $925 Burglary; Loot Is Recovered

Jerry Tygeson, U. of M. Student, Confesses to Breakin at Pharmacy

Brought by Sheriff Arthur Rambeck before Judge Paul A. Lundgren in district court here Monday night, Jerry Tygeson, of this city, 19-year-old student at the University of Minnesota, pleaded guilty to a charge of burglary, committed the night of March 18 at the Thief River Pharmacy, when between $925 and $950 was taken, of which $904 was recovered.

The youth was sentenced to the Youth Conservation commission to serve an indeterminate sentence of one to five years at the St. Cloud reformatory. Authorities indicated that this was the first time he had run afoul of the law.

Tygeson, who had been employed at the Pharmacy at intervals during the past year or two, was arrested last Thursday in his dormitory at the university by Sheriff Rambeck and Fred Nelson, investigator with the state crime bureau.

A search of his room revealed $676 in currency and silver hidden in a foot locker. Rambeck stated that the youth then confessed to the burglary, and on being brought back to Thief River Falls showed where $228 in checks had been discarded in a strongbox at the city dump, this being recovered.

Tygeson told the sheriff that he had no accomplices in the burglary. He had been at home for his spring vacation at the time, and said that he had taken the money to Minneapolis in a suitcase, having secured a ride in an automobile with a friend.

"The Robe" Opens Tonight at Falls in CinemaScope

Movie Based on Incident of Crucifixion to Be Presented in New Medium

"The Robe," the first CinemaScope production to be presented in this area, will open a week's run this evening (Wednesday) in the Falls theatre. The film, produced at a cost of $5,000,000, is hailed as a milestone in motion picture history.

The new medium of CinemaScope achieves lifelike depth and realism thru the use of anamorphic lens, stereophonic sound and a greatly enlarged screen.

Included in the brilliant cast of "The Robe," which is based on the popular novel of that name by Lloyd C. Douglas, are Richard Burton, noted English actor; Jean Simmons, Victor Mature as Demetrius, the Greek slave; and Dean Jaggers.

All the great scenes which have kept the Douglas masterpiece on best-seller lists for ten years are included in the film. "The Robe" is the story of what happened to the cloak Christ wore at the Crucifixion.

The story unfolds before the unforgettable and matchless settings of the Roman slave market where Marcellus first acquires Demetrius; the glittering palace of the emporer at Rome and cliffside villa at Capri; the hill of Calvary where the crucifixion takes place; the catacombs of Rome; and the city of Jerusalem as it appeared that first Palm Sunday.

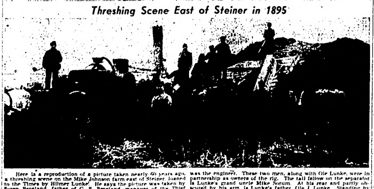
Threshing Scene East of Steiner in 1895



Here is a reproduction of a picture taken nearly 60 years ago, a threshing scene on the Mike Johnson farm east of Steiner, loaned to the Times by Hilmer Lunke. He says the picture was taken by Soren Bergland, father of G. S. Bergland, manager of the Thief River Creamery.

Standing on the platform with a flue cleaner in his hand is Hans Knutson, Lunke's grandfather. John Sorum at the throttle was the engineer. These two men, along with Ole Lunke, were in partnership as owners of the rig. The tall fellow on the separator is Lunke's grand uncle Mike Sorum. At his rear and partly obscured by his arm, is Lunke's father, Ole J. Lunke. Standing by the engine is Mike Johnson and on the tank wagon is Uncle John Knutson, still living northeast of Thief River Falls. Anybody care to argue about the identification?

CONGRESSIONAL Quiz

Q—What are the largest committees in Congress—that is, the ones with the most members?

A—The Appropriations Committees of both houses have the most members assigned to them. The Senate group has 23 members, and at present includes 12 Republicans and 11 Democrats. The House Committee has 50 Representatives, divided 30-20 in favor of the GOP. Total committee membership is determined by the Legislative Reorganization Act of 1946, but party ratios on committees are subject to informal agreement among leaders, then ratified by vote of the chamber.

Q—Does the Senate regularly revise its rules?

A—There has been no general revision of Senate rules in this century and only four in U. S. history, according to a Jan. 18 statement of Sen. Clinton P. Anderson (D., N. M.), who is co-sponsoring a resolution that would make it easier to invoke cloture (limit debate.) Anderson said general revisions were made in 1806, 1820, 1868 and 1884. The Constitution gives each house of Congress the right to formulate its own rules.

Q—I notice that many Members of the House have introduced bills providing for a memorial to Christopher Columbus, and that each Member offered his own bill. Why couldn't they have introduced just one multi-sponsored measure, as Senators do?

A—The interpretation placed on the Rules of the House of Representatives prevents multi-sponsored bills in that chamber. A special House committee unanimously recommended in 1909 that the sometimes-used practice should not be allowed, and the House adopted its recommendation, according to an annotation, clause 4, rule XXII. By March 8 of this year, 77 Representatives had introduced measures for a Columbus memorial.

DALE CARNEGIE

★ AUTHOR OF "HOW TO STOP WORRYING AND START LIVING" ★

ROBERT S. BARRETT, 3861 W. Lake Road, Erie, Pennsylvania, had been in bed with a rheumatic heart for about a year and his mind was filled with troubles. Troubles, they say, are like babies—the more you nurse them, the bigger they get. And he really nursed them! He was so low that he became obsessed with the idea that he was a burden on his mother and father. He could see his mother shortening her own life as she walked up and down the stairs waiting on him hand and foot.

CARNEGIE

Everything looked black. On many a night before falling asleep, he would say to himself, "Robert, why don't you die—get it over with." And on several occasions he contemplated suicide.

Then one day he heard a talk on the radio by Dr. Norman Vincent Peale of New York City. The gist of it was "Your life is what your thoughts make it. If you force yourself to be cheerful, you'll automatically be cheerful." He figured he had nothing to lose—so he tried it. It revolutionized his life.

Instead of thinking of himself all the time, he did his best to cheer up his mother. He laughed and joked with her. And this gave him an entirely new outlook on life. Four years later he got out of bed. He declares that he now is probably one of the most cheerful guys in the world. Every day is a beautiful day to him—rain or shine. And there isn't a day goes by that he does not thank God for giving him a chance to make use of cheerfulness.

The district convention will be held in Stephen. The date has not been decided but it is hoped that there may be a Grand Diamond contest at this convention.

A representative of the Lift Ease Corporation was in the city and contacted officers of the W. C. T. U. The April meeting will be held Friday evening, April 23rd at 8 o'clock in the Salvation Army Hall.

The last week of April has been designated as Alcohol Education week and Gov. Elmer Anderson has issued a proclamation asking all schools, churches and organizations to observe this week by special classes and other means to inform young and old alike of the danger in using alcoholic beverages.

The American Cancer Society today announced the award of five grants-in-aid at the University of Minnesota and at St. Mary's College, Winona.

Researchers receiving these these awards, totaling $38,720 are: Dr. J. J. Bittner, professor of cancer biology, University of Minnesota, $10,000; Dr. Helmut R. Gutmann, assistant professor of physiological chemistry, University of Minnesota, $15,000; Dr. K. W. Stenstrom, director of radiation therapy, University of Minnesota, $6,220; and Brother George Pahl, professor of zoology, St. Mary's College, $3,500.

The one-year awards, effective June 30, are among 264 grants-in-aid totaling $1,954,273 awarded to 107 institutions in 36 states and the District of Columbia from funds raised during the 1953 Cancer Crusade.

This is considerable increase over 1953 awards. In 1953, the American Cancer Society made 253 grants-in-aid totaling $1,764,210. Increased grants were made possible by increase in funds raised in 1953. However, the American Cancer Society announced, "Many awards for worthwhile projects had to be rejected because of lack of funds."

Tax on Telephone Service Reduced

Excise Tax Now 10 Pct. on Local and Distant Calls

Enactment of the United States government excise reduction act of 1954 reduces the federal excise tax on both local and long distance telephone service to 10 per cent, it was announced today by A. J. Rau, manager of the local exchange of the N. W. Bell Telephone Co.

Rau stated: "The federal excise tax, which our company is required to collect from telephone customers and remit to the government, has been 15 per cent on local telephone service and on long distance calls of less than 25 cents, and 25 per cent on long distance calls of 25 cents and over.

"This change in the federal excise tax rate does not in any way reduce the company's cost of providing telephone service, but it does reduce the cost of the service to telephone users. We estimate that the annual tax saving to Northwestern Bell's customers in Minnesota will amount to about $5,300,000."

The reduced excise tax rate of 10 per cent applies on service charges billed on and after April 1, 1954 which were incurred on and after February 1, 1954.

Clear Hotel Owner in Crookston Fire

No Negligence Revealed in Testimony at Inquest

The two-day coroner's inquest into the Northwood Inn fire at Crookston March 26 that took eight lives ended late Friday with the jury reporting the deaths caused by the effects of the fire and that no negligence was involved.

The jury found that the Inn owners, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Hamre, had complied with all orders of the deputy state fire marshal.

Polk County Attorney F. H. Stadsvold said 28 witnesses were called, including relatives of the dead, doctors and dentists who identified the dead and firemen, hotel guests and others who were connected with the fire. Coroner Dr. H. E. Nelson presided.

Deputy Fire Marshal C. H. Cherry, Detroit Lakes, testified Friday that he had found everything in order at the Inn during an early March inspection. On his last inspection Cherry said he found the housekeeping good and suggested no changes. Previous recommendations had been carried out, he added.

Two TRF Men at Meeting in Fargo

Don M. Olson and Eldon Harbott motored to Fargo Sunday where they attended the Mastercraft club annual meeting. The club is an organization of sales people and owners of Coast-to-Coast stores. The members were given a preview of new items of merchandise for Coast-to-Coast stores in 1954.

For the 32nd consecutive year, a new high was set in sales of liquified-petroleum gas. The 1953 sales soared about 10 per cent over 1952 records, to bring the total to an estimated 4,920,000,000 gallons.

Freeman Is Given Endorsement for Governor by DFL

missioner — Hjalmar Petersen, Askov.

Omitted from the list was the name of Clifford Peterson, incumbent railroad and warehouse commissioner who seeks re-election, but did not ask convention endorsement.

The 35-year-old Freeman, Minneapolis attorney who lost to Gov. Anderson two years ago, got a 13-to-4 recommendation from the convention endorsement committee.

In a fiery address to the convention before the balloting, Freeman said, "If you want me, I feel it is a duty to serve. I sense a rising surge of spirit. This is a battle we can most certainly win.

"The Republican crusade has turned out to be a barbecue—they are picking the bones of the common people."

Hunt, in a following speech, called the farm issue the vital one, warned that net farm income is in danger of being "cut to zero," and added that state and national policies no longer can be divorced."

Goff suggested that "a new face" may be necessary in the coming election.

"I believe," he declared, "that the three of us (himself, Hunt and Freeman) could spread the gospel throughout Minnesota much more effectively. This is not a one-man job."

Goff, one of those favoring an open primary, cited his own role in "pointing up the mess in Minnesota" and criticized a GOP administration which, he said, has been "so long asleep."

Urging Freeman's endorsement were such delegates as Byron G. Allen, national committeeman, from Detroit Lakes, and Mrs. Eugenie Anderson, Red Wing.

Among others addressing the convention were U. S. Senator Hubert H. Humphrey and Mrs. Eugenie Anderson of Red Wing. Representing Pennington county at the convention were Roy E. Wiseth and Carl R. Anderson.

Final Services Conducted For Leo B. Budahl

He was united in marriage to Hannah Naseth at Kenyon, Minn., October 22, 1931. They have resided at Faribault for the past 15 years.

He is survived by his wife and one son A/2c Leon of Harlingen Texas Air Base; also by his mother, Mrs. Emma Budahl of Erskine; Edwin Budahl of Albert Lea; Mrs. M. C. Gulbranson of this city; Alf of Wauwatosa, Wis.; Palmer of Wisconsin Rapids; Helmer of St. Hilaire; Ernest of Erskine and Mrs. Lloyd Walstad of Winger.

Coya Knutson May File for Congress

State Representative Coya Knutson of Oklee announced Sunday at Albert Lea, where she was attending the state Democratic - Farmer - Labor convention, that she would enter the race for the DFL nomination for the Ninth district Congress post if favorable sentiment continues to increase.

Political Roundup

By Arthur Naftalin

Now that the Democrat Farmer-Laborites have held their state convention, Minnesota voters should brace themselves for a seven-month seige of campaigning that promises to produce more than the usual amount of political fireworks.

The DFL'ers wound up their convention on a note of harmony that surprised everyone. An opening coolness to the idea of endorsing Orville L. Freeman again for the Governorship gave way to a mounting enthusiasm as the convention progressed, culminating in an harmonious acceptance of a full slate-of-candidates for state office.

An effort to get the DFL to hold an open primary, with no candidates having the blessing of the convention, was turned back, after which point the meeting seemed to drift without direction, but in the final hours the delegates roused themselves to support the idea of endorsements, and what had promised to be bitter-end feuding turned into a family love-feast.

State Struggle Uphill

DFL'ers are convinced that 1954 presents strong opportunities for victory in statewide contests. The Party leadership is confident that Senator Hubert H. Humphrey can turn back the challange of State Treasurer Val Bjornson, the virtually certain Republican nominee.

The Party is less confident that it can elect Freeman in his contest with Governor C. Elmer Anderson, but its leaders feel that, while Freeman's struggle is an uphill one, he has a chance, if the trend this year runs strongly in the Democrats' favor.

It was clear from the convention proceedings that the DFL is counting heavily on the disaffection in farm centers over the national Republican administration's farm policy to turn the tide in the direction of the Democrats. It was, in fact, this sense that victory in '54 is possible that propelled the convention in the direction of a peaceful and unified windup.

Rolvaag vs. Petersen

More than ordinary interest will attach to the contest for the lieutenant-governorship. The D-F-L endorsement of Karl Rolvaag, the Party's retiring state chairman, pits him against State Representative P. Kenneth Peterson, who resigned a few months ago as state Republican chairman.

In their official capacities as party chairmen the two men have frequently shared platforms in bi-partisan debates, and a score of friendly rivalry has developed between them.

Both Rolvaag and Peterson are able speakers, and, because of their leading party roles, will be sought as speakers more frequently than is usually the case with candidates for the lieutenant-governorship contest.

Thus, there are three statewide contests that are likely to produce strong interest: the Humphrey-Bjornson Senatorial race, the Freeman - Anderson Governorship clash, and the Rolvaag-Peterson lieutenant-governorship contest.

Peterson vs. Petersen

The weeks ahead will decide how many fights will develop within the DFL and GOP primary elections for the nominations. The DFL primary could develop into something of a slugfest, if one or more of the disappointed office-seekers who failed to get an endorsement should file.

One interesting primary fight is almost certain to develop betweeen former Governor Hjalmar Petersen, who received the DFL endorsement, and Clifford C. Peterson, a DFL incumbent on the railroad and warehouse commission. The convention completely ignored Clifford Peterson, proceeding to the endorsement of Hjalmer Petersen by way of indicating the delegates' rejection of their own incumbent.

Another possible contest for a DFL nomination may come over the Governorship, if Sydney Goff, a St. Paul attorney, should decide to challange Freeman. As the convention adjourned, it was not clear what Goff's decision on this score would be.

Congressional Fights Assured

It is on the Congressional front that the DFL optimism is the strongest. In all districts, excepting the fifth, a candidate has now been advanced. Robert Olson, farm leader from Waseca, has the DFL endorsement against the long-time incumbent August Andresen. In the Second, Harry Seiben will carry the DFL endorsement against GOP indorsement against GOP incumbent Joseph P. O'Hara. In the Third, Fourth, Sixth, and Eighth districts the DFL incumbents (Roy Weir, Eugene McCarthy, Fred Marshall, and John Blatnik) are all endorsed again, and in each case GOP opposition is assured.

The DFL may have to contend with two primary fights in the Congressional races. In the Seventh district, the convention strongly urged Judge Douglas P. Hunt of Montevideo to accept the endorsement and run against James Youngdale, who was nominated in 1952 but repudiated by the Party leadership.

A second possible primary fight was developing in the Ninth district where both State Representative Coya Knutson, of Oklee, and former State Representative Curtiss Olson, of Roseau, who had the nomination in '52 and '50, have indicated their intention of seeking the nomination.

There were 1,575 oil producers among the new "wildcat" wells drilled in 1953. This is a fine record of success; but oil men drilled 11,062 wells to find these few producing wells.

To bring oil to Americans in 1953, the oil industry drilled approximately one mile of hole every 14 minutes.

It's spring cleaning time! If you're planning to start your spring cleaning soon, we have a bulletin at the extension office that surely will help you. It's called "First Aid For Your Home," and it includes care and repair information about windows, walls, floors, and furnishings, as well as the care of household metals, utensils, and electric cords. If you would like to have a copy of this booklet, you may pick up your copy at the County extension office. It's Extension Bulletin No. 265.

Here is an exerpt from "First Aid for Your Home" on washing curtains and draperies: Cotton Curtains: Shake to remove dust, then soak in milk suds to loosen the dirt. Wash sheer curtains in a cheese cloth or mesh bag. Prepare hot suds for white curtains, lukewarm suds for colored curtains. To give body without stiffness add boiled starch (⅛ cup starch to 2 quarts boiling water) to ½ tub rinse water. This amount of starch is sufficient for two or three pairs of curtains. Wrap curtains in towels until they are right dampness for ironing, or put on a stretcher.

Rayon Curtains: If washable, shake and then plunge into warm suds. To prevent stretching when lifting curtains, support them with hands. Rinse in warm water. Squeeze between towels. Wrap in bath towels until right dampness for pressing. Watch out for water spots which are likely to appear if curtains are dried before sprinkling. Adjust curtain stretcher carefully to prevent too much strain on the rayon fabric, which is weak and may tear when damp.

Washable Draperies: Shake and brush to remove surface dust before washing in milk warm suds. For easy handling quick drying, and fewer color and shrinkage problems, it might be necessary to remove the linings. This will be simple if the linings are whipped on by hand. Wash one or more draperies at a time, working quickly to avoid color troubles. Release wringer so rolls are not too tight for draperies. Roll the draperies between bath towels or hang on the line until desired dampness for pressing. Frequent brushing, shaking, and airing will stretch time between launderings. Switching the draperies at the windows will prolong their serives.

Maybe you're planning to make new curtains and draperies for your home. If you are, Extension Bulletin No. 264, "Selecting and Making Curtains and Draperies" is for you. This bulletin will give you ideas for changing the window size and shape, fabrics for curtains and draperies, as well as full instructions for making them. For your copy of this helpful bulletin, please call at the Extension Office.

I hope that you will be down to the office to pick up your copy of these bulletins.

This community was shocked on Saturday afternoon when they heard of the sudden death of one of our rural neighbors, Ben Eliason. Gust Johnson, another neighbor came to call on him and found him collapsed at the wood pile. Investigations proved that he had been dead for some time. Coroner Collins of Middle River estimated about 21 hours. Mr. Eliason was 64 years old and has lived on his farm south of town as long back as we can remember. His two daughters, Olive and Evelyn and his former wife, Mrs. Emma Eliason arrived Sunday evening from Minneapolis to attend the funeral and make arrangements. Funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Baptist church in Karlstad with Rev. Riveness officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Johnson were Sunday afternoon visitors at the George Wikstrom home in Karlstad. Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Hack and girls of Thief River Falls and Mrs. Conrad Stallock also visited at the Wikstrom home that afternoon.

Grace Larson visited at the Oscar Olson home near Strathcona last Wednesday after school.

The Strandquist Livestock association had their annual meeting last Tuesday with a record crowd of about 150 farmers attending. Carl Spong and Bob Moose gave very interesting talks about cattle and sheep marketing and a report was given by the treasurer, Nels Sundberg. Business had increased considerably over the preceding year with the patronage from the farmers better than ever. After all losses were paid there was still several hundred dollars to go into the reserve fund. Credit for this record goes to the good management of the association. Pictures were shown by the county agent and the new board member elected was Art Anderson, who replaced Christian Pladsen. After the meeting lunch was served to all present and several prizes were given away by the businessmen.

The mechanical fuel pump, which supplemented the vacuum tank, led to many improvements in motor vehicles. More than 60,000,000 are in use today and more than 115,000,000 have been made since 1927.

The first chinchillas were carefully transported from South America to California in 1923. Now chinchillas are raised by thousands of U. S. "ranchers"—some of them in city cellars and backyards.

Many Phases of Work on Hospital Addition Now Going Forward

Rapid progress continues on construction of the new Northwestern Hospital addition. Harold W. Peterson, administrator, reports that the state plumbing inspector has made hydrostatic tests of the installed piping system and has found it in perfect shape. The tests included the wastes, vents and hot water system. Insulation of the system is proceeding at a rapid rate as a result of the inspection.

Men from the Lagerquist Elevator Company of Minneapolis are on the job preparing the door frames for the elevators and dumbwaiters. They will soon be engaged in digging a 35 foot deep hole in the bottom of the shaft to prepare for the oil hydraulic system. It is, of course, too early to put in the elevators themselves.

The rough room partitions throughout the building are now 50% complete. Tiling of the kitchen and laundry areas is now in progress. Metal lathers will be here Monday to begin setting lath in the ground floor area. Two weeks later plasterers will begin their work. Because of the advancement of construction on the ground floor it is probable that lathing and plastering will proceed from the ground floor upwards rather than downwards which is the more common procedure. The roof insulation covering five areas in the new structure is all in place and little remains to be done along that line other than sanding of the roofs and placing of the coping.

At present there are 35 men working on the job. Plastering and lathing will bring an additional 15 men within two or three weeks.

Northern Woodwork Company of Thief River Falls has the sub-contracting work for furnishing of all windows and frames, all doors, counters, cabinets and shelving. Officials of the company state that this is one of their largest jobs in several years. A carload of select red birch is on order for this work.

Completion date of the new structure is August 15th.

Beginning Sunday afternoon, April 17th, Harold W. Peterson will conduct tours through the new hospital addition. Those interested are asked to contact the hospital office and arrangements will be made.

The government geologist who prophesied in 1910 that our crude oil reserves did not exceed seven billion barrels has missed it by about 60 billion, to date. And today, new reserves of oil are found faster than oil is taken from the ground.

Six Teams Signed up in R. R. Valley Baseball League

Henry Hanson of Viking Heads Loop; G. LaFond of Argyle Named Secretary

Six teams—Crookston, Thief River Falls, Viking, Argyle, Red Lake Falls, and Alvarado—were represented at the Red River Valley baseball league organizational meeting held in Crookston on Friday evening.

Shelly and Nielsville, members of the league last year, were not represented and as a result the league will operate as a six-team loop this season. The league officials decided to leave the Shelly and Nielsville league berths open until the April 12th deadline.

Officers elected for the 1954 season were Henry Hanson of Viking, president; Howard Johnston of Red Lake Falls, vice president; Gale LaFond of Argyle, secretary-treasurer; and Doug Tegtmeier of Thief River Falls, publicity director.

The next meeting of the league will be held on April 13th at Thief River Falls, and at this meeting a tentative 1954 schedule will be drafted.

The Event of the Week

The week's most popular athletic event will be the banquet, honoring the 1953-54 Prowler athletes, that will be held in the Zion Lutheran Church parlors on Thursday evening, April 8th, at 6:15 p. m.

The banquet will be highlighted by a talk by John Mariucci, the University of Minnesota hockey coach, and while the colorful Maroosh, a famed performer with Minnesota football and hockey teams, and later a standout defenseman with the Chicago Blackhawks, will be an attraction, the feature of the gathering will be the Prowlers themselves.

The athletic records of the Prowlers this past year has been remarkable, for during the 1953-54 season the blue-and-gold squads have won the following honors: state high school hockey title; eigth regional football championship; 31st district basketball championship; 31st district baseball championship; and the 31st district track and field championship.

It is hoped that a large crowd of fans will be in attendance at the banquet on Thursday evening, the boys deserve all the compliments that they will get.

It's a Natural

The city's singles bowling tournament has reached the quarter-finals, and of the matches that are scheduled for Sunday afternoon at Irv Wilson's Pla-Mor alleys, the duel between lefty Phil LeGault and Shorty Perkins shapes up as being a "naural." The rivalry between the two is extra keen, being a carry-over from golf and baseball competition, and the odds on Sunday's six-game total-pins match are just about even. Phil contends that his experience and bowling know-how will give him a win over such a youngster as Shorty. It'll be a case of youth versus age, and power versus skill, and the winner will enter the semi-finals against either Wally DuChamp or Gordy Reierson.

Wally DuChamp, on his record and bowling average, has been installed as the tournament favorite, but the veteran didn't appear very impressive on Sunday against Elmer Poole. Wally was running into too many splits, and if he continues to bowl like that against Gordy, he, Wally, may have trouble.

Incidentally, another top-flight match next Sunday could be that Del Harbott and Dr. Jim Disse encounter. Del, who is the city's best strike-ball bowler when he has his hook breaking into the pins, will be up against an improving bowler in Dr. Jim.

Hudson Bay Hockey

A group of us made the 160-mile trip to Winnipeg on Monday to witness the Allan Cup playdown hockey game between the Winnipeg Maroons and the Moose Jaw Millers at the Amphitheatre rink. The game, which was the fourth in the best-of-seven series, ended in a 3-all tie after ten minutes of overtime. The fifth game of the series will be played on Wednesday night, and the sixth game is slated for Friday, with both games being played in Winnipeg, face-off time at 8:30 p. m.

The Maroons have won two games and tied one, for a total of five points; while Moose Jaw has won one game and tied one, having three points. The team that gets eight points, with two points for a win and one point for a tie, wins the playdown series and will enter the western Canada finals against the winner of the Nelson vs. Princeton series.

The first period of Monday night's game was a bruiser, with some of the roughest hockey we have witnessed. The Moose Jaw Millers, with a big and burly team, appeared to operate on the basis of grinding the Maroons into the ice. The Millers did get the first goal, scoring after thirty-five minutes of scoreless hockey, and they held that 1 to 0 lead until the third period when the Maroons scored twice.

We didn't think we'd ever see a game where Bill Juzda and Ward Brandow would be just average-sized players; but against such hulking Moose Jaw Millers as Dale Anderson, Don Feltcher, Bruce Lea, and Bill Heindl, Juzda and Brandow were "small."

The two goalies, Don Collins of the Maroons and Bob Lalonde of the Millers, were 'tops', with Collins having a slight edge. On the attack, Bill Robertson and Angus Juckes were the most effective. Robinson was his usual shifty and stick-handling self in eluding the hulking Millers, and once he stick-handled through the entire Moose Jaw team only to be stopped by goalie Lalonde at the goal-crease.

And speaking of hockey players, Danny Summers, defenseman with the Thieves last season, was in town on Thursday and Friday, being enroute to Winnipeg after completing hockey play in the east. Summers, who was called Bill Winters when he played here, is a member of the Eddie Shore hockey organization, and this year he divided his hockey by beginning the season with the Syracuse club, and finishing up with the Springfield team. Danny avers that he will not play league hockey with Shroe next year, and that he would like to return here.

Beaver Trapping Season Open from April 10 to May 9

Conservation Chief States Mud Lake Refuge Will Be Open to Trappers

Minnesota's season for the trapping of beaver will open April 10 and continue through May 9, it was announced today by Conservation Commissioner Chester S. Wilson. Trapping will be permitted from sunrise to sunset each day, and not more than ten beaver may be taken by any one licensed trapper during the season.

Beaver may be taken anywhere in the state, except in certain townships in Cook county, state and federal game refuges, state parks and public hunting grounds, with a few exceptions.

Federal game refuges open to the trapping of beaver are the Upper Mississippi, Mud Lake, Tamarac, and Rice Lake, where populations have increased "in excess of the capacity of such refuges to support the species."

All beaver taken by licensed trappers must be submitted to the inspection of the game warden or other authorized agent of the director of game & fish for sealing as provided by law not later than 5 days after the close of the season. Beaver must be submitted with tail intact and attached to the hide.

No traps shall be set in, upon or closer than six feet from the water line of any beaver house. No person shall molest or damage any beaver house or dam.

$600,375 Federal Grant Allotted to Red Lake School

The U. S. Office of Education in Washington, D. C. has approved a $600,375 grant for construction of a new elementary school and an addition to the high school building at Red Lake. Sen. Edward J. Thye was informed Thursday.

Thye said the grant was made under the provisions of a law which makes available special funds to school districts which are over-burdened because of federal government activities. The activities in the case of Red Lake consists of tax exemptions on land on which Indians reside.

The grant provides $490,375 for the new school buildings and the remainder for the addition to the high school.

Curtiss Olson to Be DFL Aspirant for Congressman

Curtiss T. Olson of Detroit Lakes, formerly of Roseau, announced last week that he will seek the nomination for Ninth district congressman on the Democratic-Farmer-Labor ticket. He had been a candidate for the same office in 1950 and 1952, losing to Rep. Harold C. Hagen, incumbent. He said he will work, if elected, for a program that will guarantee to the farmer a minimum of 90 per cent of parity prices.

County Extension Program Planned

Meeting Held Wednesday to Map 1954-55 Projects

The Pennington county extension service program planning meeting was held Wednesday, March 31st, reports County Agent William Penning.

Interested farmers and homemakers were invited by the extension committee to represent the areas of extension work.

Among those attending were Roland Abraham, district county agent supervisor; Miss Evelyn Morrow, district home agent supervisor; and Harold Anderson, district 4-H club supervisor, all from the University of Minnesota.

The group of about 40 farmers and homemakers, was divided into five groups, and each one brought forth problems they felt were important enough to be considered in the 1954-55 program of work.

Many worthwhile proposals were brought up and a good basis for the 1954-55 extension program has been made. The Pennington county agents are appreciative of the fine cooperation from the county farmers and homemakers, said Penning.

At the close of the meeting, lunch was served by the Pennington county extension home council.

Secy. Erza T. Benson Defends Program in Grand Forks Address

Ezra Taft Benson, United States secretary of agriculture, told a Grand Forks audience of 5,000 Thursday night that flexible farm price supports had general acceptance in 1948 and "should still make sense today."

Carrying his fight for that program into the nation's top agricultural region—the heart of the Red River Valley—the secretary spoke as the climax of the opening day of the Greater Grand Forks Farm & Home Show in the University fieldhouse.

While his speech was interrupted six times by applause and was marked at the end by a 20-second period of handclapping, there were a few scattered indications that his arguments had fallen on some ears that did not give them acceptance.

Secretary Benson, whose farm program calls for abandonment of the present rigid supports, said former President Truman, in his message of May 14, 1948, had stated the case for flexible supports, "as well as anyone had stated it," when he said:

"Many shifts in production will have to be made and flexible price supports will help us make them in an orderly manner. This will require authority to make prompt adjustments in support levels in line with current and prospective supply and demand conditions."

The secretary said some of the Congressmen who wrote the flexible support provisions into the 1948 law "now seek to make it appear that this administration is attempting to foist upon our farmers a brand new, hastily-conceived program which would completely disrupt our agricultural economy."

He said that "what made sense in 1948 to both major parties, the President of the United States, virtually every member of Congress and all of the major farm organizations, should still make sense today."

The flexible price supports were written into the farm acts in 1948 and 1949 but they have not gone into effect because subsequent Congressional action continued warborn high rigid supports for major crops.

Cattle Feeders Day at Northwest School April 14th

Program at 1:30 to Be Followed by Inspection of Cattle Feeding Yards

The annual Cattle Feeders' Day will be held at Northwest School, Crookston, on Thursday, April 15. The program will be held in the school auditorium at 1:30 p. m. followed by a tour of the cattle feeding yards.

The results of the 1953-54 feeding trials and a summary of the results, to date, will be explained by H. D. Fausch, in charge of the feeding research program at the Northwest Experiment Station. Other speakers on the program will be T. H. Fenske, assistant dean of the Institute of Agriculture, University of Minnesota, St. Paul; E. F. Ferrin, head of the division of animal husbandry; and Lyle Currie, executive secretary of the Red River Valley Potato Grower's association, East Grand Forks.

The current potato feeding trial at the Northwest Experiment Station, under the direction of H. D. Fausch, animal husbandman, is the fifth in a series of winter potato feeding trials in which whole fresh potatoes have been fed to beef cattle. In addition to these, two summer pasture trials have been conducted in which dehydrated ("freeze-dried") potatoes have been fed to beef steers on pasture. In the trial to be reported April 15, the rations used included potatoes as a feed accompanied by oats straw, grain, soybean meal, and urea.

T. M. McCall, superintendent of the experiment station, anticipates that there will be a good turnout for this for this Feeders' Day because of the increased interest again this year in utilizing potatoes as a livestock feed. Already many beef cattle have been put on feed on potato rations throughout the Valley sections of Minnesota and North Dakota. The research in potato feeding conducted at the Northwest Experiment Station has done much to establish potato feeding procedures and rations which make practicable the utilization of surplus and low-grade potatoes as livestock feed.

3-months Traffic Toll in State 133

45 Fatalities in March, Compared to 30 Year Ago

Minnesota's traffic death toll for the first three months of 1954 has soared to 133, with 45 fatalities reported to the state highway department during the month of March. This figure, which was 50 per cent over the 30 deaths last March, was the second highest recorded during any March of the past ten years, being exceeded only in 1947, when 49 traffic deaths were reported during the third month of that year.

Nine multiple-death accidents, resulting in 19 fatalities, were a major factor in the month's toll. Four of these accidents were collisions between motor vehicles, another four resulted in death to eight motorists when cars ran off the roadway or were struck at railroad grade crossings and the other accident brought death to two youngsters when they were struck down by a hit-run motorist while walking on a sidewalk.

Many of the month's accidents were due, in part, to failure of motorists to drive according to the unfavorable conditions which prevailed during much of the month. Several accidents occured during snow storms, when visibility was extremely limited, and many other fatalities resulted from cars skidding on icy roadways or running off roadways onto soft shoulders.

"A review of these 45 March fatalities," said A. V. Rohweder, president of the Minnesota Safety Council, "would substantiate the council's statement that 'Safety is You' and that most of these tragic accidents could have been avoided if motorists had exercised a minimum of caution and operated their motor vehicles in a sensible manner."

Compare These Modern Combines to the Machines of "The Good Old Days"

Compare these modern machines with the threshing rigs of yester years, like those our fathers operated back in 1895. Those were the improved models at that time, much better than that first threshing machine that was shipped into St. Hilaire in 1891.

That was a partnership rig owned by my late grandfather, Hans Knutson, my father, the late Ole J. Lunke, and my grand uncle, John A. Sorum, all of the Holt community.

This first steam outfit was shipped in from Hillsboro, No. Dak. Some time in August of 1891 they started threshing near St. Hilaire and kept going from place to place. As this was a stationary engine, it and the separator were pulled around with several yokes of oxen. It was a hand fed operation and the straw had to be bucked away from the thresher with oxen.

To the best of my knowledge this was the first thresher in our part of the country. They kept working as they were able thruout the winter and didn't finish their run until the next March when they were working east of Middle River near what was then the Humulka post office. After a few weeks at home they went back up on the ridge northeast of Middle River where they then sawed lumber far into the summer.

You can imagine how the men appreciated the greatly improved machine they acquired in 1895 with its Buffalo-Pitts traction steam engine and the larger improved thresher equipped with a straw carrier.

In those days there were no roads and wet weather was of course frequently encountered. Threshing generally was an all-winter occupation and that often meant shoveling the grain stacks out of the snow. A large threshing crew was the common thing. A crew of 20 men required lots of bread and I can recall my mother baking long into the night getting ready for the next days meals.

Already prepared foods were not available in those days and everything had to be cooked. Considering how small the houses were and how little equipment the women had to do with it surely is a wonder that they could feed so many — and so well. They had wood burning stoves and heavy iron kettles, and of course there was no running water.

Just a word about the repair and maintenance of these early machines. Most of the repairing was done at my grandfather's blacksmith shop. I can recall my father telling about one time the counter-shaft of this steam engine had crystallized and broke. It was around 2½ to 3 inches in diameter and possibly four feet long.

There being no repairs available anywhere at that time, the shaft was taken out, and brought over to the blacksmith shop. There it was laid across the bellow forge on some pilot boxes built to carry the shaft in line. The fire was started and the men took turns pumping the bellows, heating the shaft to the proper temperature. My grandfather made what was known as a "butt weld" and that shaft held as long as they had the engine.

That was a far cry from the present method of calling George. And the new self propelled combines with their sealed bearings require little or no attention.

And the new self propelled combines, operated by one man who can go out and harvest and thresh many more bushels in one day than a crew of 30 men and 20 horses which was common when shock threshing was at its height. And when stack threshing was common it would take several days to thresh as much grain as one of these modern self-propelled machines can combine.

WE'RE NOT ON THE ROCKS

Agriculture is not on the rocks and business is not going to pot. Business volume is off, it is true. Farm income is down and unemployment is up. Dollars are not as plentiful as they were at the peak of the war economy. Nevertheless conditions are still good and every indication points to 1954 being far better han an average year.

It is not difficult to understand why we do not continue to move along at peak levels. Our federal government is spending three billion dollars less this year than it spent last year. When the shooting ended our need for munitions dropped off, and we spent less for war machinery and supplies. This resulted in increased unemployment, which in turn has resulted in some hardship. But the overall employment is still at a high level, and the prospect for it to continue at a high level is good.

Agriculture, too, is in the process of adjusting its production back to normal needs. The adjustment is creating some hardship. But certainly the adjustment is necessary. The bottom is not going to drop out of the farmer's market however, and agriculture is not confronted with any problems that cannot be solved with a little common sense.

Business volume is down and business, in all its forms, is tightening its belt. The soft days are a part of the past. The seller's market has ended and from now on the competition for the buyer's dollar is going to be sharp. And not all businesses will survive. But that is a normal condition, and probably a healthier condition than we have had in the lush days of easy profits.

Adjustments are necessary, and they are being made all along the line. Let us pray that we have not degenerated to a point where we cannot get along without the false prosperity of a war. A part of our present hangover is due to the fact that over a period of many years we have been nipping too freely of the bottle of government assistance. This shot-in-the-arm treatment is soothing medicine but it is medicine that does not cure.

It was once said that we have nothing to fear but fear itself. There is some truth and much wisdom in that saying. Certainly we have nothing to fear now except the evil effects of an unwillingness to be realistic. For every discouraging factor in the path ahead of us there are a dozen things in our favor. With just a little confidence in ourselves we have no reason to fear the future.

STANDING FIRM OUR ONLY HOPE

Is Uncle Sam becoming too meddlesome in Indo-China? Many Americans are concerned about the assistance we are giving the French in that area. And Secretary of State Dulles has declared the defense of Southeast Asia against Communist aggression to be a part of our responsibility. The question is a reasonable one. Clearly there is a possibility that we might become involved in the actual fighting as a result of our policy and practices.

Not all observers are agreed as to what is in the making in the stepped-up fighting in Indo-China, but there is considerable support for the conclusion that what is happening there is a planned preliminary to the Geneva conference, scheduled to be held later this month. As the Reds tried desperately to gain a victory for prestige purposes before the cease-fire in Korea, so are the suicidal attacks on a French outpost considered by many to be made in the hope of improving their bargaining position at Geneva.

At Geneva the representatives of our government will face the representatives of Communist China across the conference tables for the first time. The results of this conference may be far-reaching. There is much at stake—much to win and much to lose.

France has taken a terrific beating at home and abroad. The representatives of the French government are not going to be in a strong bargaining position in the coming conference and a major set-back in Indo-China now might lead to their complete withdrawal from Southeast Asia.

These are considerations that have led to our more active support for the French. Whether we are right in coming to their assistance under these circumstances will be determined by the ultimate results. The only alternative it seems is a general withdrawal in that area and a wait for the pressure to be applied at some new point.

We can look back upon a dozen other situations in which our government, in dealing with the Reds, has taken a firm although admittedly dangerous stand. This policy of firmness has had the support of both major parties and both parties support this policy now. Backing away from trouble in the past would have meant Communist domination of all of Europe and Asia. We are satisfied that would not have been the right policy in the past. And we believe it would be wrong policy at the present time.

We'll string along with those who say we should move slowly in admitting to statehood areas far removed from our present 48 states. Once we spread out beyond the present boundaries of the United States we extend citizenship and representation to people whose problems and views are not closely integrated with ours. Some day these differences may not be important but under present world conditions they are important. Once we have acted it will be too late to correct a mistake, and we will lose nothing by proceeding cautiously.

American Airlines officials bluntly told their stewardesses that for them old age retirement would come at the age of 32, and of course the company lost the argument. In attempting to explain their action the officials set forth the qualifications they thought essential for this service. Basic among these, they fumbled, "is an attractive appearance found to a higher degree in young women." As a result of their dumb approach to an exceedingly delicate problem in labor relations, some of the present stewardesses may still be stewardessing fifty years from now.

According to the law of averages the ice should be out of the river by the end of the week (we hope) and then will start the season of worry about crops. At the beginning of the season it will look like we will never get the crop planted. Then we will worry about the things that might happen to keep it from becoming a good crop. And if it does become a good crop we will have the added worry this year of finding storage space for it. We have a long summer ahead of us.

Down in Fargo this week they submitted to popular vote a question as to whether a chemical they are adding to their public water system is good medicine or bad. Democracy is a great thing but we are not sure the need for castor oil is the kind of a question that should be decided by a referendum of the voters.

Ward Nichols has provided new theatre equipment and is opening with a new type of movie at the Falls tonight. It is another example of local business keeping up with what is new and that is the sort of thing that makes for a good community. The moving picture industry has not had an easy time of it in recent years. Television has been a tough competitor. But the industry is fighting its way back with new ideas. It is doing a good job and now is more than holding its own again. Thank you Ward Nichols and congratulations for keeping up with the parade. Best wishes for continued success.

WHAT MINNESOTANS SHOULD KNOW ABOUT STATE FLOWER

Only recently did Minnesota select the Norway pine as our state tree, but for half a century "cypripedium reginae" has been our state flower—otherwise known as the pink and white lady slipper, or the moccasin flower. In 1893 the State Senate adopted, the House concurring, a resolution naming the wild lady slipper or moccasin flower, "cypripedium calceolus," the state flower, though the act was not recorded in the codified Laws of 1893. A few years later it was discovered that no such flower as cypripedium calceolus is native to Minnesota. In 1902 the "c. reginae" was adopted, though again only the Senate journal attests the fact, the act not having been transferred to the statutes. The state flag, adopted in 1893, shows an all-white lady slipper instead of the official pink-and-white flower.

Report on Viking News of the Week

By Mrs. Orville Peters, Phone 4F20

Mr. and Mrs. Hjalmar Stokke report on their trip: We left Viking around the 1st of December. We went as far as Tracy, Minn., the first night where we visited at the Aarthan and Ed Rutz homes for two nights. We met these people in Hot Springs, Ark., last year when we were taking the hot baths. We left Tracy the third morning and arrived at our daughter and son's place in Kansas in the evening where we visited until the 23rd of January when Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kagg and Mr. and Mrs. Hans Olson came and we joined with them to the south. We stopped in Rogers, Ark., where we stayed two nights. As it was Sunday the next day we went to church in the morning and in the afternoon we drove around some lakes also went out to a trout farm where we could have fished if we wanted to without a licence. They furnished the bait and they cleaned and had them ready to fry for a $1.00 a pound. Saw more fish than we ever saw before from little ones to big ones. We left Rogers, Ark., Monday morning and went through the Moston Mountains. It was a pretty drive where we could see anything. In the lightest parts it was foggy. We stopped at a roadside park near Alma, Ark., and ate our lunch. It was nice and warm. We stayed that night in a motel in Pine Bluff, Ark., south of Little Rock. Tuesday morning when we left Pine Bluff it was raining and we could hear frogs croaking. As we drove along we saw lots of cotton fields and negroes. The grain was coming up nice and green. We entered Louisiana about 11 o'clock. We saw lots of cattle. The dandelions were in bloom near Tallulah and we saw our first robin in Louisiana. We stopped and had coffee at a cafe. We did not care much for their coffee as they put hickory into it. We entered Mississippi for the first time about 2:45 o'clock. We stayed overnight at Woodville, Miss. We just went across the corner of Mississippi and then back into Louisiana and stayed the next night in Slidell, La. We stayed the next two nights in New Orleans. While there we went shopping and sight-seeing. We went on a three and one-half hour tour. We saw the old French quarter, old and new residential sections, ships and docks along the river front, city and Audubon park, banana docks, canal streets, the old slave market, above ground burial vaults. The inscriptions date back to the eighteenth century and other things too numerous to write about. Saturday morning we left New Orleans. We followed the Gulf of Mexico most of the way as we drove we went into Mississippi again and then into Alabama where we stayed two nights with some very nice friends of Harold Kaggs in Robertsdale. The old people down south are much more hospitable than we are up north. I think we could take a few lessons from them. Sunday morning some of us went to the drive-in services at 10 o'clock, to Sunday school at eleven the regular services. In the afternoon the Lindens "the people we stayed with" took us to a Camellias flower show and down the Gulf and watched people pulling in fish. The sand around the Gulf was white as snow. At seven o'clock in the evening we went to young peoples and at eight the evening services. Monday morning we left the Lindens about 11:30 and entered Florida about 12:10 we drove in a tunnel under the Mobile Bay. That night we stayed near Panama City, Fla. Of the many draw bridges we crossed, there was only one ship that went through while we had to wait. The next night we stopped at Cliffland, Fla. On Wednesday, Feb. 3 we took in the fair at Tampa. It was lots like our state fair only more fruit than grain. The next two nights we stayed at Ruskin in cabins. We could go out and pick all the oranges and grapefruit we could eat while we stayed there. The next day was a full day. We went to look at some old cars. There were 65 cars of different makes on display. I think the oldest was a 1897 Duryea. We were at a tropical garden. There were many kinds of flowers such as Hibiscus, Bangarnuilla and the stately palms where beautiful flamingos were wading around in the clear water. It was too pretty to describe. Then we went to watch the Ringling Bros. circus do some training of animals and also saw them water and feed them. This was their winter home, near Sarasota, Fla. That night we stayed at Bayside motels. Sunday we drove to Lake Worth and then drove along the Atlantic coast southward to Miami where we had dinner and then to Homestead where we got cabins. On Monday we drove over the overseas highway to Key West. We crossed many lovely bridges, some six and seven miles long. It was very interesting to drive that way. That evening we came back to Homestead where we stayed overnight. The next day we started back north. We stopped at the parrot and monkey jungles that was very nice to see. The monkeys ran wild and the people were caged up. Both places were fixed up like a park. We went through Miami up to Lake Wales where we went to see the Passion play. Lake Wales is the winter home for it. If we had not seen anything else on the trip that was worth the trip down there to see it alone. We stayed that night in Lake Wales. The next day we drove to Orlando where we stayed that night. The next morning we started out alone for Kansas. We had lost Kaggs in Miami so did not see them again until we go back to Viking. We stayed the first night near Lennox, Ala. The third night in Canway, Ark. The fourth night in Fort Smith, Ark., then up through Oklahoma and back to Sunflower, Kan. We stayed a couple of weeks at our son and daughter's homes in Kansas. We left for home March the 9th. The first two nights we stayed at the Fred Knaup home in Wabause, Minn., and two nights in Red Wing at the Big Elm motels which is run by the Casper Shefeland family, formerly of Viking. We kind of felt at home there as we lived there for a while before we came to Viking. We were surprised the last night we stayed there to see Rev. and Mrs. Arnie Folden and family. They had resigned at Plum City, Wis., and were leaving in a few days to a call in Nebraska. He sent greetings to all his friends and relatives. From Red Wing we went to Prairie Farm, Wis., to a cousin of ours where we visited from Saturday until Wednesday. We stayed one night at a brother's place, Art Stokke of Invergrove, Minn. Then we stayed two nights at the Hans and Walter Tjnasas homes near Benson. From there we came home to Viking. We had a very enjoyable trip but never saw any place we liked better than Minnesota in the summer time.—Mr and Mrs Hjalmar Stokke

Concrete ends wet-road JITTERS
Driving on a dark, slick pavement in a rain gives you a bad case of wet-road jitters in no time. "Slippery when wet" warnings keep you on edge. You grip the wheel tightly and strain to see—hoping you can stop without skidding if trouble comes. The longer you drive the more jangled your nerves become.
There's less such tension on concrete. You can relax because you know you can stop quick in emergencies. Wet or dry, concrete's gritty texture provides uniformly high skid resistance. This built-in safety feature has prevented thousands of accidents. It may save your life too!
You also can relax on concrete because there's no high-crown handicap. Roads are crowned, or sloped down from the center, to facilitate drainage. Surfaces that develop irregularities easily need high crowns to avoid water pockets. The durable, even surface of concrete has an almost imperceptible crown. No need to tug at the wheel to stay on the road. Skid resistance and low crown—two reasons why concrete ends wet-road jitters.
Traffic fatalities in Minnesota totaled 636 in 1953. You can help reduce this figure by safe driving on safer concrete. Insist on concrete for main roads and streets.

Dairy Industry Sets $100 Prize for Name of State Princess

The Minnesota dairy industry is looking for a name to describe its new dairy princess.

The young lady who will represent dairying in the state will be chosen at the Minnesota state fair from a group of regional winners to be named during June Dairy Month celebrations in 12 communities.

A $100 savings bond has been offered as an incentive to the public to provide a descriptive name.

Myron Clark, state agricultural commissioner and chairman of June Dairy Month, announced the competition and the search for a name as plans for the June observance moved ahead this week.

The Minnesota dairy princess contest is patterned after a successful program in Wisconson where the royal representative is called "Alice in Dairyland." "We want a similarly descriptive and distinctive name," said Clark.

"We are adding a dash of glamour to the promotion of dairy products and the dairy industry," Clark noted. "But sometimes a little glamour can accomplish some serious objectives."
